Descendants of Stephen Hopkins

Generation No. 1

1. Stephen[3] Hopkins (Nicholas[2], William[1]) was born Abt. 1580 in England, and died Bef. August 20, 1644 in Plymouth, Plymouth, Massachusetts. He married (1) Mary Bef. 1604 in Prob. Hampshire, She was born Bet. 1580 - 1583 in London, London, England, and died Bet. 1609 - 1613 in London, Middlesex, England. He married (2) Elizabeth Fisher February 19, 1617/18 in Whitechapel, Middleses, England.

Notes for Stephen Hopkins:

Stephen Hopkins, a non-Separatist and businessman from Hampshire, arrived with his family on the Mayflower. He is the only one among the Plymouth settlers who had been to America before (in Virginia, 1609). He is now a New England resident with his wife Elizabeth and their family. Their son, Oceanus, was born on the Mayflower during the crossing from England, but died within the first few years after their arrival.

He married twice, first to Mary who died in 1613, (See more info on Mary and Stephen under Notes for Mary.) and second in London to Elizabeth Fisher, February 19, 1617/8. Besides the three children who accompanied him on the passage, and the son born at sea, he had five additional children. He was one of the few Mayflower passengers to remain in the town of Plymouth, serving as Assistant Governor and dying there in 1644.

Elizabeth (Fisher) Hopkins married Stephen Hopkins as his second wife February 19, 1617/8. Elizabeth gave birth to Oceanus during the voyage of the Mayflower. She likely died before June 6, 1644, as she is not mentioned in her husband's will written on that date. She gave birth during the Mayflower voyage to a son, Oceanus. He died young, sometime before 1627.

Stephen Hopkins sailed on the Mayflower in 1620, one of the "Londoners" or "strangers" recruited for the voyage. He was called "Master", and only two others of the 17 free men on the voyage were so styled.

Stephen Hopkins was probably the young man of that name who served as minister's clerk on the vessel Sea Venture which sailed from London June 2, 1609, bound for Virginia. The ship was severely damaged in a hurricane and the company was washed ashore on the Bermuda "Isle of the Divels" on July 28, 1609.

The 150 survivors were marooned on the island for nine months, building two vessels which ultimately took them to Virginia.

During the sojourn, Stephen Hopkins encouraged an uprising by his fellows upon the grounds that the Governor's authority pertained only to the voyage and the regime in Virginia, not to the forced existence in Bermuda. For his remarks, he was placed under guard, brought before the company in manacles and sentenced to death by court-martial.

"But so pentent hee was and made so much moane, alleadging the ruine of his Wife and Children: in this his trespasse", according to William Starchey's record of the voyage, that friends among his cohorts procured a pardon from the Governor.

The two newly built vessels, Patience and Deliverance, arrived at Jamestown on May 24, 1610, but no evidence has been found of Hopkins' residence there, and it is presumed he soon returned to his family in England . Starchey noted that while Hopkins was very religious, he was contentious and defiant of authority and possessed enough learning to undertake to wrest leadership from others.

Stephen was called a tanner or leathermaker at the time of the Mayflower voyage. He, second wife Elizabeth (probably Elizabeth Fisher, married February 19, 1617/8 at St. Mary Matfellon, Whitechapel, London,) and children Giles and Constance by his first wife, daughter Damaris by his second wife, and two men servants (Edward Doty and Edward Lister) came on the Mayflower.

Son Oceanus was born during the voyage.

Stephen was among the men signing the Mayflower Compact and was one of three men designated to provide counsel and advice to Captain Myles Standish on the first land expedition of the Pilgrims on the New World, probably because of his experiences at Jamestown.

During the third day out, the company chanced upon an Indian deer trap, and Stephen was able to explain its function and danger to his fellows.

In February of 1620/1, when Indians appeared on a neighboring hilltop, Captain Standish took Stephen Hopkins with him to negotiate with the savages. Thereafter, Stephen was invariably deputized to meet the Indians and act as interpreter. In July of 1621 he served as an envoy to friendly Chief Massasoit, and he made a friend for the colonists of Samoset, another Indian whom Stephen entertained in his home.

Stephen Hopkins was referred to as a merchant and a planter in Plymouth records, also as a "Gentleman" and as "Master". He received a six-acre lot in the division of the land in 1623, and later had other lots by grant or purchase. It is stated that he kept for his home throughout his life at Plymouth the lot on the easterly corner of Main and Leyden streets that had been assigned to him after arrival. He built and owned the first wharf in Plymouth Colony of which there is a record, selling it for sixty pounds in July of 1637. He built a house at Yarmouth on Cape Cod, but returned to Plymouth and gave the Yarmouth dwelling to son Giles, who remained there.

Probably because of his status in the Colony as a "stranger", Stephen Hopkins found himself, on occasion, in official difficulty. In June of 1636, while serving as "Assistant", he was fined for battery of John Tisdale. In 1637 and in 1638 he was charged with various indiscretions involving the sale of intoxicants and other items at his dwelling. In 1638/9 he was found in contempt of court for refusing to deal fairly with Dorothy Temple, an apprentice girl, and in December of 1639 he was charged with selling a looking glass at an excessive price.

Another website had: Stephen returned to the wool business as was known as Master Hopkins. In 1618 he married Elizabeth Fisher and continued to prosper. He purchased stock in the Mayflower Co. and on 16 Sep 1620 sailed on the Mayflower from Plymouth Eng. to the new world. Accompanying him were his pregnant wife, Elizabeth, and children Constance, Giles, and Damaris. He had as indentured household help Edward Dotey and Edward Lester. A son, Oceanus, was born at sea.

Stephen Hopkins was the affluent leader, stockholder, of the Mayflower Co., one of the Strangers as opposed to the Separatis - the Saints.Stephen entered into the spirit and conduct of the "Mayflower" people, and signed the Mayflower Compact 11 Nov. 1620.

Stephen had numerous court cases for:

1. Allowing employees of his tavern to drink, dance and socialize after hours.
2. overcharging his tavern customers for beer, wine, and liquor.
3. Allowing excessive drinking (drunkenness) of guests in his home.
4. Disregarding court order for support of his woman servant and child involved in a paternity case where the father of the child left without support.

Below material was compiled and prepared by Roger W. Fulling in 1989 John L. & Mable Dale

Stephen Hopkins served in the militia as an assistant to Capt. Miles Standish, assistant to elected governors, member of Governor's Council, and helped prepare bills. He prospered financially and was the last of "Mayflower" passengers to remain a resident of Plymouth. He died in 1644 and his wife, Elizabeth in 1640. His children: Constance (Snow) had 12 children, Giles (4), Deborah, Damaris (the second), Faith, Elizabeth, Caleb.

More detailed information about Stephen and his "criminal acts".

The people of Plymouth held that they lived under a government of laws, not of men." They chose their own officials and Stephen served as a Council Assistant (1633-36). In 1936, he helped draw up the Bill of Rights which is viewed as one of Plymouth's chief accomplishments. Women gained the right to buy, own and sell property. Their husbands couldn't sell property without their consent, and women were guaranteed 1/3 of the family estate when their husbands died. They could choose who they married and were able to witness a deed or probate document. The court enacted numerous laws to control behavior of their citizens. The more they sinned, the more the Plymouth colony made laws to control them. It wasn't surprising that most of those that got in trouble were non-Separatists who were fined for everything from gambling, idleness, public drunkenness, lying and swearing. The first punishment doled out by Plymouth authorities involved a duel between Stephen's indentured servants, Edward Doty and Edward leister. They were competing for his daughter, Constance. Dueling was illegal, and Stephen returned home from an expedition finding his servants in handcuffs and waiting for a trial. They had their necks tied to their feet and had to remain in that position for 24 hours in the town square. Stephen did not like seeing them suffer like that and begged Governor Bradford and Captain Standish to set the men free "within the hour"....Because of their pain and suffering, they were set free by their master's "humble request." Stephen helped to draw up laws he later came to regret. Amongst them were strict regulations for taverns and held the owners responsible for the conduct of their customers. June of 1636, he was fined 5 pounds for the battery of John Tisdale whom he "dangerously wounded." Oct. 2, 1637, he came before the court on two charges, "for suffering men to drink in his house upon the Lord's day...before and after the meetings, (and for allowing) servants and others to drink more than for ordinary refreshing." The second was for "suffering servants and others to sit drinking in his house (contrary to the orders of this Courth,) and to play at shovel board, and such like demeanors" for which he was fined forty shilling. Jan. 2, 1638, he was presented for allowing "Old Palmer," James Coale, and William Renolds to drink to excess. According to one witness, Palmer "lay under a table, vomiting in a beastly manner" and Stephen was fined seven shilling for this. June 5, 1538, he was fined 5 pounds for selling wine, beer, strong waters, and nutmegs at excessive rates to the "oppressing & impovishing of the colony." Dec. 3, 1639, he was again summoned before the court for having charged sixteen pence for a looking glass that could have been bought for nine at Bay Colony. Also, he was fined 3 pounds for selling strong water without a license. Feb. 4, 1639, he was found in contempt of court and spent time in jail fro refusing to deal fairly with his indentured servant, Dorothy Temple. On showing signs of being pregnant, she was brought before the court and named Arthur Peach as the father. He had recently been hanged for the murder of an Indian boy, so she and her child were left without support. She was sentenced to be whipped twice for "uncleaness and bringing forth a bastard." The court ordered that Stephen "keepe her and her child....during the said terme (of indenture); and if he refuse so to doe that then the collony provide for her & Mr. Hopkins to pay it." After getting the order, Stephen said he would settle the matter himself without an order from the court.

In 1624, New Plymouth had about 180 persons. The houses which lined Plymouth's main street were made in the traditional English manner with clapboards,wattle and daub, and oil-paper windows. The Hopkins' home sat across from Governor Bardfor's, on the easterly corner of Main and Leyden. It was one of the largest houses in Plymouth to accommodate its large family. By 1627 each hosue had a fenced garden with flowers and herbs. The Hopkins' also had a barn, dairy, cow shed, and small apple orchard. Both Damaris and Oceanus died about 1626, but five new children, Caleb, Deborah, Damaris (another one), Ruth and Elizabeth wree born between 1622 and 1630. Constance moved out in 1628 when she married carpenter Nicholas Snow. Stephen had been an early proponent of the fur trad, so expanded his house to include a store where the Indians could come and trade beaver skins for English goods. In 1624 when ships began importing wine, beer, brandy, and gin, Stephen added a tavern. He also built and owned the first wharf in Plymouth Colony, and in 1638 built a house at Yarmouth on Cape Cod, but soon returned to Plymouth. He gave the Yarmouth dwelling to Giles, who remained there and married Catherine Wheldon in 1639.

William Bradford wrote in 1650, "Mr. Hopkins and his wife are now both dead, but they lived about 20 years in this place.......Stephen Hopkins settled in the part of Eastham now included in the town of Orleans, on the place at the head of the Cove, called by the Indians "Kesscayoganseet" and later owned and occupied by James Percival."

Stephen Hopkins of the Mayflower was our first house building settler. He was allowed to come here to take advantage of the enormous areas of salt marsh for the feeding of his cattle, but he was not allowed to settle here permanently because Plymouth Plantation needed all of its families in Plymouth for its survival. He was a fascinating fellow. Having been to this country in 1610 at the colony in Jamestown, Virginia, he was the only pilgrim who was familiar with the Indian ways. He was chosen to settle here, with Miles Standish, who met successfully with the Indian chiefs who controlled the Plymouth area. Hopkins was also the only American ever mentioned in one of William Shakespeare's plays, The Tempest (His representation was "Stephano"), and he was one of the major reasons for the formation of the first democratic document of these United States, the "Mayflower Compact". He left his house to his son Giles, who lived here for a while and traded with Andrew Hallet for some land in Eastham where Giles's sister had moved with her family (the Snows) in 1644. The area is now loaded with Hopkins descendants.

Stephen Hopkins was not from Wortley, Wotton-under-Edge, Gloucestershire, as has been previously published in numerous books and articles, and the claim he married a woman named Constance Dudley is complete fiction. This alleged origin was disproven in my article, "The True English Origins of Stephen Hopkins of the Mayflower", published in The American Genealogist 73:161-171. The Wotton-under-Edge claim was never factually sound to begin with, based simply on a few name coincidences and wild speculations.

The baptism records of Stephen Hopkins' children Giles and Constance, as well as an additional child Elizabeth, were discovered in the parish registers of Hursley, Hampshire, England. Hopkins' baptism in the original records. Records for Constance says: "undecimo de May, Constancia filia Steph. Hopkins fuit baptizata", which translates into English as "Eleventh day of May, Constance daughter of Steph. Hopkins was baptized."

Also birth date as May 9, 1599. This may not line up. Either people guessed at birthdates or they were married at 10 which in early England, they sometimes were.

In the spring of 1613, Stephen's wife, Mary, died. She may have been a victim of the plague which was still rampant in certain parts of England. With Stephen absent, the Hopkins' church liquidated the couple's estate to provide for the children.

Stephen returned home sometime between 1613-17, perhaps with the intent of selling his belongings in England and bringing his family to their new home in Virginia. After having survived shipwreck and the perils of Jamestown, it must have been a great blow to find his wife and estate gone, and his children entrusted to the care of the Church.

Children of Stephen Hopkins and Mary are:

2 i. Constance^4 Hopkins, born Bet. 1604 - 1632; died Bet. 1609 - 1714. She married Nicholas Snow; born Bet. 1594 - 1631; died Bet. 1605 - 1709.

Notes for Constance Hopkins: Information from World Family Tree Maker, Vol. 4.

Notes for Nicholas Snow: Information from World Family Tree Maker, Vol. 4.

15. Constance Hopkins. Born ca 1607 in England.1 Constance died in middle of Oct 1677 in Eastham, MA.7

Constance, or Constanta, Hopkins.

ca 1627 Constance married Nicholas Snow (11) , son of Nicholas Snow (5) & Elizabeth Rowlles, in Plymouth, MA. Born on 25 Jan 1599 in St Leonards, Shoreditch, London. Nicholas died in Eastham, MA on 15 Nov 1676; he was 77.7 Occupation: carpenter.

"Nicholas Snow, one of the first seven who settled at Nausett [Eastham], was a man of sterlng worth and very prominent in the settlement. He came over from England, a passenger in the Ann, in the latter part of July, 1623, and at first located in the township of Plymouth, where he soon married. The Ann brought over many of the near relatives of the Pilgrims, besides quite a number of other passengers to settle with them, among whom might be mentioned Thomas Clarke, Anthony Anable, Edward Bangs, Experience Michell and George Morton. The settlers of Plymouth at the arrival of Nicholas Snow and other passengers of the Ann, were sadly destitute, not only of apparel, but of food to eat. The new comers were 'diversely affected' to behold 'their low and poor condition.' 'The best dish,' says Bradford, the renowned leader of that settlement, 'that could present their friends with was a lobster or a piece of fish without bread or anything else but a cup of fair spring water.' Bradford farther says, 'Some of the passengers wished themselves in England again; others fell aweeping, fancying their own misery in what they saw now in others; some pitying the distress they saw their friends had been long in and still were under; in a word, all were full of sadness.' In this ship it may be well to state, came Mrs. Alice Southworth, to become the renowned leader, and they were married shortly after.

"What were the feelings of the subject of this sketch upon knowing the sufferings of those poor ragged and half-fed Pilgrims, we are not told, but from what we can gather relative to the character of the man, we are led to believe he regretted their condition, cheerfully lent them a helping hand and prayed for better times, which, according to both Bradford and Morton, came at harvest time.

"Nicholas Snow, not long after his arrival, became acquainted with Miss 'Constanta' or Constance, an elder daughter of Mr. Stephen Hopkins, who had but a few years before braved the dangers of the Atlantic in the Mayflower and escaped the first winter's distress, and took her for his wife, who, before 1650, had borne him twelve children, all then alive. The date of his marriage does not appear; but he was married before 1627, as by the record of the division of the cattle, May 22nd, he and his wife Constance received their share, they belonging to Mr. Stephen Hopkins' company, which was composed of thirteen persons. In 1633 he was a freeman and a tax payer in Plymouth. The following year, with Edward Bangs, he was appointed to lay out roads in Plymouth. In 1636, he was one of the arbitrators to settle the difficulty between Joseph Beadle and Edward Dowty. In 1638, he was one of the jurors appointed to investigate the cause of the death of John England, a lad found dead on Plymouth flats. In 1640, he was one of the surveyors of highways at Plymouth. In 1645, with Gov. Prence, Josiah Cooke and others, he removed to Nausett; and when that place became a municipality, to him was assigned the duties of town clerk, an office he held until about 1773, when his son Mark succeeded him. He was surveyor of highways at Eastham in 1647; a deputy to the Colony court in 1648, also 1650-52-57. He was a selectman in 1668-71-72-74-75. He also held other offices in town. His death occurred at Eastham, according to the records of that town, November 15th, 1676. His will bears the date November 14th, 1676. It was witnessed by his pastor, Mr. Samuel Treat, and his son-in-law, Thomas Paine, Sen. His wife, Constance, survived him and died in October, 1677. The settlement of the estate he entrusted to his fellow townsmen, Deacon Samuel Freeman and John Mayo. He remembered the Eastham church and left a small sum towards furnishing 'the furniture of the table of the Lord with pewter or otherwise.'

"The children of Mr. Snow are not recorded, and consequently the names cannot all be given. Gov. Bradford says he had twelve children in 1650, all alive. He mentions no daughters in his will, though it is certain he had several then alive. His sons mentioned were Mark, Joseph, Stephen, John and Jabez. He was a large landowner. He had land in Harwich, Eastham and Truro. Mark, Joseph and Stephen came into possession of his landed estate in Harwich, then Satucket; John, of that in Paomet, now Truro, and Jabes of that in Eastham, including the homestead. His 'moveable goods,' at his wife's decease, he ordered divided among all his children equally. His residence was in that part now Eastham, not far from Gov. Prence's homestead, as far as it can be ascertained form the records. He undoubtedly was buried in the old yard at Eastham, though no stone with inscription marks the place. His son Mark, who married Gov. Prence's daughter Jane, and his son-in-law, Mr. Thomas Paine, were distinguished men in their day. The descendants of Mr. Nicholas Snow are numerous, and an effort by them shoud be made to erect a monument to his memory in the old yard, that the future generations may know where their Pilgrim ancestor lies buried."3

The will of Nicholas Snow of Eastham, dated 14 Nov 1676, 5 Mar 1676/7, named his wife Constant, sons Jabez, Mark, Joseph, Steven, and John. Executors: Deacon Samuel Freeman and John Mayo. Information from:

8 iv. Elizabeth Hopkins.

Notes for Elizabeth Hopkins: Information from World Family Tree Maker, Vol. 4.

9 v. Oceanus Hopkins, born 1620 in On the Mayflower.

Notes for Oceanus Hopkins: Information from World Family Tree Maker, Vol. 4.

While the Mayflower was at sea, Elizabeth Hopkins gave birth to the son they named Oceanus. Three days before land was sighted, a young boy named William Butten died. While the Mayflower was in Provincetown Harbor and the Pilgrims were looking for a place to settle, Susanna White gave birth to a son who they named Peregrine (the name means "one who journeys to foreign lands"). The third pregnant woman, Mary Allerton, gave birth to a stillborn son on board the Mayflower, just as the first houses were being built at Plymouth.

10 vi. Deborah Hopkins, born Abt. 1625.

3. Giles^4 Hopkins (Stephen^3, Nicholas^2, William^1) was born January 30, 1606/07 in England, and died 1690 in Eastham, Barnstable, Massachusetts. He married Catherine Welden October 09, 1639 in Plymouth, Mass., daughter of Gabriel Whelden and unknown. She was born Abt. 1618 in Of Arnold, Nottingham England, and died Aft. March 05, 1687/88 in Prob. Eastham, Barnstable, Massachusetts.

Notes for Giles Hopkins: Mayflower descendent vol. 1 p. 336.

The death date is from the family tree maker files, vol. 4.

Birth date is actually his baptism date.

"Giles Hopkins was the eldest son of Mr. Stephen Hopkins of Plymouth. He was born in England, and came over with his father's family in the Mayflower in 1620, and with the other members of his father's family survived the first winter's sickness, which swept off so many of that company. Of his boyhood days, but little appears. He appears to have been of a retiring disposition, only forward when duty impelled. When, in 1637, the Pequots, a tribe of brave Indians inhabiting the eastern part of Connecticut, commenced war with the English in that region, and Plymouth Colony concluded to send a company to assist in the overthrow of the Indians, he, with his father and younger brother Caleb, volunteered to go out in the company in the defense of his Connecticut neighbors, but happily for the company, before ready to go forth, the troops under Captain Mason had 'vanquished' the enemy, and the company was not needed. The next year, Mr. Stephen Hopkins having been allowed by the Old Colony court 'to erect a house at Mattacheese' now Yarmouth, 'to cut hay there' and 'to winter his cattle,' it is supposed his son Giles went down there and had charge of his cattle. At any rate, he was at Yarmouth in 1639, and with Hugh Tilley and Nicholas Sympkins, 'deposed' to the last will and testament of Peter Warden, the elder, deceased, and also courted and married Catherine Whelden, daughter of Gabriel Whelden, who was licensed to build at Mattacheese the uear preceding. The house he occupied while a resident of Yarmouth stood a little to the northwest on the declivity or knoll, and the site was pointed out to the writer by the late Mr. Otis to have been the first house built below Sandwich, and certainly it must have been, if it were the one built by Stephen Hopkins by order of Plymouth court. Mr. Otis, in his account of Andrew Hallett, Jr., says it was sold by Giles Hopkins in 1642 to Mr. Hallett. It would seem that Mr. Hopkins was not a resident of Yarmouth in 1643, as his name does not appear in the list of those ab le to bear arms that year in the township, but evidence is quite conclusive that he was a resident June 6, 1644. At that date his father made his will, and several times speaks of Giles being at Yarmouth in charge of the cattle. It is probable he was not enrolled on account of being physically unable to do military duty. In what year he removed to Nausett or Eastham, is not known. He was there in 1650, occupying the position of surveyor of highways, which he subsequently occupied several years. For some reason, now inexplicable, his father, by will, made Caleb, his younger son by second wife, the 'heir apparent,' and consequently the whole of the real estate, which was large, passed into the hands of Caleb at his death. Caleb Hopkins, soon after his father's death in July, 1644, gave up a very large tract of land to Giles, his only surviving brother, lying in what is now Brewster. Upon the death of Caleb, who was a seaman, and who died single at Barbadoes before 1657, Giles came into possession of large tracts. In 1659, Mr. Hopkins had land granted him in Eastham. In 1662, with Lieut. Joseph Rogers and Josiah Cooke, he had liberty allowed him by the Colony court to look out for land for his accommodation between Bridgewater and Bay Line. In 1672, with Jonathan Sparrow and Thomas Mayo of Eastham, he purchased Sampson's Neck in what is now Orleans, then called by Indians 'Weesquamseutt.' The tract was a valuable one; it embraced the territory between Higgins's river on the north, and Potonumecot river on the south. He seems to have been a very quiet man, caring but little for public positions. He was in 1654 drawn into a lawsuit by the noted William Leveridge, who had defamed him. Mr. Hopkins claimed damages to the amount of £50. Mr. Leveridge was ordered to pay £2 and some shillings for the offence.

"The will of Giles Hopkins bears date Jan. 19, 1682; the codicil March 5, 1688-9. the former was witnessed by Jonathan Sparrow and Samuel Knowles, and the latter by mark Snow and Jonathan Sparrow, and was presented for probate April 22, 1690, Stephen Hopkins, son, executor. There are no daughters mentioned. Sons mentioned are: Stephen, Caleb, Joshua and William. The widow was alive at the date of the codicil, and Mr. Hopkins had become unfit for labor and held out inducements to his son Stephen to supply his wants. It seems quite certain that his farm was in that part of Eastham now Orleans, and some part of it joined Town cove."3

54. Caroline[11] Symonds (Sarah H.[10] Camp, Mindwell[9] Hopkins, Elijah[8], Sylvanus[7], Judah[6], Stephen[5], Giles[4], Stephen[3], Nicholas[2], William[1]) was born December 28, 1823 in Genese County, NY, and died March 24, 1912. She married Michael Whetzel 1844. He was born April 16, 1813 in Union County, PA, and died July 04, 1908 in DeKalb County, IN.

Notes for Caroline Symonds: ANOTHER OLD RESIDENT ANSWERS THE LIST OF PIONEER RESIDENTS OF DeKALB COUNTY WHO ARE PASSING AWAY IS RAPIDLY INCREASING Mrs. Caroline Whetsel, one of the early pioneers of DeKalb county, passed away Sunday morning at 2 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Kelham, of Altona. Mrs. Whetsel was 88 years old the 28th day of December and the following brief facts concerning her life were written by her during one of her reminiscent mo(o)ds: "Miss Caroline Symons was born in Genese county, New York, on December 28, 1823. She came with her parents to DeKalb County, Indiana, in the year 1841. There were but nine families living in Auburn at that time. She joined the Methodist church when she was 16 years old and has led a Christian life ever since. She was married to Michael Whetsel in 1844. She was the mother of six children, three living, namely, Mrs. Harvey Clark, of west of Garrett; Mrs. Lyman Lockwood, of south of Auburn, and Mrs. Edward Kelham, of Altona. Mrs. William Feagler, another daughter, who resided south of Auburn, died in 1900 at the age of 52, the other children dying while quite young." While the above gives quite a little concerning her life, we cannot help but add a little more to her life story. Mrs. Whetsel resided near Auburn from the time she moved there with her parents until four years ago when se moved to Altona to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Kelham. Her husband, Michael Whetsel, preceded her to the other world four years ago. She was a faithful attendant at church as long as she was able to go, and her present there seemed to an inspiration to many. With her sweet face framed by the snowy white hair and her face glowing with Christian purity she was admired and loved by all. Loving hands were always ready to assist her in any way possible and her death has cast a shadow over the community. She had been ailing about six weeks, but was able to about the house. Even Saturday she was up all day but about 5 p.m. she complained of feeling badly, but son recovered and retired for the night. Her daughter, who was sleeping with her, noticed a little before two o'clock that she was breathing a little heavy and immediately called the other members of the family who gathered around the form of their beloved mother just as she breathed her last. Grandman Whetsel loved children and her 20 grandchildren were the source of hours of pleasure to her and they idolized her in return. The funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at the M. P. Church in Altona and the body will be laid to rest in Evergreen cemetery at Auburn.

Notes for Michael Whetzel: Lived in DeKalb County 71 years.

APPROACHES CENTURY MARK Michael Whetsel Almost One Hundred Years Olds, With A Remarkable Career Through the courtesy of our good friend, Mr. A. J. Ralston, Auburn, we were driven to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Whetsel, southwest of Auburn, and enjoyed a very pleasant forenoon Friday with probably the oldest married couple in DeKalb. At least Mr. Whetsel has the distinction of being the oldest man in DeKalb County, having passed his ninety-fifth milestone and his good wife and faithful life companion for the past sixty-four years is only ten years his junior. They are most remarkable people, they? are? good old friends of ours, and although their locks are whitened by the frosts of many winters and their steps are not as elastic as in the days of long ago when they felled forest trees and carved a home out of the almost inpenetrable forests of DeKalb county; while they perhaps lack some of the enthusiasm of youth and are not dreaming of future earthly conquest, yet their hearts still beat young and they enjoy unspeakable pleasure in looking back over lives well-lived and duty well done. They are rich too in the wisdom of the years and it was a source of genuine interest and pleasure for us to be in the presence of these grand old patriarchs and listen to their stories of early days in DeKalb county. Mr. Whetsel was born in Union County, Pennsylania, on the 16th day of April 1813, and was the third of a family of thirteen children all of whom have passed to that bourne from whence no traveler returns, except Mr. Whetsel. He came to DeKalb county seventy-one years ago and has resided in this county continuously ever since. Shortly after settling here Mr. Whetsel entered 40 acres of land in Keyser township and soon after another 40 acres. This he cleared up by his own hands and when he sold several years ago to his son-in-law it was one of the best farms in this part of the county. Henry Mason now lives on the old home place while Mr. & Mrs. Whetsel reside only a short distance away on a small tract which they purchased some twenty years ago. Sixty-four years ago he was united in marriage to Miss Caroline Simons, whose parents resided a few miles northwest of Auburn. To them were born four girls and one boy. The boy died when twelve years old and daughter, Mrs. Dottie Feagler, died several years ago. The other children are married and are now Mrs. Mary Lockwood, Mrs. Edward Kelham, and Mrs. Harvey Clark. There are living sixteen grandchildren and ten great grandchildren, the oldest of whom is now twelve years old. Mr. Whetsel well remembers Wesley Park who laid out Auburn and said that one winter had it not been for Mr. Park, many of the new settlers would have died from starvation. Provisions were scarce and were brought from Fort Wayne through dense forests and almost bottomless swamps. This winter referred to Mr. Park shared his supplies with the settlers. Fresh meats, consisting of wild turkey and venison were plenty. Mr. Whetsel told of seeing the Indians many times on the streets of Auburn. The Indian boys, fine, straight, and sober young fellows used to come to Auburn on Saturday afternoon with their bows and arrows and shoot at mark. The target would usually be a copper cent which the pale faces would stick on a stump or in the side of a tree. If they hit the mark the penny was theirs and these Indian boys knocked down many copper pieces in a day. He has noted many changes in DeKalb county and his recital of the passing of years is a story of progress. As stated before Mr. & Mrs. Whetsel are remarkable active for their years. They have never had much sickness and have never paid out much in the way of doctor bills. A little quinine is all they ever took. Mr. Ralston has always been a good friend to Mr. & Mrs. Whetsel and the other morning when the old gentleman greeted "Jack," as he was visibly affected. Mr. Whetzel is a good friend of the Courier and has been a paying subscriber ever since the paper was published. We hope both of these good people may be spared for many more years. The Auburn Courier, July 2, 1908 Thursday

AT A RIPE OLD AGE Death Comes to Michael Whetsel, of This County Had Passed the Age of 95 Years and Lived Near Garrett Seventy Years Michael Whetsel, the oldest resident of Keyser township and on of the oldest in DeKalb County, died Saturday at his home a few miles southwest of Auburn of the infirmities due to his advanced years. The funeral took place Monday forenoon at 10 o'clock from the late residence and the burial was at Evergreen cemetery. He was past 95 years of age. Mr. Whetsel was born in Union County, Pennsylvania on April 16, 1813 and came to DeKalb County seventy-one years ago where he resided continuously until his death. Shortly after settling in Keyser township he entered forty acres of land and soon after another forty acres. This he cleared up by his own hands and when he sold several years ago to his son in law it was one of the best farms in this part of the county. Henry Mason now lives on the old home place while Mr. & Mrs. Whetsel resided only a short distance away on a small tract which they purchased some twenty years ago. Sixty-four years ago he was united in marriage to Miss Caroline Simons whose parents resided a few miles northwest of Auburn. To them were born four girls and one boy. The boy died when twelve years old and a daughter, Mrs. Dottie Feagler, died several years ago. The to her children are married and are now Mrs. Mary Lockwood, Mrs. Edward Kelham and Mrs. Harvey

Clark. There are living sixteen grandchildren and ten great grandchildren, the oldest of whom is now twelve years old. Mrs. Whetsel also survives. She is now 85 years of age. Only a few days ago a Courier representative, with Mr. Buchanan, the editor of the Dispatch, and A. J. Ralston, visited the home of Mr. & Mrs. Whetsel having been driven their by Mr. Ralston, and spent a pleasant hour's visit. Mr. Whetsel was one of the staunch friends of the Courier, having been a subscriber to it ever since it started publication, remain so until his death; After the occasion of this visit the Courier gave an extended account of the life of this pioneer. He was a man who was widely known and highly esteemed for his many traits of character. His reminiscences of early pioneer life in this county were always interesting. Rev. W. B Freeland pastor of the M. E church at Auburn officiated at the funeral.

John William Lawrence. An old and honored family of DeKalb County bears the name of Lawrence, and for many years it has belonged to Richland Township, in the development of which it has borne a useful part. A representative member of this family is John William Lawrence, who was born on the old homestead in Richland Township, September 13, 1856.The earliest American record of this branch of the Lawrence family leads back to John R. Lawrence, of English extraction, who lived in the village, now the city of Germantown, Pennsylvania. Six of his sixteen children, George, David, John, Emily, Hannah and Mary, came to DeKalb County, Indiana. They found here the Symonds family, who had previously lived in New York and Ohio, and had been the seventh family to locate in Auburn, a hamlet then so small that Perry Symonds is said to have asked its location when standing in its midst. David Lawrence, of the above family, married Mary C. Symonds, a daughter of James and Mary (camp) Symonds, November 30, 1848, and two days later they settled on the old homestead farm in Richland Township. Their first round log house has disappeared, but he second and third houses built by David Lawrence are standing today. Mr. Lawrence acquired the land by contracting to work one year for it, but the prevailing ague that caused much sickness in malarial districts in those early days attacked him and he was obliged to work six months longer in order to complete his contract. He helped build the first and only water-power saw-mill at Auburn, on Cedar Creek, and helped cut out the road from Auburn to the northwest. He utilized the strength of oxen in farming and hauled his surplus farm products to Fort Wayne. Three children were born to David Lawrence and his wife, namely: one who died in infancy; John William; and Emily E., who is the wife of J.S. Graham. Mary Edna Graham, married John L. Harding, and they are the tenants on the old homestead farm. The Harding children are: Ralph G., Roy L., Mark E. and Philip W. Ralph G. married Pearl Roland, and they have two children, Edna Eunice and Roland G., these two children being in the fifth generation. Roy L. Harding, who was one of the members of the early medical units to go to France in the World war, has given a good account of himself. Mark Harding married Irene Parker, also of an old DeKalb County family. William L. Graham married Vesta Texter, and their children are William, Robert, Kenneth and John. They had a son , Richard, who met an accidental death. Maud Graham is the wife of Junius R. Latson, and they have two children: Wilma and Margaret. Mary Charlotte Graham is the wife of Fred Krichbaum, and they have three children: Dorothy, Elizabeth and Mary Fredericka. On December 17, 1885, John William Lawrence was united in marriage to Alfaretta Sheffer, who was born October 28, 1866, in Jackson Township, DeKalb County, one of a family of seven children born to John and Martha (McClellan) Sheffer, the others being: Emma A.; James., who married Cora Chaney, has two children, Heber W. and Martha Naomi; Mary Monellie, who is the wife of J. W. Garnette, and they have four children, Allie, Lloyd, Lucile and Kathleen; Nye C., who married Irma Huff; and Milton and Curtis, who died in childhood. The Sheffer family is of German descent and had lived in Pennsylvania and Ohio before coming to Indiana. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence have no children of their own but Miss Bernice Harding stands in the relation to them in affection. They have always lived in the brick veneer frame house built by the father of Mr. Lawrence in 1884. It is equipped with modern conveniences of every kind and is not only a home of comfort but one of beauty also. The mother of Mr. Lawrence was a charter member of the First Methodist Epicopal Church in Auburn and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence have their membership there. Mr. Lawrence is not active in politics but formerly his father was elected a trustee of the township on the republican ticket. While they have never desired to change their place of residence, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence have recognized the fact that there are many other parts of the country worth seeing and together they have traveled quite extensively as sightseers. The family military record is one worth preserving in connection with other family history. The Lawrences were represented in the Revolutionary war as well as the War of 182, and in the Civil war these uncles of Mr. Lawrence took part: William Sheffer and John, Harvey, and Alexander McClellan. In the World war the name of Roy L. Harding appears as one of its heroes. For a peaceful, law-abiding family from generation to generation this is a sufficient record of loyalty and patriotism.

Below biography is from: History of De Kalb County, Indiana. Inter-State Publishing Company, Chicago, 1885. pages 737-738

David Lawrence, on of the earliest settlers of Richland Township, was born in Philadelphia County, Pa., Nov. 30, 1821, a son of John and Sarah (Ritzer) Lawrence, who were of English and German descent. His mother died when he was ten years old. He remained with his father till manhood, receiving a good education in the district schools. In 1845 he came to Indiana and went to work for Jacob Case. De Kalb County at that time was heavily timbered. He was determined to have a home, and worked by the month till he had paid for sixty acres of wild land. He then began to clear and improve his land, and has since added to it till he now owns 200 acres of highly cultivated land. His farm buildings are among the best in the county. His residence, which was built in 1884, is the finest frame residence in the county. Mr. Lawrence was married Nov. 30, 1848, to Mary Charlotte, daughter of James and Sarah (Camp) Symonds, who came from Genesee County, N.Y., to De Kalb County, Ind., in 1841. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence have had three children; two are living---Emily and John. Politically Mr. Lawrence is a Republican.

Notes for Mary O'Nelia Whetzel:
AUBURN LOSES ONE OF OLDEST CITIZENS Mrs. Mary Lockwood, Age 95, to be Buried in Woodlawn Cemetery, Tuesday Afternoon -- Active until Last Illness. One of the oldest residents of Auburn will be buried Tuesday afternoon when the body of Mrs. Mary O. Lockwood is lowered in a grave in Woodlawn cemetery. Mrs. Lockwood spent her entire life of 95 years in Auburn and DeKalb county. She passed away at 1:16 o'clock Sunday morning after an illnes of two weeks from influenza and senility. Mrs. Lockwood was born on January 5, 1851on the old Lockwood farm, four and one-half miles south of Auburn. Death came at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Grace Griffin, who resides at this address. She was the widow of Lyman Lockwood, who passed away on Feb. 12, 1932. The deceased started to fail about a year ago but she was up and around until stricken with influenza two weeks ago. She took an active interst in the events of the preset day and if she was able always went to the polls on each election day to cast her ballot. She had good eye-sight for one of her years and only wore glasses to read. She liked to work in the garden at her home. Mrs. Lockwood is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Griffin, at whose home she died. Mrs. Hettie Avery of 307 East Ninth Street, Auburn, and Mrs. Nellie Dosch of south of Auburn; two sons, Bert Lockwood of 307 East Ninth Street, Auburn and Ora Lockwood of south of Auburn; one sister, Mrs. Dessie Clark of Garret, nine grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. The aged resident was a member of the Methodist Church and her pastor, Rev. Van Hinckley, will officiate at the funeral services at the Dilgard & Cline funeral home at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The body will remain at the funeral home until after the funeral rites. In a local paper dated - March 12, 1946.

According to Mary Griffin Rench, she is buried near the pump in Woodlawn Cemetery.

Notes for Lyman Lockwood:
LYMAN LOCKWOOD, 85, DIED IN THE WOODS Civil War Vet Expired from Heart Attack and Body Found in the Woods on His Farm Lyman Lockwood, 85, a veteran of the Civil war, living on his farm in Jackson township south of Auburn, died suddenly of a heart attack in the woods of his farm last Thursday afternoon. The body was found by Walter Williams. He was a member of Company K., Forty-fourth Indiana Volunteer Infantry and served until the end of the war. Mr. Lockwood a number of years ago made preparations for his death. From cypress grown on his land he made a cypress he made a casket and for nine years it was kept in Mr. Lockwood's crypt in the mausoleum at Woodlawn cemetery. He is survived by the following children: Mrs. Frank Avery of Auburn; Ora and Bert Lockwood and Mrs. Grace Griffin of Jackson township, and a sister, Mrs. Cornelia Caruth of Auburn. The funeral services were held from the Clark funeral home in Auburn Sunday afternoon with Rev. H. F. Craven of the Auburn Presbyterian church officiating. Interment in the Mausoleum in the Woodlawn cemetery at Auburn. "The Waterloo Press" Feb. 25, 1932 Thursday

In the 1885 DeKalb County History Book "Lyman Lockwood mustered in April 2, 1864 out September 14, 1865 Co. K 44th Regiment." Also it mentions that Lyman was a member of the Garrett Lodge, No. 602, I.O.O.F. and at the time of the 1885 History book was printed he was V. G.

The below information and remembrances are from Mary Griffin Rench.

Joining the war, when very young, he served as a bugler. Toward the end of his life when he made his casket, his daughter Nellie made the red, white, and blue lining for it.

Mary Griffin said that Lyman and Mary O. (Whetsel) Lockwood (her grandparents) lived near the creek, which is now the ditch on 427, north of the Airplane Road (C. R. 60). Mary O. shot a bear on the bank of the creek. They found Indian relics around the East and West creeks. Lyman had an Indian girlfriend for a time. He raised sheep. Lyman divided up the land to his children but they all came with mortgages. Grace got the original homestead but her husband was not a farmer so had to sell. Grandpa Lyman built a house across from Grace but it burned in the early 1930's. John and Nellie Dosch built a square house and gave some of the land to Frank and Inez Dosch. Another parcel of land went to Ora and Mattie Lockwood. Lyman's granddaughters (Mary O'Nelia Griffin and June Rose Dosch) used to stay summers together at June's parent's (John and Nellie Dosch's) home.

The Lockwood's took care of the horses for the State Coach that had a route from Ft. Wayne to Detroit. The Stage Coach stopped near Auburn where Jim Covell now lives. Jim said the home was built by the Muhn's and one of the brother's was a cabinet maker. The passengers would stay overnight at the house. After the overnight stop, the stage coach would then continue to Angola and then Detroit. In the low area by the house is where the Grist-mill used to be. Some other owners of the house has been Krenenlmyers and the Rieke family.

From the marriage records of Elma Lockwood:

There is a possibility that he had an earlier marriage. In the marriage records there is a Elma Lockwood age 20 b. DeKalb Co. parents LYMAN and Mary (Reed) Lockwood married on December 21, 1887 DeKalb County Benjamin F. Myres age 24 b. Eaton Co., MI railroad engineer parents B. F. and Eliza (Lide) Myres

Edward Kelham is a prominent farmer and land owner of Keyser Township, DeKalb County, having 300 acres in his ownership. He is practically retired from the responsibilities of farming and lives at Altona. His name is well known in connection with several important offices, which he has filled with signal credit and efficiency.

Mr. Kelham was born in Richland County, Ohio, September 30, 1854, a son of Edward and Sarah Downend (Huston) Kelham. His parents were both natives of England. His father was born in Lincolnshire, November 3, 1826, and his mother in Yorkshire, March 5, 1826. He came to the United States at the age of twenty-two while his wife came to this country when only eight years old. They were married in Richland County, Ohio, and Edward Kelham, Sr., was a farmer. In 1858 he came to DeKalb County, Indiana, and bought eighty acres of land in Keyser Township. Eventually he accumulated much valuable farming land in the county, and on account of his business ability and probity of character he was widely known and honored and was entrusted with the administrative settlement of some of the largest estates in the county. He also served as county commissioner one term and was an active democrat. He and his wife had ten children, seven of whom reached mature years, and six now living are: Thomas, of Avilla, Indiana; Edward; Mary, of Garrett; Joseph and George, of Laotto, Indiana; and Charles, of Troy, Idaho.

Edward Kelham was four years old when brought to Indiana, and he received his early education in the district schools of DeKalb County. At the age of twenty-one he left home and began earning his living in a brick yard. On February 1, 1880, he married Viola Whetsel, who was born in Keyser Township June 8, 1859, a daughter of Michael and Caroling (Simons) Whetsel.

After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Kelham took up farming, and that has been his steady vocation until he accumulated the competency which enabled him to retire. Mr. and Mrs. Kelham have four children. Chloe G., who is a graduate of the common schools, and is the wife of W.A. Helme, of Angola; Claude K., a graduate of the common schools, is a machinist by trade but in practice a farmer, married Frennie Crowe; Mary M., is the widow of Arthur Gump; Caroline is the wife of Newton DePew.

Mrs. Kelham is an active member of the Methodist Protestant Church at Altona. He is affiliated with the Garrett City Lodge No. 537, Accepted Free and Ancient Masons, and is a democrat in politics. Mr. Kelham filled the office of trustee of Keyser Township for five years and three months, also served two terms as county commissioner, and is at present a member to the County Council.

His father's biography is below: DeKalb County History Book Inter-State Publishing Company, Chicago, 1885.

Edward Kelham, farmer, section 31, Keyser Township, was born in Lincolnshire, England, Nov. 13, 1826, the tenth of thirteen children of Thomas and Mary (Boothby) Kelham. He was reared and educated in his native country, and in 1849 came to America and located in Richland County, Ohio. He worked on the railroad and on lake steamers three years, and by being economical saved enough to buy forty acres of land, and began making a home. In 1857 he moved to De Kalb County, Ind., and bought eighty acres of unimproved land, to which , by good management and industry, he has added till he now owns 400 acres of the best land in the township. All well cultivated. He is a public-spirited and liberal man, and is held in high esteem by all who know him. In 1878 he was elected County Commissioner and served three years; was again nominated, but refused to serve on account of the demands of his personal business. Mr. Kelham is a purely self-made man, coming to this country as he did a poor man he has worked his way from poverty to affluence, and now ranks with the best businessmen of De Kalb County. He was married in Richland County, Ohio, April 22, 1853, to Miss Sarah Downend, a native of England, who came with her parents, James and Mary (Shaw) Downend, to America when she was eight years old. They have had ten children---Thomas, Edward, Jr., Mary, Joseph A., James, Martha, George, Charles T., Matilda and William F. Matilda, William and Martha Notes for Nettie May Olinger: Biography of Frank W. Olinger, pages 624/625/626/627/628. History of DeKalb County, Indiana; B. F. Bowen & Company, Inc., Indianapolis, 1914. The below is her parents and family.

Among those persons who have, by virtue of their strong individual qualities, earned there way to high standing in the estimation of their fellow citizens, have by sheer force of character and persistency won their way from an humble beginning to place of influence and prominence in the community, where they are active in business affairs, the subject of this sketch is entitled to specific mention in a volume of the character of the one at hand. Frank W. Olinger was born in Keyser township, DeKalb county, Indiana, a short distance west of Auburn, on March 4, 1870, and he is a son of John S. and Lucy (Yard) Olinger. The subject paternal grandparents were David B. and Rebecca (Swihart) Olinger. David B. Olinger was born near Hagerstown, Maryland on June 17, 1813, and died near Auburn, Indiana, on December 19, 1896, at the age of eighty-three years. He was descended from good old Pennsylvania Dutch stock, He emigrated from Maryland to Stark county, Ohio, where, on February 18, 1836, he married Rebecca Swihart, and there on February 21, 1837, their only child, John S., was born. They remained in Stark County until August, 1846, when they came to Indiana. They drove through, the journey being one characterized by hardships, poor roads, bridgeless streams, and other conditions which made the journey a tiresome and ofttimes dangerous experience. Upon their arrival here they located two and a half miles east of Auburn, where David bought eighty acres of timberland, on which not a stick had been cut. For a time the family lived on a near-by tract, on which was a small cabin, with the roof so low that they could reach it form the ground. About a year later they moved to the Henry Shull place, north of Auburn, where they lived about three years, moving from there to the Brandon farm, two miles west of Auburn, where they remained ten or twelve years. Then Mr. Olinger bought eighty acres just south of that tract, on which he built a house, that being about two years prior to the outbreak of the Civil war, and there David Olinger made his permanent home. His first wife died on February 29, 1870, and on October 10, 1878, he married Margaret Kiestrick, who died on the 12th of October, 1892. After her death he lived with his son, John S. Olinger. For about twenty-five years David B. Olinger served his community as justice of the peace and was honored and esteemed by all who knew him. John S. Olinger was a lad of ten years when his parents brought him to DeKalb County, and he was thus an eye-witness of the early development of this section of the country. When he came here Indians were still roaming the forest and deer were as numerous as sheep are today. Living conditions were primitive in the extreme for the first few years, and in the gigantic task of clearing the land, developing farms and making public improvements he had an active part. He was reared to the life of a woodsman and his own first land was acquired through his skill in woodcraft, for by cutting the timber from forty acres he was given a forty-acre tract in payment for his labor. In 1862, John S. Olinger enlisted in Company A, One Hundredth Regiment Indiana Volunteer Infantry, his regiment being assigned to the Western Army. He proved a faithful and courageous soldier, but after about ten month's service he was honorably discharged because of physical disability. His illness so incapacitated him that he was practically unable to work for about a year afterward. He then bought forty acres of land north of Garrett, a part of which he cleared, and then sold the tract and bought forty acres located about one and a half miles farther east, of which about an acre had been cleared and on which was a log house. He cleared the remainder of that land, which he cultivated for a few years, and then sold it and bought forty acres a mile and a half west of Auburn, which, like the preceding place, had but a small portion cleared. However, a trifling matter like that offered to him no discouragement, and he soon had the tract cleared and in cultivation. He has lived on that place now for forty-five years and has made of it one of the best farms in his section of the county, In addition to his labors as a farmer and woodsman, Mr. Olinger worked much at the carpenter's trade during his active years. On April 18, 1861, John S. Olinger married Lucy Yard, who was born at Exmouth, England, on June 9, 1842, the daughter of John and Mary (Simmons) Yard. Her parents, who were highly educated and well-to-do, were principals of an academy in England, but emigrated to this country in an early day, probably in 1852. The first located in Cleveland, where they remained a short time, coming then to DeKalb county, and locating a mile north of Garrett, where they bought a farm and made their permanent home, their original tract comprising about sixty acres. Though Mr. Yard was handicapped by having the use of only one hand, he was a man of energy and good business ability and eventually became quite well-to-do. To John S. and Lucy Olinger were born six children, namely: Salome died in infancy; David B. died at the age of ten years; Frank W. is the immediate subject of this review; Cora E. is the wife of George M. Ditmars and they live two miles south of Auburn; Mitchell H. is a barber and lives at Garrett; Nettie May is the wife of Bert Lockwood and they live on her father's farm, on and a half miles west of Auburn. The mother of these children died on January 29, 1908, at the age of sixty-five years, having been an invalid for many years. Despite her sufferings, she ever remained cheerful and patient, evincing and expressing an unfailing trust in an all-wise Providence. She was reared in the Church of England, or the Episcopal Church, but later identified herself with the Lutheran church, of which she was an earnest an faithful member. John S. Olinger is a member of the Grand Army of the Republic and the Farmer's Alliance. He is a man of unquestioned integrity and consistent life and, because of his right living, his kindly nature and his success in life, he enjoyed a high standing in the community honored by his citizenship. Frank W. Olinger remained with his parents on the home farm until he had attained his majority. In November, 1908, he moved into Auburn, buying a good residence property on South Jackson street. He was associated with John Clark in the furniture business until he accepted the nomination for sheriff in the fall of 1912, being nominated by the Republican party for that office, but, owing to the Democratic landslide of that year, he went down to defeat together with the rest of the ticket. On May 14, 1913, Mr. Olinger engaged in the lumber business at Auburn, in partnership with Ora Brandon, and to this business he is now giving his undivided attention. They carry a complete line of all kinds of lumber, together with general building supplies and, owing to their excellent business methods and evident desire to please their customer, they are enjoying their full share of patronage. In September, 1911, Mr. Olinger bought a beautiful home at the corner of Thirteenth and Main street, which he has improved and where he now resides. On September 30, 1891, Frank W. Olinger was married to Mary M. Ditmars, who was born about three miles south of Auburn, the daughter of Isaac and Martha (George) Ditmars. Isaac Ditmars, who was born in Wayne county, Ohio, on September 7, 1837, was the son of John A. and Eliza (Neff) Ditmars, who, in 1853, came to DeKalb county, Indiana, locating a mile an a half south of Auburn, where they made their permanent home. There John A. Ditmars owned a farm and a good water-power saw mill. In the building of the latter Isaac Ditmars had a hand and there he labored many a day and night. John A. Ditmars, who was born in New Jersey on November 28, 1811, married Eliza Neff, who was a native of Hunterdon County, New Jersey. On their DeKalb county homestead Isaac Ditmars was reared to maturity and took up farming for his life occupation. On September 22, 1861, he enlisted in Company F, Forty-fourth Regiment Indiana Volunteer Infantry, with which he saw some severe service. At the battle of Shiloh he received a serious wound, from the effects of which he was rendered unfit for duty and received an honorable discharge. He still limps some from the effects of the injury. After returning home, Isaac Ditmars resumed his farming operations south of Auburn, in which he met with good success, at one time owing three hundred and twenty acres of land. Since the death of his wife he has made his home with his sister, Mrs. Emily Reed, about a mile and a half north of Auburn. On October 20, 1862, Isaac Ditmars married Martha George, who was born in Wayne County, Ohio, and was the daughter of John T. and Nancy (McClelland) George, who came to Indiana in 1844. To Isaac and Martha Ditmars were born four children, namely: Ulysses Ellsworth was killed by falling from a tree October 2, 1873, in the eleventh year of his age; George M. is a farmer about two miles south of Auburn; Mary M., the wife of Frank W. Olinger; Anna L., the wife of Frank Dawson, who lives a mile north of Auburn. The mother of these children, who passed away on April 20, 1905, was a worthy woman and a highly esteemed member of the Baptist church at Auburn. To Frank W. and Mary M. Olinger have been born three children, namely: Everett D., born September 30, 1893, died on December 5, 1897; Ethel Geraldine, born June 16, 1897, is a student in the Auburn high school, and George M. who was born on April 15, 1899, is also a student in the public schools. Fraternally, Frank W. Olinger is a member of the Knights of Pythias and the Knights of Maccabees. Earnest purpose and tireless energy, combined with mature judgment and every-day common sense, have been among his most prominent characteristics, and he has merited the respect and esteem which are accorded him by all who know him. He is broad-minded, kind-hearted and friendly in his relations with others and is universally well liked.

Things I Remember 1922-1940
By Mary Griffin Rench

My home for the first 18 years was in Grandma's home at 245 W. 15th St., Auburn, IN.

Four of us lived in a small house (Grandma Lockwood's), Mother, Grace Griffin, Carl and I.

Grandma and Grandpa divorced before my day. Grandpa got her a new house. The plumbing left a lot to be desired. She had one of the first toilets in Auburn. It was no prize, we had to cart water to flush it.

We had an oil stove and a cook stove that held warm water in the reservoir (for baths and to wash hair and laundry.

She was a sweet, stubborn lady. When flu came around, she'd hang an as asafetida bag around my neck. Onion, garlic and anything that smelled bad went into the asafetida bag. Grandma was very neat and clean.

She combed her hair (gray) in her rocking chair in an east window in the morning sun, and made a ball of it on the back of her head.

She loved stories on the radio. We had battery operated for a while. Soon we got an electric light in the kitchen. While we were quarantined with Scarlet Fever, Carl put in a few more lights.

He also tried to build an airplane in his bedroom from a kit.

Grandma had a flower garden, flowers and vegetables. She also loved a small dog. Carl and us called it Livernoise. Carl was a photographer in the National Guard and got discharged (age 27). Was in WW2 in England. In between, he got married to Bernice.

Income for us was $40.00 a month- grandma's pension from grandpa, $5.00 wk. Mother - house work, Carl - paperboy, me - school & babysitting. Carl and Bernice helped when he went in the service and me in 1940 when I got a job with Indiana Bell at $12.00 per wk. to start.

My Uncle Frank Avery, took me to Ft. Wayne to get a SS card. The next day he left Aunt Hettie! She took in sewing and made me some dresses, etc.

Grandpa brought us canned meat.

Grandma always wore diamond earrings that he brought from Chicago. I think they loved each other.

She was a pretty lady about 5', 100 lbs. She carried a rose shawl on her left arm when she went visiting and carried a large alligator satchel.

I think she had a stroke. Aunt Dessie Clark's daughter-in-law and I were with her when she died on a couch in our living room.

The day before she died, she asked me to play a record about a pretty girl. It was "Sue City Sue."

Oh yes, I've been married 4 times. Bob Miller died and Lafe Blue died., John Rench "alive and kicking." (in the margin - it says "Foltz divorced.")

Mary also says that she and June Rose spent summers together at Nellie and John Dosch's (June's parents) home. Carl and she used to call each other COG and MOG (Carl Ora Griffin and Mary O'Nelia Griffin)

Note: Mary's first husband was (1) Charles Foltz. (2) Bob Miller (3) Lafayette Blue (4) John Rench.

He married Bernice.

Notes for Carl Griffin:

Information about Carl from Mary Griffin Rench.

Carl tried building an airplane in his room with the help of some of his friends, including Dorsey Likens, who later became the DeKalb County Sheriff. Carl joined the army and he gave up on the project. He had one of his friends dismantle the plane and remove it from his room. Later, after he lived at the lake, he built a boat. When he tried it in the lake, he discovered it was too big for the lake. He sold it and bought a smaller boat for he, his wife, and son.

One project that got him in trouble with his wife, he, without discussing it with her first, bought 30 chinchillas and cages costing about $500.00. He decided to take them out of the separate cages and put them all in one cage, like nature intended. This did not work, as all they did was fight...

He lived in Detroit in his working years and then moved to Davenport, OH.

My home for the first 18 years was in Grandma's home at 245 W. 15th St., Auburn, IN.

Four of us lived in a small house (Grandma Lockwood's), Mother, Grace Griffin, Carl and I.

Grandma and Grandpa divorced before my day. Grandpa got her a new house. The plumbing left a lot to be desired. She had one of the first toilets in Auburn. It was no prize, we had to cart water to flush it.

We had an oil stove and a cook stove that held warm water in the reservoir (for baths and to wash hair and laundry.

She was a sweet, stubborn lady. When flu came around, she'd hang an as asafetida bag around my neck. Onion, garlic and anything that smelled bad went into the asafetida bag. Grandma was very neat and clean.

She combed her hair (gray) in her rocking chair in an east window in the morning sun, and made a ball of it on the back of her head.

She loved stories on the radio. We had battery operated for a while. Soon we got an electric light in the kitchen. While we were quarantined with Scarlet Fever, Carl put in a few more lights.

He also tried to build an airplane in his bedroom from a kit.

Grandma had a flower garden, flowers and vegetables. She also loved a small dog. Carl and us called it Livernoise. Carl was a photographer in the National Guard and got discharged (age 27). Was in WW2 in England. In between, he got married to Bernice.

Income for us was $40.00 a month- grandma's pension from grandpa, $5.00 wk. Mother - house work, Carl - paperboy, me - school & babysitting. Carl and Bernice helped when he went in the service and me in 1940 when I got a job with Indiana Bell at $12.00 per wk. to start.

My Uncle Frank Avery, took me to Ft. Wayne to get a SS card. The next day he left Aunt Hettie! She took in sewing and made me some dresses, etc.

Grandpa brought us canned meat.

Grandma always wore diamond earrings that he brought from Chicago. I think they loved each other.

She was a pretty lady about 5', 100 lbs. She carried a rose shawl on her left arm when she went visiting and carried a large alligator satchel.

I think she had a stroke. Aunt Dessie Clark's daughter-in-law and I were with her when she died on a couch in our living room.

The day before she died, she asked me to play a record about a pretty girl. It was "Sue City Sue."

Oh yes, I've been married 4 times. Bob Miller died and Lafe Blue died., John Rench "alive and kicking." (in the margin - it says "Foltz divorced.")

Mary also says that she and June Rose spent summers together at Nellie and John Dosch's (June's parents) home. She and Carl used to call each other COG and MOG (Carl Ora Griffin and Mary O'Nelia Griffin)

Note: Mary's first husband was (1)Charles Foltz. (2) Bob Miller (3) Lafayette Blue (4) John Rench.

ii. Carl Griffin, born January 13, 1913; died May 1985 in Columbus, Twp., St. Clair, MI; married Bernice.

Notes for Carl Griffin Information about Carl from Mary Griffin Rench.

Carl tried building an airplane in his room with the help of some of his friends, including Dorsey Likens, who later became the DeKalb County Sheriff. Carl joined the army and he gave up on the project. He had one of his friends dismantle the plane and remove it from his room. Later, after he lived at the lake, he built a boat. When he tried it in the lake, he discovered it was too big for the lake. He sold it and bought a smaller boat for he, his wife, and son.

One project that got him in trouble with his wife, he, without discussing it with her first, bought 30 chinchillas and cages costing about $500.00. He decided to take them out of the separate cages and put them all in one cage, like nature intended. This did not work, as all they did was fight...

He lived in Detroit in his working years and then moved to Davenport, OH.

Notes for Lyman Lockwood: LYMAN LOCKWOOD, 85, DIED IN THE WOODS Civil War Vet Expired from Heart Attack and Body Found in the Woods on His Farm Lyman Lockwood, 85, a veteran of the Civil war, living on his farm in Jackson township south of Auburn, died suddenly of a heart attack in the woods of his farm last Thursday afternoon. The body was found by Walter Williams. He was a member of Company K., Forty-fourth Indiana Volunteer Infantry and served until the end of the war. Mr. Lockwood a number of years ago made preparations for his death. From cypress grown on his land he made a cypress he made a casket and for nine years it was kept in Mr. Lockwood's crypt in the mausoleum at Woodlawn cemetery. He is survived by the following children: Mrs. Frank Avery of Auburn; Ora and Bert Lockwood and Mrs. Grace Griffin of Jackson township, and a sister, Mrs. Cornelia Caruth of Auburn. The funeral services were held from the Clark funeral home in Auburn Sunday afternoon with Rev. H. F. Craven of the Auburn Presbyterian church officiating. Interment in the Mausoleum in the Woodlawn cemetery at Auburn. "The Waterloo Press" Feb. 25, 1932 Thursday

In the 1885 DeKalb County History Book "Lyman Lockwood mustered in April 2, 1864 out September 14, 1865 Co. K 44th Regiment." Also it mentions that Lyman was a member of the Garrett Lodge, No. 602, I.O.O.F. and at the time of the 1885 History book was printed he was V. G.

The below information and remembrances are from Mary Griffin Rench.

Joining the war, when very young, he served as a bugler. Toward the end of his life when he made his casket, his daughter Nellie made the red, white, and blue lining for it.

Mary Griffin said that Lyman and Mary O. (Whetsel) Lockwood (her grandparents) lived near the creek, which is now the ditch on 427, north of the Airplane Road (C. R. 60). Mary O. shot a bear on the bank of the creek. They found Indian relics around the East and West creeks. Lyman had an Indian girlfriend for a time. He raised sheep. Lyman divided up the land to his children but they all came with mortgages. Grace got the original homestead but her husband was not a farmer so had to sell. Grandpa Lyman built a house across from Grace but it burned in the early 1930's. John and Nellie Dosch built a square house and gave some of the land to Frank and Inez Dosch. Another parcel of land went to Ora and Mattie Lockwood. Lyman's granddaughters (Mary O'Nelia Griffin and June Rose Dosch) used to stay summers together at June's parent's (John and Nellie Dosch's) home.

The Lockwood's took care of the horses for the Stage Coach that had a route from Ft. Wayne to Detroit. The Stage Coach stopped near Auburn where Jim Covell now lives. Jim said the home was built by the Muhn's and one of the brother's was a cabinet maker. The passengers would stay overnight at the house. After the overnight stop, the stage coach would then continue to Angola and then Detroit. In the low area by the house is where the Grist-mill used to be. Some other owners of the house has been Krenenlmyers and the Rieke family.

There is a possibility that he had an earlier marriage. In the marriage records there is a Elma Lockwood age 20 b. DeKalb Co. parents LYMAN and Mary (Reed) Lockwood married on December 21, 1887 DeKalb County Benjamin F. Myres age 24 b. Eaton Co., MI railroad engineer parents B. F. and Eliza (Lide) Myres Lyman and Mary O'Nelia Whetsel did not get married until 1871. Elma would have been born abt. 1867. This would have been right after he would have gotten out of the civil war and Lyman would have been 22. There were no other Lymans in the area.

Notes for Nettie May Olinger: information from the biography of Frank W. Olinger, History of DeKalb County, Indiana; B. F. Bowen & Company, Inc., Indianapolis, 1914. pages 624-628 The below is her parents and family.

Among those persons who have, by virtue of their strong individual qualities, earned there way to high standing in the estimation of their fellow citizens, have by sheer force of character and persistency won their way from an humble beginning to place of influence and prominence in the community, where they are active in business affairs, the subject of this sketch is entitled to specific mention in a volume of the character of the one at hand. Frank W. Olinger was born in Keyser township, DeKalb county, Indiana, a short distance west of Auburn, on March 4, 1870, and he is a son of John S. and Lucy (Yard) Olinger. The subject paternal grandparents were David B. and Rebecca (Swihart) Olinger. David B. Olinger was born near Hagerstown, Maryland on June 17, 1813, and died near Auburn, Indiana, on December 19, 1896, at the age of eighty-three years. He was descended from good old Pennsylvania Dutch stock, He emigrated from Maryland to Stark county, Ohio, where, on February 18, 1836, he married Rebecca Swihart, and there on February 21, 1837, their only child, John S., was born. They remained in Stark county until August, 1846, when they came to Indiana. They drove through, the journey being one characterized by hardships, poor roads, bridgeless streams, and other conditions which made the journey a tiresome and ofttimes dangerous experience. Upon their arrival here they located two and a half miles east of Auburn, where David bought eighty acres of timberland, on which not a stick had been cut. For a time the family lived on a near-by tract, on which was a small cabin, with the roof so low that they could reach it form the ground. About a year later they moved to the Henry Shull place, north of Auburn, where they lived about three years, moving from there to the Brandon farm, two miles west of Auburn, where they remained ten or twelve years. Then Mr. Olinger bought eighty acres just south of that tract, on which he built a house, that being about two years prior to the outbreak of the Civil war, and there David Olinger made his permanent home. His first wife died on February 29, 1870, and on October 10, 1878, he married Margaret Kiestrick, who died on the 12th of October, 1892. After her death he lived with his son, John S. Olinger. For about twenty-five years David B. Olinger served his community as justice of the peace and was honored and esteemed by all who knew him. John S. Olinger was a lad of ten years when his parents brought him to DeKalb county, and he was thus an eye-witness of the early development of this section of the country. When he came here Indians were still roaming the forest and deer were as numerous as sheep are today. Living conditions were primitive in the extreme for the first few years, and in the gigantic task of clearing the land, developing farms and making public improvements he had an active part. He was reared to the life of a woodsman and his own first land was acquired through his skill in woodcraft, for by cutting the timber from forty acres he was given a forty-acre tract in payment for his labor. In 1862, John S. Olinger enlisted in Company A, One Hundredth Regiment Indiana Volunteer Infantry, his regiment being assigned to the Western Army. He proved a faithful and courageous soldier, but after about ten month's service he was honorably discharged because of physical disability. His illness so incapacitated him that he was practically unable to work for about a year afterward. He then bought forty acres of land north of Garrett, a part of which he cleared, and then sold the tract and bought forty acres located about one and a half miles farther east, of which about an acre had been cleared and on which was a log house. He cleared the remainder of that land, which he cultivated for a few years, and then sold it and bought forty acres a mile and a half west of Auburn, which, like the preceding place, had but a small portion cleared. However, a trifling matter like that offered to him no discouragement, and he soon had the tract cleared and in cultivation. He has lived on that place now for forty-five years and has made of it one of the best farms in his section of the county, In addition to his labors as a farmer and woodsman, Mr. Olinger worked much at the carpenter's trade during his active years. On April 18, 1861, John S. Olinger married Lucy Yard, who was born at Exmouth, England, on June 9, 1842, the daughter of John and Mary (Simmons) Yard. Her parents, who were highly educated and well-to-do, were principals of an academy in England, but emigrated to this country in an early day, probably in 1852. The first located in Cleveland, where they remained a short time, coming then to DeKalb county, and locating a mile north of Garrett, where they bought a farm and made their permanent home, their original tract comprising about sixty acres. Though Mr. Yard was handicapped by having the use of only one hand, he was a man of energy and good business ability and eventually became quite well-to-do. To John S. and Lucy Olinger were born six children, namely: Salome died in infancy; David B. died at the age of ten years; Frank W. is the immediate subject of this review; Cora E. is the wife of George M. Ditmars and they live two miles south of Auburn; Mitchell H. is a barber and lives at Garrett; Nettie May is the wife of Bert Lockwood and they live on her father's farm, on and a half miles west of Auburn. The mother of these children died on January 29, 1908, at the age of sixty-five years, having been an invalid for many years. Despite her sufferings, she ever remained cheerful and patient, evincing and expressing an unfailing trust in an all-wise Providence. She was reared in the Church of England, or the Episcopal church, but later identified herself with the Lutheran church, of which she was an earnest an faithful member. John S. Olinger is a member of the Grand Army of the Republic and the Farmer's Alliance. He is a man of unquestioned integrity and consistent life and, because of his right living, his kindly nature and his success in life, he enjoyed a high standing in the community honored by his citizenship. Frank W. Olinger remained with his parents on the home farm until he had attained his majority. In November, 1908, he moved into Auburn, buying a good residence property on South Jackson street. He was associated with John Clark in the furniture business until he accepted the nomination for sheriff in the fall of 1912, being nominated by the Republican party for that office, but, owing to the Democratic landslide of that year, he went down to defeat together with the rest of the ticket. On May 14, 1913, Mr. Olinger engaged in the lumber business at Auburn, in partnership with Ora Brandon, and to this business he is now giving his undivided attention. They carry a complete line of all kinds of lumber, together with general building supplies and, owing to their excellent business methods and evident desire to please their customer, they are enjoying their full share of patronage. In September, 1911, Mr. Olinger bought a beautiful home at the corner of Thirteenth and Main street, which he has improved and where he now resides. On September 30, 1891, Frank W. Olinger was married to Mary M. Ditmars, who was born about three miles south of Auburn, the daughter of Isaac and Martha (George) Ditmars. Isaac Ditmars, who was born in Wayne county, Ohio, on September 7, 1837, was the son of John A. and Eliza (Neff) Ditmars, who, in 1853, came to DeKalb county, Indiana, locating a mile an a half south of Auburn, where they made their permanent home. There John A. Ditmars owned a farm and a good water-power saw mill. In the building of the latter Isaac Ditmars had a hand and there he labored many a day and night. John A. Ditmars, who was born in New Jersey on November 28, 1811, married Eliza Neff, who was a native of Hunterdon county, New Jersey. On their DeKalb county homestead Isaac Ditmars was reared to maturity and took up farming for his life occupation. On September 22, 1861, he enlisted in Company F, Forty-fourth Regiment Indiana Volunteer Infantry, with which he saw some severe service. At the battle of Shiloh he received a serious wound, from the effects of which he was rendered unfit for duty and received an honorable discharge. He still limps some from the effects of the injury. After returning home, Isaac Ditmars resumed his farming operations south of Auburn, in which he met with good success, at one time owing three hundred and twenty acres of land. Since the death of his wife he has made his home with his sister, Mrs. Emily Reed, about a mile and a half north of Auburn. On October 20, 1862, Isaac Ditmars married Martha George, who was born in Wayne county, Ohio, and was the daughter of John T. and Nancy (McClelland) George, who came to Indiana in 1844. To Isaac and Martha Ditmars were born four children, namely: Ulysses Ellsworth was killed by falling from a tree October 2, 1873, in the eleventh year of his age; George M. is a farmer about two miles south of Auburn; Mary M., the wife of Frank W. Olinger; Anna L., the wife of Frank Dawson, who lives a mile north of Auburn. The mother of these children, who passed away on April 20, 1905, was a worthy woman and a highly esteemed member of the Baptist church at Auburn. To Frank W. and Mary M. Olinger have been born three children, namely: Everett D., born September 30, 1893, died on December 5, 1897; Ethel Geraldine, born June 16, 1897, is a student in the Auburn high school, and George M. who was born on April 15, 1899, is also a student in the public schools. Fraternally, Frank W. Olinger is a member of the Knights of Pythias and the Knights of Maccabees. Earnest purpose and tireless energy, combined with mature judgment and every-day common sense, have been among his most prominent characteristics, and he has merited the respect and esteem which are accorded him by all who know him. He is broad-minded, kind-hearted and friendly in his relations with others and is universally well liked.

Marriage Notes for Burt Lockwood and Nettie Olinger: This date was from the marriage records. Notice it was different in the obituary.

11. Henrietta Surfus, born March 26, 1844; died May 18, 1876. She was the daughter of 22. John Edward Surfus and 23. Ellen DeLong.

Notes for Alanson C. Griffin: June 20, 1936, Monday, The Auburn-Courier, "A. C. GRIFFIN, AGE 99 YEARS, IS DEAD Father of Mrs. Viola Timberlin of Auburn, would have been 100 had he lived Until June 29. The funeral of the late Alanson C. Griffin, 99, believed to be Fort Wayne's oldest resident and the father of Viola Timberlin of Auburn, and Jessie Griffin and Anna Rugman of Garrett, will be held Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Celia Pepple of 1918 Crescent avenue, Fort Wayne.

An hour later services will be held at Cedar Chapel, south of Garrett, the Rev. Chas. Hollopeter officiating. Burial will be made in the church cemetery. Mr. Griffin died Sunday morning at 6:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Pepple from arterio sclerosis. Until an injury suffered in a fall, Mr. Griffin was unusually active and frequently walked from his home downtown. Had he lived until June 29, Mr. Griffin would have become a centenarian. He was born in East Hamburg, Erie county N. Y., and came to Indiana in 1864. At the age of seventeen Mr. Griffin became a carpenter and joiner. He owned a farm in Perry township, Allen County, many years and was active in local affairs. Mr. Griffin was the oldest registered voter in Allen County. He was a member of the Masonic lodge at Huntertown and passed through all the chairs. Other children surviving are one daughter, Effie Griffin of Pierceton, and one son, John Griffin of Huntertown. There are sixteen grandchildren, thirty great grandchildren and one great-great grandchildren."

History of DeKalb County, Indiana; B. F. Bowen & Company, Inc., Indianapolis, 1914. pages 755-56

One of the sterling citizens of DeKalb county is Joseph Pepple, a name well known, especially in Butler township, where he has a splendid and attractively kept landed estate, an being regarded as one of the leading agriculturists of his community. As a result of his industry, integrity and genuine worth he is held in high esteem by the people of his vicinity, mainly as a result of his principles of modern farming and progressive and upright citizenship. Joseph Pepple was born on July 4, 1867, in Butler township, DeKalb county, the son of Joseph and Addeline (Hahn) Pepple. His parents, at an early date, came from their native state of Ohio and were among the pioneers who fought and conquered the hardships and perils of those days. To the elder Joseph and Addeline Pepple were born seven children, namely: Mrs. Frances Lung lives in DeKalb county; George and Jessie are deceased; Mrs. Ellie Thrush lives in DeKalb county; Mary is deceased; Joseph; Mrs. Leah Fitch lives in Seattle, Washington. At such times as he could be spared from the work of framing on the home place, the subject attended the common schools of the county. After reaching his majority he was married, on November 27, 1895, to Celia Griffin, daughter of Alanson and Henrietta (Surfus) Griffin, he a native of New York and she of Indiana. To the subject and wife have been born five children: Mrs. Viola Timberlan lives in Allen county, Indiana; Mrs. Effie Griffin lives in Butler township; Mrs. Annie Rugman is also living in DeKalb county; John Griffin is a resident of Allen county; Jessie lives in Butler township. The subject is now actively engaged in tilling the one hundred and ninety-seven acres of his splendid farm. Good buildings have been added by Mr. Pepple and his home is a model among the good homes of this community. Along one side of his possessions runs an interurban line, which not only adds to the value of his holding, but is a great convenience. The Republican party claims Mr. Pepple's suffrage.

Children of Alanson Griffin and Henrietta Surfus are:

5 i. Effie Mae Griffin, born May 06, 1867 in Allen Co., IN; died 1949; married Elmer Perry Griffin.

ii. John E. Griffin, born November 14, 1870 in Allen Co., IN; died 1965; married Alda E. Griffin; born 1873; died 1942.

Notes for Blanche Hollopeter: GARRETT WOMAN DIES FROM A SUDDEN HEART ATTACK Mrs. Blanche Griffin, Mother of Mrs. Alto Swain of Near Auburn, became ill in Church. After being stricken while attending church services Sunday night, Mrs. Blanche Griffin, 76, of 904 South Peters street, Garrett, succumbed to a heart attack. Mrs. Griffin lived alone and her health had not been good for several years. She attended the services at the Garrett Church of the Nazarene Sunday morning and went back to the church in the evening. She became ill during the services and her son, James, of R. 3, Auburn, who also was in the church, took her to her home. She was able to walk but her condition grew worse after arrival home despite the ministrations of a physician. She was taken to Sacred Heart hospital in the Baidinger-Walter ambulance, but she lived only a few minutes there. Her death took place just before midnight. The body was taken to the Baidinger-Walter funeral home and will remain there until noon Wednesday, when it will be removed to the Nazarene church. Services will be held at 2 o'clock, the Rev. Merle Bright officiating. Interment will be made in Cedar Chapel cemetery, southeast of Garrett. Mrs. Griffin's maiden name was Hollopeter and she was born in Allen County, near Cedarville, April 1, 1882. She and Jesse C. Griffin were married April 2, 1902, and he was a farmer all his life. The family moved to this area in 1934 and Mr. Griffin died in 1943. Since then Mrs. Griffin had resided in Garrett. Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Alto Swain of R. 3, Auburn; six sons, Warren, of R. 1, Auburn; Albert, of Quincy, Mich., Ray Ivan Griffin, of R. 1, St. Joe; Russell, of Stroh, James, of R. 3, Auburn, and Harry D., of 718 South Guilford street, Garrett; 21 grandchildren, 16 great-grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. Luella Lige of 910 East Seventh street, Auburn. Mrs. Griffin was a member of the Church of the Nazarene.

12. Alonzo Lockwood, born November 03, 1815 in Vermont; died July 03, 1886. He was the son of 24. Levi Lockwood and 25. Tamazon Stone. He married 13. Rosamond Phelps in Licking County, OH.

13. Rosamond Phelps, born September 13, 1815 in Granville, Licking County, OH; died January 13, 1894 in Auburn, DeKalb County, IN. She was the daughter of 26. Chauncy Phelps and 27. Mary Chadwick.

Notes for Alonzo Lockwood: In the 1885 DeKalb County History Book, Jackson Twp., it says "An early settler was Thomas L. Yates, the eccentric Judge, who sold his farm on the river and settled 3 miles down the creek from Auburn on the land which was afterward the home of Alonzo Lockwood."

Alonzo Lockwood Our community was surprised and shocked Sunday morning to learn the sudden death of Alonzo Lockwood, one of the wealthiest and best known of DeKalb County's citizens. His death was the direct result of injuries sustained by falling from his buggy. It seem she had gone down into Defiance county in Ohio, Thursday, driving across the country, as was his habit, with a horse and buggy and all alone. He has, we believe, several farms near Sherwood, and after transacting some business, he started Friday evening for home, alone in his buggy. When about two or three miles from Sherwood, at about 9 o'clock in the evening, he was noticed going by a farm house, and a few rods this side of the house was found a few minutes later by some men, lying in the road, seriously injured. He was carried to the house and cared for. He son, Lyman Lockwood, who resides in Keyser township, this county, as sent for and remained with him until he died, which was about 7 o'clock Saturday evening. It seems that after passing the house already referred to, his horse stumbled an fell, and this threw Mr. Lockwood violently forward into the hard road, injuring the spine so as to cause paralysis of a great part of his body, but no bones were broken. His mental faculties seemed clear, and his injuries were of such a character that no relief could be afforded. He gave such directions as to his business affairs as was possible under the circumstances. He was brought home to this place for interment, the funeral taking place at 2 p.m. on Monday. The deceased, besides being one of the wealthiest men in DeKalb County, had long been a conspicuous figure among us. Always engrossed by a multitude of business cares, he had little time, and no doubt, little inclination to spend time in any of the social ways that make life pleasant to many, yet he was always pleasant when addressed, or when he had time to converse. He was noted for his plainess of dress, which often had the appearance of positive shabbiness. Much of his great wealth was made by loaning money, yet we have been told he was not a hard man to deal with. A large concourse of mourners followed him to the grave. In the Auburn Courier Paper, July 8, 1886

Date and place of birth - from the biography of their son, Reuben (He had 1814) but in the Old Settler's notes, it says Nov. 3, 1816 and this date is more consistent with the below ages for the census.

Based on the fact that Chauncey Phelps is listed as Rosamond's father in an LDS ancestral file (no sources given).

Chauncey Phelps was living in St. Albans Township, Licking Co., Ohio according to the 1820 Ohio Census.

Since Alonzo Lockwood was also living in St. Albans Township, Licking Co., Ohio in 1830, this would appear to show how the met, though the Ancestral file on LDS shows Rosamond's husband to be "Alma Lockwood" there is no such person in Ohio at this time, so this must be a mistake.

Children of Alonzo Lockwood and Rosamond Phelps are:

i. Cyrus Lockwood, born Abt. 1835; died 1854.

Notes for Cyrus Lockwood: Information from Reuben Lockwood's biography.

ii. Rueben Lockwood, born January 20, 1841 in DeKalb County, IN; died March 30, 1912 in DeKalb County, IN; married Sarah Clarke December 22, 1892; born in Washtenaw County, Michigan.

Notes for Rueben Lockwood: History of DeKalb County, Indiana; B. F. Bowen & Company, Inc., Indianapolis, 1914. Pages 546-549

Few men of DeKalb county were as widely and favorably known as the late Reuben Lockwood, of Auburn, Indiana. He was one of the strong and influential citizens whose lives have become an essential part of the history of this section of the state, and for years his name was synonymous with all that constituted honorable and upright manhood. Tireless energy, keen perception and honesty of purpose, combined with everyday common sense, were among his chief characteristics and, while advancing individual success, he also largely promoted the moral and material welfare of his community. Reuben Lockwood, who for many years was an honored resident of DeKalb county, was born in Jackson township, this county, on January 20, 1841, and died at his home at Auburn on March 30, 1912. He was a son of Alonzo and Rosamond (Phelps) Lockwood, who were numbered among the sturdy pioneers of this section of the country. Alonzo Lockwood, who was a pioneer in the southern part of DeKalb county, was born in 1814 in Vermont, the son of Levi Lockwood and wife. In young manhood he left his native state and located in Licking county, Ohio, where he married Rosamond Phelps, a native of Granville, that county. In 1834 he removed to Allen county, Indiana, and two years later came to DeKalb county, where Mr. Lockwood entered one hundred and sixty acres of land four miles southwest of Auburn, and there established their permanent home. He was a poor man when he came to this county, the trip being made up the St. Joe river and Cedar creek in a canoe which bore all their worldly effects. However, he was a hard worker, and was determined and ambitious to succeed in his new home. By dint of the most insistent labor and rigid economy, and by the exclusion of every expensive habit, he was enabled to buy out other settlers who were discouraged and desired to move elsewhere. In this way he was enabled to accumulate thirty-six hundred acres of land in different places, twelve hundred acres being in one tract adjoining his first farm. About twelve hundred acres were located near Paulding, Defiance county, Ohio, and some in Michigan, but the greater part of this holdings were in DeKalb county. He engaged very extensively in the buying and selling of live stock, much of which he also raised on his own farms, which he sold at considerable profit, most of his transactions being in horses and cattle. He was eminently successful in every transaction in which he engaged, his deals being characterized by shrewdness and sagacity of a high order, and in 1866 he was enabled to retire from business pursuits and removed to Auburn, where he spent the remainder of his days. His death occurred on July 4, 1886, at the age of seventy-two years, while in Defiance county, Ohio, his death being immediately due to a fall from a cart. He was survived a number of years by his widow, who died in Auburn in 1898. They were the parents of seven children, namely: Cyrus, who died in 1854, at the age of nineteen years; Reuben; Celia, who died about 1876, at New Elm, Minnesota, was the wife of George Coleman; Irvin, who spent his entire life in Richland township, this county, died in 1891; Lyman was a farmer and resided in Auburn, this county; Philo J., now deceased, lived in Washington D. C. He was a noted pension attorney; Eunice is the widow of Benjamin Zigler and lives in Auburn; Cornelia, the widow of Davis E. Caruth, also lives in Auburn. Reuben Lockwood was reared on his father's farm, in the operation of which he took an active part, and in the meantime secured his education in the common schools of the neighborhood. On November 22, 1861, he enlisted as a private in Company K, Forty-fourth Regiment, Indiana Volunteer Infantry, with which he went to the front, but the ensuing winter was an unfortunate one for the entire command, as all but three or four of the regiment were either very ill or in poor health, especially at the time of the battle of Shiloh, but in which nearly all took an active part despite their poor condition. Mr. Lockwood's health became so precarious that he was mustered out soon afterwards because of physical disability. Upon his return to peaceable pursuits, Mr. Lockwood became a salesman, which vocation he followed in various lines for many years, traveling over a large portion of the country. In 1887 he helped to organize the Monitor Manufacturing Company, of which he was chosen vice-president. They erected a factory northeast of Auburn Junction, this county, where they engaged extensively in the manufacture of wind mills, potato crates, Fargo harrows and also ran a planing mill. The business was continued until 1897, when it was discontinued. Besides the business interest mentioned, Mr. Lockwood owned about six hundred of farm land, located in Ohio, Michigan and this county, to which he gave his attention and in the operation of which he was very successful. In the business affairs of the community he was prominent figure and contributed much to the prosperity and upbuilding of the community in which he lived. He was a man of broad sympathies and good-hearted in his attitude toward others, being well liked personally by all who came in contact with him. On December 22, 1892, Mr. Lockwood was married to Mrs. Sarah Clarke Carr, of Detroit, whom he met in that city while exhibiting the products of his factory. Mrs. Carr was born four miles south of Dexter, in Washtenaw county, Michigan, and is the daughter of Dr. Henry and Mary (Pritchard) Clarke, both of whom were natives of London, England. Dr. Henry Clarke was a man of splendid education, possessing several diplomas, and spoke fluently seven different languages. He and his wife were married in London, and they afterwards came to Washtenaw county, Michigan, where the Doctor was engaged in the practice of his profession until seventy-eight years old. He had very early in life taken an interest in the science of anatomy, having begun dissecting at the early age of fifteen years. He became a surgeon of note and had a large practice all over Washtenaw county, where he was commonly known as the "old English doctor. Aristocratic in his manner of life, he was nevertheless very kind to the poor and never charged for his medical services when the recipient was not able to pay. Their daughter Sarah A., was married in 1878 to George Washington Carr, of Bellville, Wayne County, Michigan, and two or three years later they moved to Detroit, where Mr. Carr was employed as a railroad fireman. Mr. Carr, who was born February 18, 1853, at Pinckney, Michigan, was the son of Malcolm and Nancy (Richmond) Carr, and his death occurred on March 17, 1888. To Mr. and Mrs. Carr were born two children: Lizzie G., who died in infancy, and George Freeman, who was born September 20, 1886. Mr. and Mrs. Lockwood moved to Auburn in September, 1893, and Mr. Lockwood formally adopted his wife's son, George, who dropped his middle name of Freeman, being known now as George Carr Lockwood. On April 23, 1910, he married Hulda Gessner, of Monroe ,Michigan daughter of Joseph and Elizabeth (Weisbeck) Gessner. To them were born a son, Reuben G., on January 21, 1911. George C. Lockwood is a tester at the Auburn automobile factory. Reuben Lockwood was for many years an honored and appreciative member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, taking an active interest in the workings of the order. He was a member of the pioneer band which accomplished also much in the early development of this section of the state, and as a defender of his country in the hour of her trial he proved himself a patriot, and because of these characteristics he is entitled to specific mention in the annals of DeKalb county.

viii. (Cornelia) Nellie Lockwood, born Aft. 1850; married Davis/David E. Curuth December 27, 1876 in DeKalb County, IN; born May 16, 1852 in PA; died January 15, 1912.

Notes for Davis/David E. Curuth: History of DeKalb County, Indiana; B. F. Bowen & Company, Inc., Indianapolis, 1914 Pages 484-485

The memory of the worthy subject of this memorial biography is revered by a host of friends and acquaintances, he having spent his energies through a long life of strenuous endeavor to make the most of his opportunities as well as to assist as best he could his neighbors to improve their condition, for he did not believe in living to himself alone, manifesting an altruistic spirit and kind heart, his sympathies going out to those who needed assistance or encouragement, and in all the relations of life he proved signally true to every trust. He possessed a social nature and by his genial and kindly attitude to those with whom he came in contact, he won the confidence and respect of everyone.

Davis E. Caruth was born in Chester county, Pennsylvania, May 16, 1852. After securing his education in the public schools he entered the employ of railroads and at the age of twenty-one years, when the Baltimore & Ohio road was being built through DeKalb county, he came here as a lineman, working the line construction at the time when the town of Garrett was just being started. He remained with the Baltimore & Ohio company for six or seven years. After his marriage, which occurred in 1876, Mr. Caruth lived at Walkerton, Indiana, about four years and then removed to Chicago, where he was engaged with the Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph Company, having in charge the line maintenance. A year later he went back to Auburn and for a short time worked for the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company and later for the Nickel Plate Railroad Company, being with the latter road about five years as superintendent of telegraph construction between Chicago and Buffalo. During the period of this employ with the Nickel Plate company Mr. and Mrs. Caruth lived in Fostoria, Ohio. In 1887 they returned to Auburn and established their permanent home. Mrs. Caruth's father died and Mr. Caruth gave up his railroad work in order to give his entire attention to her father's former business affairs and his farms. Thereafter Mr. Caruth maintained his home here until his death, which occurred on Jun 15, 1912.

In 1876 Mr. Caruth married Cornelia Lockwood, the daughter of Alonzo and Rosamond (Phelps) Lockwood, the latter being a sister of Reuben Lockwood, deceased, whose sketch appears elsewhere in this work. Mrs. Caruth was born and reared on her father's farm about five miles south of Auburn, and when about seven years of age she accompanied her parent on their removal to Auburn, where she lived until he marriage to Mr. Caruth. To this union were born two daughters, Elsie J., the wife of Ashton Staman, a druggist at Auburn, and Gertrude C., the wife of Edward O. Little, jeweler and city clerk of Auburn, whose sketch appears elsewhere in this work.

Fraternally, Mr. Caruth was a Mason of high degree, having been a member of the Scottish Rite, thirty-second degree, for over twenty years. Religiously, he was a member of the Presbyterian Church, and during his entire life he always stood for the right regardless of public sentiment. Because of his positive stand on all questions and his high personal character he won a host of friends who esteemed him for his genuine worth. He was deeply interested in everything that was for the betterment of the town in which he lived and lent a helping hand whenever he could for the public welfare. He loved his fellow men irrespective of rank or circumstances and was in turn beloved by them. He remembered the sick in their distress and was their friend in their house of isolation and trouble and frequently gave material assistance where it was needed. During his active life he gave strict attention to his business affairs and for many years he never lost a day while in railroad employ. His superior officers held him in the highest regard, for he was not only well qualified to discharge important official duties, but was a man who without effort made friends and always retained them.

Notes for Michael Whetzel: Lived in DeKalb County 71 years.

APPROACHES CENTURY MARK Michael Whetsel Almost One Hundred Years Olds, With A Remarkable Career Through the courtesy of our good friend, Mr. A. J. Ralston, Auburn, we were driven to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Whetsel, southwest of Auburn, and enjoyed a very pleasant forenoon Friday with probably the oldest married couple in DeKalb. At least Mr. Whetsel has the distinction of being the oldest man in DeKalb County, having passed his ninety-fifth milestone and his good wife and faithful life companion for the past sixty-four years is only ten years his junior. They are most remarkable people, they? are? good old friends of ours, and although their locks are whitened by the frosts of many winters and their steps are not as elastic as in the days of long ago when they felled forest trees and carved a home out of the almost inpenetrable forests of DeKalb county; while they perhaps lack some of the enthusiasm of youth and are not dreaming of future earthly conquest, yet their hearts still beat young and they enjoy unspeakable pleasure in looking back over lives well-lived and duty well done. They are rich too in the wisdom of the years and it was a source of genuine interest and pleasure for us to be in the presence of these grand old patriarchs and listen to their stories of early days in DeKalb county. Mr. Whetsel was born in Union County, Pennsylania, on the 16th day of April 1813, and was the third of a family of thirteen children all of whom have passed to that bourne from whence no traveler returns, except Mr. Whetsel. He came to DeKalb county seventy-one years ago and has resided in this county continuously ever since. Shortly after settling here Mr. Whetsel entered 40 acres of land in Keyser township and soon after another 40 acres. This he cleared up by his own hands and when he sold several years ago to his son-in-law it was one of the best farms in this part of the county. Henry Mason now lives on the old home place while Mr. & Mrs. Whetsel reside only a short distance away on a small tract which they purchased some twenty years ago. Sixty-four years ago he was united in marriage to Miss Caroline Simons, whose parents resided a few miles northwest of Auburn. To them were born four girls and one boy. The boy died when twelve years old and daughter, Mrs. Dottie Feagler, died several years ago. The other children are married and are now Mrs. Mary Lockwood, Mrs. Edward Kelham, and Mrs. Harvey Clark. There are living sixteen grandchildren and ten great grandchildren, the oldest of whom is now twelve years old. Mr. Whetsel well remembers Wesley Park who laid out Auburn and said that one winter had it not been for Mr. Park, many of the new settlers would have died from starvation. Provisions were scarce and were brought from Fort Wayne through dense forests and almost bottomless swamps. This winter referred to Mr. Park shared his supplies with the settlers. Fresh meats, consisting of wild turkey and venison were plenty. Mr. Whetsel told of seeing the Indians many times on the streets of Auburn. The Indian boys, fine, straight, and sober young fellows used to come to Auburn on Saturday afternoon with their bows and arrows and shoot at mark. The target would usually be a copper cent which the pale faces would stick on a stump or in the side of a tree. If they hit the mark the penny was theirs and these Indian boys knocked down many copper pieces in a day. He has noted many changes in DeKalb county and his recital of the passing of years is a story of progress. As stated before Mr. & Mrs. Whetsel are remarkable active for their years. They have never had much sickness and have never paid out much in the way of doctor bills. A little quinine is all they ever took. Mr. Ralston has always been a good friend to Mr. & Mrs. Whetsel and the other morning when the old gentleman greeted "Jack," as he was visibly affected. Mr. Whetzel is a good friend of the Courier and has been a paying subscriber ever since the paper was published. We hope both of these good people may be spared for many more years. The Auburn Courier, July 2, 1908 Thursday

Notes for Caroline Symonds:

> ANOTHER OLD RESIDENT ANSWERS THE LIST OF PIONEER RESIDENTS OF DeKALB COUNTY WHO ARE PASSING AWAY IS RAPIDLY INCREASING Mrs. Caroline Whetsel, one of the early pioneers of DeKalb county, passed away Sunday morning at 2 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Kelham, of Altona. Mrs. Whetsel was 88 years old the 28th day of December and the following brief facts concerning her life were written by her during one of her reminiscent mo(o)ds: "Miss Caroline Symons was born in Genese county, New York, on December 28, 1823. She came with her parents to DeKalb county, Indiana, in the year 1841. There were but nine families living in Auburn at that time. She joined the Methodist church when she was 16 years old and has led a Christian life ever since. She was married to Michael Whetsel in 1844. She was the mother of six children, three living, namely, Mrs. Harvey Clark, of west of Garrett; Mrs. Lyman Lockwood, of south of Auburn, and Mrs. Edward Kelham, of Altona. Mrs. William Feagler, another daughter, who resided south of Auburn, died in 1900 at the age of 52, the other children dying while quite young." While the above gives quite a little concerning her life, we can not help but add a little more to her life story. Mrs. Whetsel resided near Auburn from the time she moved there with her parents until four years ago when se moved to Altona to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Kelham. Her husband, Michael Whetsel, preceded her to the other world four years ago. She was a faithful attendant at church as long as she was able to go, and her present there seemed to an inspiration to many. With her sweet face framed by the snowy white hair and her face glowing with Christian purity she was admired and loved by all. Loving hands were always ready to assist her in any way possible and her death has cast a shadow over the community. She had been ailing about six weeks, but was able to about the house. Even Saturday she was up all day but about 5 p.m. she complained of feeling badly, but son recovered and retired for the night. Her daughter, who was sleeping with her, noticed a little before two o'clock that she was breathing a little heavy and immediately called the other members of the family who gathered around the form of their beloved mother just as she breathed her last. Grandma Whetsel loved children and her 20 grandchildren were the source of hours of pleasure to her and they idolized her in return. The funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at the M. P. Church in Altona and the body will be laid to rest in Evergreen cemetery at Auburn.

Edward Kelham is a prominent farmer and land owner of Keyser Township, DeKalb County, having 300 acres in his ownership. He is practically retired from the responsibilities of farming and lives at Altona. His name is well known in connection with several important offices, which he has filled with single credit and efficiency.

Mr. Kelham was born in Richland County, Ohio, September 30, 1854, a son of Edward and Sarah Downend (Huston) Kelham. His parents were both natives of England. His father was born in Lincolnshire, November 3, 1826, and his mother in Yorkshire, March 5, 1826. He came to the United States at the age of twenty-two while his wife came to this country when only eight years old. They were married in Richland County, Ohio, and Edward Kelham, Sr., was a farmer. In 1858 he came to DeKalb County, Indiana, and bought eighty acres of land in Keyser Township. Eventually he accumulated much valuable farming land in the county, and on account of his business ability and probity of character he was widely known and honored and was entrusted with the administrative settlement of some of the largest estates in the county. He also served as county commissioner one term and was an active democrat. He and his wife had ten children, seven of whom reached mature years, and six now living are: Thomas, of Avilla, Indiana; Edward; Mary, of Garrett; Joseph and George, of Laotto, Indiana; and Charles, of Troy, Idaho.

Edward Kelham was four years old when brought to Indiana, and he received his early education in the district schools of DeKalb County. At the age of twenty-one he left home and began earning his living in a brick yard. On February 1, 1880, he married Viola Whetsel, who was born in Keyser Township June 8, 1859, a daughter of Michael and Caroling (Simons) Whetsel.

After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Kelham took up farming, and that has been his steady vocation until he accumulated the competency which enabled him to retire. Mr. and Mrs. Kelham have four children. Chloe G., who is a graduate of the common schools, and is the wife of W.A. Helme, of Angola; Claude K., a graduate of the common schools, is a machinist by trade but in practice a farmer, married Frennie Crowe; Mary M., is the widow of Arthur Gump; Caroline is the wife of Newton DePew.

Mrs. Kelham is an active member of the Methodist Protestant Church at Altona. He is affiliated with the Garrett City Lodge No. 537, Accepted Free and Ancient Masons, and is a democrat in politics. Mr. Kelham filled the office of trustee of Keyser Township for five years and three months, also served two terms as county commissioner, and is at present a member to the County Council.

His father's biography is below: Indiana. Inter-State Publishing Company, Chicago, 1885.

Edward Kelham, farmer, section 31, Keyser Township, was born in Lincolnshire, England, Nov. 13, 1826, the tenth of thirteen children of Thomas and Mary (Boothby) Kelham. He was reared and educated in his native country, and in 1849 came to America and located in Richland County, Ohio. He worked on the railroad and on lake steamers three years, and by being economical saved enough to buy forty acres of land, and began making a home. In 1857 he moved to De Kalb County, Ind., and bought eighty acres of unimproved land, to which , by good management and industry, he has added till he now owns 400 acres of the best land in the township. All well cultivated. He is a public-spirited and liberal man, and is held in high esteem by all who know him. In 1878 he was elected County Commissioner and served three years; was again nominated, but refused to serve on account of the demands of his personal business. Mr. Kelham is a purely self-made man, coming to this country as he did a poor man he has worked his way from poverty to affluence, and now ranks with the best businessmen of De Kalb County. He was married in Richland County, Ohio, April 22, 1853, to Miss Sarah Downend, a native of England, who came with her parents, James and Mary (Shaw) Downend, to America when she was eight years old. They have had ten children---Thomas, Edward, Jr., Mary, Joseph A., James, Martha, George, Charles T., Matilda and William F. Matilda, William and Martha are deceased. Politically Mr. Kelham in a Democrat.

Notes for John Edward Surfus: Auburn Courier - April 9,1891 Thursday

A Pioneer Gone. John Surfus,one of the best known of the early settlers of the region along the south side of DeKalb and the north side of Allen counties, died at his home on the Allen county side of the line,March 31,1891. He was born in Warren County, Ohio, Oct. 7 1812, and his age was therefore 78 years,5 months and 24 days. He was married to Ellen DeLong, June 19,1843,in the then little town of Ft. Wayne. He had already prepared a home and they moved to it at once, and began housekeeping, on the farm where they lived ever since. To them were born 12 children, 9 of whom, and his aged and honored wife, survive him. They had been married 48 years and 10 months. Mr. Surfus was always a careful business man, and was owner of several fine farms in both counties, though his home was in Perry township in Allen county. He was always a prominent man in his neighborhood and was held in high esteem by all who knew him. Among the children now living, is Mrs. Wm. Murphy of this place. The family have many other relatives about here, Mrs Fair, and Mrs, Perry Fitch being sisters to Mrs. Surfus. The funeral was largely attended and was held at Cedar Chapel in Butler township, Thursday, the interment being in the cemetery there. Rev. Zartman, of Ft. Wayne, conducted the services. Thus passed from earth another of those pioneers to whom northern Indiana owes so much.

The only Chadwick/Phelps connection I have found is: Mary Chadwick (1795-1879), dau. of Samuel Chadwick (1769-1820), married Chauncey Phelps (1785-1849). Chauncey and Mary had at least one son, Rollin Phelps (1833-1913), who married Nancy Clouse (1835-1906) and they had at least one daughter, Mattie, who married David Singleton. Mattie was born in New Albany, Ohio. Mary Chadwick's father, Samuel, lived in the Granville, OH area after coming to Ohio from, I believe, Vermont and Mary was most probably born in Vermont. The information about the Phelps connection has been derived from the form #67765 submitted to the DAR by Mrs. Mattie Phelps Singleton. By the way, Samuel Chadwick's wife was Elizabeth Pierce, a descendant of Ebenezer Pierce who was a Rev. War soldier, as was John Phelps, the ancestor of Chauncey Phelps, and John Clouse, the ancestor of Nancy Clouse. Hope this is of some help.

John William Lawrence. An old and honored family of DeKalb County bears the name of Lawrence, and for many years it has belonged to Richland Township, in the development of which it has borne a useful part. A representative member of this family is John William Lawrence, who was born on the old homestead in Richland Township, September 13, 1856.The earliest American record of this branch of the Lawrence family leads back to John R. Lawrence, of English extraction, who lived in the village, now the city of Germantown, Pennsylvania. Six of his sixteen children, George, David, John, Emily, Hannah and Mary, came to DeKalb County, Indiana. They found here the Symonds family, who had previously lived in New York and Ohio, and had been the seventh family to locate in Auburn, a hamlet then so small that Perry Symonds is said to have asked its location when standing in its midst. David Lawrence, of the above family, married Mary C. Symonds, a daughter of James and Mary (camp) Symonds, November 30, 1848, and two days later they settled on the old homestead farm in Richland Township. Their first round log house has disappeared, but he second and third houses built by David Lawrence are standing today. Mr. Lawrence acquired the land by contracting to work one year for it, but the prevailing ague that caused much sickness in malarial districts in those early days attacked him and he was obliged to work six months longer in order to complete his contract. He helped build the first and only water-power saw-mill at Auburn, on Cedar Creek, and helped cut out the road from Auburn to the northwest. He utilized the strength of oxen in farming and hauled his surplus farm products to Fort Wayne. Three children were born to David Lawrence and his wife, namely: one who died in infancy; John William; and Emily E., who is the wife of J.S. Graham. Mary Edna Graham, married John L. Harding, and they are the tenants on the old homestead farm. The Harding children are: Ralph G., Roy L., Mark E. and Philip W. Ralph G. married Pearl Roland, and they have two children, Edna Eunice and Roland G., these two children being in the fifth generation. Roy L. Harding, who was one of the members of the early medical units to go to France in the World war, has given a good account of himself. Mark Harding married Irene Parker, also of an old DeKalb County family. William L. Graham married Vesta Texter, and their children are William, Robert, Kenneth and John. They had a son , Richard, who met an accidental death. Maud Graham is the wife of Junius R. Latson, and they have two children: Wilma and Margaret. Mary Charlotte Graham is the wife of Fred Krichbaum, and they have three children: Dorothy, Elizabeth and Mary Fredericka. On December 17, 1885, John William Lawrence was united in marriage to Alfaretta Sheffer, who was born October 28, 1866, in Jackson Township, DeKalb County, one of a family of seven children born to John and Martha (McClellan) Sheffer, the others being: Emma A.; James., who married Cora Chaney, has two children, Heber W. and Martha Naomi; Mary Monellie, who is the wife of J. W. Garnette, and they have four children, Allie, Lloyd, Lucile and Kathleen; Nye C., who married Irma Huff; and Milton and Curtis, who died in childhood. The Sheffer family is of German descent and had lived in Pennsylvania and Ohio before coming to Indiana. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence have no children of their own but Miss Bernice Harding stands in the relation to them in affection. They have always lived in the brick veneer frame house built by the father of Mr. Lawrence in 1884. It is equipped with modern conveniences of every kind and is not only a home of comfort but one of beauty also. The mother of Mr. Lawrence was a charter member of the First Methodist Epicopal Church in Auburn and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence have their membership there. Mr. Lawrence is not active in politics but formerly his father was elected a trustee of the township on the republican ticket. While they have never desired to change their place of residence, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence have recognized the fact that there are many other parts of the country worth seeing and together they have traveled quite extensively as sightseers. The family military record is one worth preserving in connection with other family history. The Lawrences were represented in the Revolutionary war as well as the War of 182, and in the Civil war these uncles of Mr. Lawrence took part: William Sheffer and John, Harvey, and Alexander McClellan. In the World war the name of Roy L. Harding appears as one of its heroes. For a peaceful, law-abiding family from generation to generation this is a sufficient record of loyalty and patriotism.

Below is from: History of De Kalb County, Indiana. Inter-State Publishing Company, Chicago, 1885. Pages 737-738

David Lawrence, on of the earliest settlers of Richland Township, was born in Philadelphia County, Pa., Nov. 30, 1821, a son of John and Sarah (Ritzer) Lawrence, who were of English and German descent. His mother died when he was ten years old. He remained with his father till manhood, receiving a good education in the district schools. In 1845 he came to Indiana and went to work for Jacob Case. De Kalb County at that time was heavily timbered. He was determined to have a home, and worked by the month till he had paid for sixty acres of wild land. He then began to clear and improve his land, and has since added to it till he now owns 200 acres of highly cultivated land. His farm buildings are among the best in the county. His residence, which was built in 1884, is the finest frame residence in the county. Mr. Lawrence was married Nov. 30, 1848, to Mary Charlotte, daughter of James and Sarah (Camp) Symonds, who came from Genesee County, N.Y., to De Kalb County, Ind., in 1841. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence have had three children; two are living---Emily and John. Politically Mr. Lawrence is a Republican.

44. Andrew Surfus, born Abt. 1789 in Virginia; died August 11, 1853 in DeKalb County, IN. He was the son of 88. John Surfus and 89. Mary Shutters. He married 45. Elizabeth Harless December 06, 1803 in Virginia.

45. Elizabeth Harless, born Abt. 1786 in Virginia; died August 13, 1853 in DeKalb County, IN. She was the daughter of 90. David Harless and 91. Catherine.

Notes for Andrew Surfus: During the year 1834, eight pioneers moved into the county by way of Fort Wayne. Their names are: Peter Fair, and his sons Abram and Charles; Charles F. Crouse, George DeLong, and Andrus (Andrew), Jacob, and John Surface. On October 1st, they entered Butler township, with a four-horse team and a wagon. They cut their road from Squire Caswell's in Allen county, beyond Huntertown, five miles to the place where they settled, and also a good share of the way from Fort Wayne, as the track was too narrow and crooked for a four-horse team. Our plan, said Abram Fair, was to come out, build cabins, make a beginning, and then return to winter in our old homes in Montgomery county, Ohio, and bring on the families in the spring. Provisions for the trip were brought along, excepting meat which was expected to be obtained by killing deer, but deer were found quite scarce that season, and there was a consequent disappointment. One day Andrew Surface found a hollow tree on Black Creek; a bear had gnawed a hole and helped himself to the store of honey, but upon chopping into the tree six gallons of honey were obtained. Bee trees were soon found afterwards, and a supply obtained to last the entire party twenty days, and on their return to Ohio., they took along twenty-one gallons of strained honey. The honey-bee is seen to have preceded the settlement of the county, and bee hunters were successful.....

Note: I wonder abt. this. Was there a John Jr. and a John Sr.? There is not enough of a time period for both of them if John Sr. birthdate is correct. John Jr. was suppose to have been born abt. 1756 and then his son was born May 1785 - 29 year years after his grandson. It would have had to have both of them being fathers around the age of 14 which is highly unlikely. Roselyn

I have a great deal of information on the family of Samuel and Elizabeth (Pierce) Chadwick. Your Horace was doubtless a brother to Daniel Chadwick, b. July 26, 1802 , m (1) Ufema Channel and (2) Emily Loveland. Daniel lived in the Rich Hill area and is buried in Bloomfield Cemetery, Morrow Co., OH. Daniel had 4 ch. by Ufema (Selina, Rufus, Lemuel & Daniel) and 4 ch. by Emily (Mattie, George, Cornelia, Orlin). His son Rufus m. Melissa Braddock and moved to Marshall Co., Iowa where he raised a family and died. I am a descendant of Rufus Chadwick.
Back to Samuel & Elizabeth--Elizabeth was the daughter of Ebenezer Pierce, a Rev. War soldier and I have a lot of information on that family. Samuel's parentage, however, remains a mystery to me. Mormon Church records suggest that he was the son of a Joseph Chadwick but I have found no proof of that and I am skeptical. What is the basis for your belief that he was the son of William?
I can supply quite a bit of information about the descendants of Samuel if you are interested. Please let me know. Regards, Hal

Hal, The father of Samuel Chadwick was William , was born (according to Rev war records) Jan 18 1730, which I believe to be right. Type written records from Watertown Ma claims him to be born Jan 18 1720, Watertown Middlesex co Ma. Died in Fletcher twp Franklin co Vt. Married Eunice Goss, Sept. 16, 1756 in Lunenburg Ma.daughter of John Goss, and Mary Woods Please contact me to share info

In another source it has his father as Joseph. I would believe the Revolutionary War Records.

Child of Samuel Chadwick and Elizabeth Pierce is:

27 i. Mary Chadwick, born March 21, 1796 in VT; died 1879 in OH; married Chauncy Phelps October 13, 1815.

60. John Symonds

Child of John Symonds is:

30 i. James Clinton Symonds, married Sarah H. Camp.

62. Samuel Camp, born March 28, 1777 in New Milford, CT; died September 02, 1862 in Quincy, Branch Co., MI. He was the son of 124. David Camp and 125. Sibbil Smith. He married 63. Mindwell Hopkins March 25, 1798 in Connecticut.

63. Mindwell Hopkins, born February 11, 1781 in Warren, Litchfield, Connecticut; died May 17, 1866 in Quincy, Branch Co., Michigan. She was the daughter of 126. Elijah Hopkins and 127. Johanna Parish.

This sounds like the information I need! I have a John (perhaps Jr.) and Elizabeth Surface, parents of Andrew Surface born about 1778 in Virginia. This Andrew married Elizabeth Harless and was in Dekalb Co., IN for the 1850 Federal Census.
I also have a Michael Surface who married Catherine Nosler in Montgomery Co., Va. in 1792.

To CT 1646? Info on family from James Churchyard. Lockwood genealogy: Harriet Hodge. Edmund Lockwood was apparently brought up by his uncle Robert Lockwood and probably came with him to CT about 1646. Edmund already owned land at Stamford before 8 Mar 1650, the first mention of him in Stamford town meeting records. He is mentioned continuously subsequently, in deeds, as fence viewer, "pounder" and as a member of the surveying committees. He and his son John were on the 1687 list of proprietors. The inventory of his estate was taken 28 Feb 1692/3 by Jonathan Bell, Sr. and Abraham Ambler. Administration was granted to the son Joseph Lockwood and to Jonas Weed, but the latter declined to act and Abraham Ambler, Sr. was appointed in his place.

ID: I11178
Name: Daniel LOCKWOOD
Given Name: Daniel
Surname: Lockwood
Sex: M
Birth: 13 Aug 1668 in Norwalk, Fairfield Co., Connecticut
Death: Bef 4 Dec 1774 in Stamford, Fairfield Co., Connecticut
Note: The first appearance of Daniel in Stamford Town Meeting records was on 10 Mar 1692/3, when he was appointed pounder (to impound strayed stock) for "ye south field." He continued as pounder, being appointed in 1700 and 1702; was elected fence viewer for the years 1707, 1710, 1714, 1723, 1732, and 1734; on a committee to report dogs thought to kill sheep in 1727; tithing man in 1734, grand juryman in 1736. In that year he and son Edmund were both made pounders for the south field. His son, Daniel, Jr., was appointed to the school committee in 1737. Daniel's first recorded land transaction was 27 Nov 1695.

Daniel's will, made 3 Mar 1741/2, probated 4 Dec 1744, calls him "of Stamford," named wife Charity, sons Daniel, Jonathan and Edmund (the last named to receive "all land that came to me of Brother Edmund's Estate"); and daughters Deborah Webb and Abigail Lockwood. The will was witnessed by Nathaniel Wiatt, Joseph Webb, Jr. and Benjamin Bishop.

2017. Catherine Welden, born Abt. 1618 in Of Arnold, Nottingham England; died Aft. March 05, 1687/88 in Prob. Eastham, Barnstable, Massachusetts. She was the daughter of 4034. Gabriel Whelden and 4035. unknown.

Notes for Giles Hopkins:Mayflower descendent vol. 1 p. 336.

The death date is from the family tree maker files, vol. 4.

Birth date is actually his baptism date.

"Giles Hopkins was the eldest son of Mr. Stephen Hopkins of Plymouth. He was born in England, and came over with his father's family in the Mayflower in 1620, and with the other members of his father's family survived the first winter's sickness, which swept off so many of that company. Of his boyhood days, but little appears. He appears to have been of a retiring disposition, only forward when duty impelled. When, in 1637, the Pequots, a tribe of brave Indians inhabiting the eastern part of Connecticut, commenced war with the English in that region, and Plymouth Colony concluded to send a company to assist in the overthrow of the Indians, he, with his father and younger brother Caleb, volunteered to go out in the company in the defense of his Connecticut neighbors, but happily for the company, before ready to go forth, the troops under Captain mason had 'vanquished' the enemy, and the company was not needed. The next year, Mr. Stephen Hopkins having been allowed by the Old Colony court 'to erect a house at Mattacheese' now Yarmouth, 'to cut hay there' and 'to winter his cattle,' it is supposed his son Giles went down there and had charge of his cattle. At any rate, he was at Yarmouth in 1639, and with Hugh Tilley and Nicholas Sympkins, 'deposed' to the last will and testament of Peter Warden, the elder, deceased, and also courted and married Catherine Whelden, daughter of Gabriel Whelden, who was licensed to build at Mattacheese the uear preceding. The house he occupied while a resident of Yarmouth stood a little to the northwest on the declivity or knoll, and the site was pointed out to the writer by the late Mr. Otis to have been the first house built below Sandwich, and certainly it must have been, if it were the one built by Stephen Hopkins by order of Plymouth court. Mr. Otis, in his account of Andrew Hallett, Jr., says it was sold by Giles Hopkins in 1642 to Mr. Hallett. It would seem that Mr. Hopkins was not a resident of Yarmouth in 1643, as his name does not appear in the list of those ab le to bear arms that year in the township, but evidence is quite conclusive that he was a resident June 6, 1644. At that date his father made his will, and several times speaks of Giles being at Yarmouth in charge of the cattle. It is probable he was not enrolled on account of being physically unable to do military duty. In what year he removed to Nausett or Eastham, is not known. He was there in 1650, occupying the position of surveyor of highways, which he subsequently occupied several years. For some reason, now inexplicable, his father, by will, made Caleb, his younger son by second wife, the 'heir apparent,' and consequently the whole of the real estate, which was large, passed into the hands of Caleb at his death. Caleb Hopkins, soon after his father's death in July, 1644, gave up a very large tract of land to Giles, his only surviving brother, lying in what is now Brewster. Upon the death of Caleb, who was a seaman, and who died single at Barbados before 1657, Giles came into possession of large tracts. In 1659, Mr. Hopkins had land granted him in Eastham. In 1662, with Lieut. Joseph Rogers and Josiah Cooke, he had liberty allowed him by the Colony court to look out for land for his accommodation between Bridgewater and Bay Line. In 1672, with Jonathan Sparrow and Thomas Mayo of Eastham, he purchased Sampson's Neck in what is now Orleans, then called by Indians 'Weesquamseutt.' The tract was a valuable one; it embraced the territory between Higgins's river on the north, and Potonumecot river on the south. He seems to ahve been a very quiet man, caring but little for public positions. He was in 1654 drawn into a lawsuit by the noted William Leveridge, who had defamed him. Mr. Hopkins claimed damages to the amount of £50. Mr. Leveridge was ordered to pay £2 and some shillings for the offence.

"The will of Giles Hopkins bears date Jan. 19, 1682; the codicil March 5, 1688-9. the former was witnessed by Jonathan Sparrow and Samuel Knowles, and the latter by mark Snow and Jonathan Sparrow, and was presented for probate April 22, 1690, Stephen Hopkins, son, executor. There are no daughters mentioned. Sons mentioned are: Stephen, Caleb, Joshua and William. The widow was alive at the date of the codicil, and Mr. Hopkins had become unfit for labor and held out inducements to his son Stephen to supply his wants. It seems quite certain that his farm was in that part of Eastham now Orleans, and some part of it joined Town cove."3

On 9 Oct 1639 Giles married Catherine Whelden, daughter of Gabriel Whelden & Margaret [Whelden], in Plymouth, MA.8 Born in 1618.9 Catherine died aft 5 Mar 1689.3

Notes for Stephen Hopkins: Stephen Hopkins, a non-Separatist and businessman from Hampshire, arrived with his family on the Mayflower. He is the only one among the Plymouth settlers who had been to America before (in Virginia, 1609). He is now a New England resident with his wife Elizabeth and their family. Their son, Oceanus, was born on the Mayflower during the crossing from England, but died within the first few years after their arrival.

He married twice, first to Mary who died in 1613, (See more info on Mary and Stephen under Notes for Mary.) and second in London to Elizabeth Fisher, February 19, 1617/8. Besides the three children who accompanied him on the passage, and the son born at sea, he had five additional children. He was one of the few Mayflower passengers to remain in the town of Plymouth, serving as Assistant Governor and dying there in 1644.

Elizabeth (Fisher) Hopkins married Stephen Hopkins as his second wife February 19, 1617/8. Elizabeth gave birth to Oceanus during the voyage of the Mayflower. She likely died before June 6, 1644, as she is not mentioned in her husband's will written on that date. She gave birth during the Mayflower voyage to a son, Oceanus. He died young, sometime before 1627.

Below information from:http://www.geocities.com/Heartland/Cliffs/6573/Hopkinsweb.html

Stephen Hopkins sailed on the Mayflower in 1620, one of the "Londoners" or "strangers" recruited for the voyage. He was called "Master", and only two others of the 17 free men on the voyage were so styled.

Stephen Hopkins was probably the young man of that name who served as minister's clerk on the vessel Sea Venture which sailed from London June 2, 1609, bound for Virginia. The ship was severely damaged in a hurricane and the company was washed ashore on the Bermuda "Isle of the Divels" on July 28, 1609.

The 150 survivors were marooned on the island for nine months, building two vessels which ultimately took them to Virginia.

During the sojourn, Stephen Hopkins encouraged an uprising by his fellows upon the grounds that the Governor's authority pertained only to the voyage and the regime in Virginia, not to the forced existence in Bermuda. For his remarks, he was placed under guard, brought before the company in manacles and sentenced to death by court-martial.

"But so pentent hee was and made so much moane, alleadging the ruine of his Wife and Children: in this his trespasse", according to William Starchey's record of the voyage, that friends among his cohorts procured a pardon from the Governor.

The two newly built vessels, Patience and Deliverance, arrived at Jamestown on May 24, 1610, but no evidence has been found of Hopkins' residence there, and it is presumed he soon returned to his family in England . Starchey noted that while Hopkins was very religious, he was contentious and defiant of authority and possessed enough learning to undertake to wrest leadership from others.

Stephen was called a tanner or leathermaker at the time of the Mayflower voyage. He, second wife Elizabeth (probably Elizabeth Fisher, married February 19, 1617/8 at St. Mary Matfellon, Whitechapel, London,) and children Giles and Constance by his first wife, daughter Damaris by his second wife, and two men servants (Edward Doty and Edward Lister) came on the Mayflower.

Son Oceanus was born during the voyage.

Stephen was among the men signing the Mayflower Compact and was one of three men designated to provide counsel and advice to Captain Myles Standish on the first land expedition of the Pilgrims on the New World, probably because of his experiences at Jamestown.

During the third day out, the company chanced upon an Indian deer trap, and Stephen was able to explain its function and danger to his fellows.

In February of 1620/1, when Indians appeared on a neighboring hilltop, Captain Standish took Stephen Hopkins with him to negotiate with the savages. Thereafter, Stephen was invariably deputized to meet the Indians and act as interpreter. In July of 1621 he served as an envoy to friendly Chief Massasoit, and he made a friend for the colonists of Samoset, another Indian whom Stephen entertained in his home.

Stephen Hopkins was referred to as a merchant and a planter in Plymouth records, also as a "Gentleman" and as "Master". He received a six-acre lot in the division of the land in 1623, and later had other lots by grant or purchase. It is stated that he kept for his home throughout his life at Plymouth the lot on the easterly corner of Main and Leyden streets that had been assigned to him after arrival. He built and owned the first wharf in Plymouth Colony of which there is a record, selling it for sixty pounds in July of 1637. He built a house at Yarmouth on Cape Cod, but returned to Plymouth and gave the Yarmouth dwelling to son Giles, who remained there.

Probably because of his status in the Colony as a "stranger", Stephen Hopkins found himself, on occasion, in official difficulty. In June of 1636, while serving as "Assistant", he was fined for battery of John Tisdale. In 1637 and in 1638 he was charged with various indiscretions involving the sale of intoxicants and other items at his dwelling. In 1638/9 he was found in contempt of court for refusing to deal fairly with Dorothy Temple, an apprentice girl, and in December of 1639 he was charged with selling a looking glass at an excessive price.

Another website had: Stephen returned to the wool business as was known as Master Hopkins. In 1618 he married Elizabeth Fisher and continued to prosper. He purchased stock in the Mayflower Co. and on 16 Sep 1620 sailed on the Mayflower from Plymouth Eng. to the new world. Accompanying him were his pregnant wife, Elizabeth, and children Constance, Giles, and Damaris. He had as indentured household help Edward Dotey and Edward Lester. A son, Oceanus, was born at sea.

Stephen Hopkins was the affluent leader, stockholder, of theMayflower Co., one of the Strangers as opposed to the Separatis - the Saints.Stephen entered into the spirit and conduct of the "Mayflower" people, and signed the Mayflower Compact 11 Nov. 1620.

Stephen had numerous court cases for:
1. Allowing employees of his tavern to drink, dance and socialize after hours.
2.overcharging his tavern customers for beer, wine, and liquor.
3.Allowing excessive drinking (drunkenness) of guests in his home.
4.Disregarding court order for support of his woman servant and child involved in a paternity case where the father of the child left without support.

Below material was compiled and prepared by Roger W. Fulling in 1989 John L. & Mable Dale

Stephen Hopkins served in the militia as an assistant to Capt. Miles Standish, assistant to elected governors, member of Governor's Council, and helped prepare bills. He prospered financially and was the last of "Mayflower" passengers to remain a resident of Plymouth. He died in 1644 and his wife, Elizabeth in 1640. His children: Constance (Snow) had 12 children, Giles (4), Deborah, Damaris (the second), Faith, Elizabeth, Caleb.

More detailed information about Stephen and his "criminal acts".

The people of Plymouth held that they lived under a government of laws, not of men." They chose their own officials and Stephen served as a Council Assistant (1633-36). In 1936, he helped draw up the Bill of Rights which is viewed as one of Plymouth's chief accomplishments. Women gained the right to buy, own and sell property. Their husbands couldn't sell property without their consent, and women were guaranteed 1/3 of the family estate when their husbands died. They could choose who they married and were able to witness a deed or probate document. The court enacted numerous laws to control behavior of their citizens. The more they sinned, the more the Plymouth colony made laws to control them. It wasn't surprising that most of those that got in trouble were non-Separatists who were fined for everything from gambling, idleness, public drunkeness, lying and swearing. The first punishment doled out by Plymouth authorities involved a duel between Stephen's indentured servants, Edward Doty and Edward leister. They were competing for his daughter, Constance. Dueling was illegal, and Stephen returned home from an expedition finding his servants in handcuffs and waiting for a trial. They had their necks tied to their feet and had to remain in that position for 24 hours in the town square. Stephen did not like seeing them suffer like that and begged Governor Bradford and Captain Standish to set the men free "within the hour"....Because of their pain and suffering, they were set free by their master's "humble request." Stephen helped to draw up laws he later came to regret. Amongst them were strict regulations for taverns and held the owners responsible for the conduct of their customers. June of 1636, he was fined 5 pounds for the battery of John Tisdale whom he "dangerously wounded." Oct. 2, 1637, he came before the court on two charges, "for suffering men to drink in his house upon the Lord's day...before and after the meetings, (and for allowing) servants and others to drink more than for ordinary refreshing." The second was for "suffering servants and others to sit drinking in his house (contrary to the orders of this Courth,) and to play at shovel board, and such like demeanors" for which he was fined forty shilling. Jan. 2, 1638, he was presented for allowing "Old Palmer," James Coale, and William Renolds to drink to excess. According to one witness, Palmer "lay under a table, vomiting in a beastly manner" and Stephen was fined seven shilling for this. June 5, 1538, he was fined 5 pounds for selling wine, beer, strong waters, and nutmegs at excessive rates to the "oppressing & impovishing of the colony." Dec. 3, 1639, he was again summoned before the court for having charged sixteen pence for a looking glass that could have been bought for nine at Bay Colony. Also, he was fined 3 pounds for selling strong water without a license. Feb. 4, 1639, he was found in contempt of court and spent time in jail fro refusing to deal fairly with his indentured servant, Dorothy Temple. On showing signs of being pregnant, she was brought before the court and named Arthur Peach as the father. He had recently been hanged for the murder of an Indian boy, so she and her child were left without support. She was sentenced to be whipped twice for "uncleaness and bringing forth a bastard." The court ordered that Stephen "keepe her and her child....during the said terme (of indenture); and if he refuse so to doe that then the collony provide for her & Mr. Hopkins to pay it." After getting the order, Stephen said he would settle the matter himself without an order from the court.

In 1624, New Plymouth had about 180 persons. The houses which lined Plymouth's main street were made in the traditional English manner with clapboards,wattle and daub, and oil-paper windows. The Hopkins' home sat across from Governor Bardfords, on the easterly corner of Main and Leyden. It was one of the largest houses in Plymouth to accommodate its large family. By 1627 each hosue had a fenced garden with flowers and herbs. The Hopkins' also had a barn, dairy, cow shed, and small apple orchard. Both Damaris and Oceanus died about 1626, but five new children, Caleb, Deborah, Damaris (another one), Ruth and Elizabeth wree born between 1622 and 1630. Constance moved out in 1628 when she married carpenter Nicholas Snow. Stephen had been an early proponent of the fur trad, so expanded his house to include a store where the Indians could come and trade beaver skins for English goods. In 1624 when ships began importing wine, beer, brandy, and gin, Stephen added a tavern. He also built and owned the first wharf in Plymouth Colony, and in 1638 built a house at Yarmouth on Cape Cod, but soon returned to Plymouth. He gave the Yarmouth dwelling to Giles, who remained there and married Catherine Wheldon in 1639.

William Bradford wrote in 1650, "Mr. Hopkins and his wife are now both dead, but they lived about 20 years in this place.......Stephen Hopkins settled in the part of Eastham now included in the town of Orleans, on the place at the head of the Cove, called by the Indians "Kesscayoganseet" and later owned and occupied by James Percival."

From the website:
*http://www.yarmouthcapecod.com/About_Yarmouth/Early_Times/Facts_and_Lore/body_facts_and_lore.*html#l001 This concerns the house at Yarmouth. Stephen Hopkins of the Mayflower was our first house building settler. He was allowed to come here to take advantage of the enormous areas of salt marsh for the feeding of his cattle, but he was not allowed to settle here permanently because Plymouth Plantation needed all of its families in Plymouth for its survival. He was a fascinating fellow. Having been to this country in 1610 at the colony in Jamestown, Virginia, he was the only pilgrim who was familiar with the Indian ways. He was chosen to settle here, with Miles Standish, who met successfully with the Indian chiefs who controlled the Plymouth area. Hopkins was also the only American ever mentioned in one of William Shakespeare's plays, The Tempest (His representation was "Stephano"), and he was one of the major reasons for the formation of the first democratic document of these United States, the "Mayflower Compact". He left his house to his son Giles, who lived here for a while and traded with Andrew Hallet for some land in Eastham where Giles's sister had moved with her family (the Snows) in 1644. The area is now loaded with Hopkins descendants.

Stephen Hopkins was not from Wortley, Wotton-under-Edge, Gloucestershire, as has been previously published in numerous books and articles, and the claim he married a woman named Constance Dudley is complete fiction. This alleged origin was disproven in my article, "The True English Origins of Stephen Hopkins of the Mayflower", published in The American Genealogist 73:161-171. The Wotton-under-Edge claim was never factually sound to begin with, based simply on a few name coincidences and wild speculations.

The baptism records of Stephen Hopkins' children Giles and Constance, as well as an additional child Elizabeth, were discovered in the parish registers of Hursley, Hampshire, England. Hopkins' baptism in the original records. Records for Constance says: "undecimo de May, Constancia filia Steph. Hopkins fuit baptizata", which translates into English as "Eleventh day of May, Constance daughter of Steph. Hopkins was baptized."

Also birth date as May 9, 1599. This may not line up. Either people guessed at birthdates or they were married at 10 which in early England, they sometimes were.

In the spring of 1613, Stephen's wife, Mary, died. She may have been a victim of the plague which was still rampant in certain parts of Englad. With Stephen absent, the Hopkins' church liquidated the couple's estate to provide for the children.

Stephen returned home sometime between 1613-17, perhaps with the intent of selling his belongings in England and bringing his family to their new home in Virginia. After having survived shipwreck and the perils of Jamestown, it must have been a great blow to find his wife and estate gone, and his children entrusted to the care of the Church.

15. Constance Hopkins. Born ca 1607 in England.1 Constance died in middle of Oct 1677 in Eastham, MA.7

Constance, or Constanta, Hopkins.

ca 1627 Constance married Nicholas Snow (11) , son of Nicholas Snow (5) & Elizabeth Rowlles, in Plymouth, MA. Born on 25 Jan 1599 in St Leonards, Shoreditch, London. Nicholas died in Eastham, MA on 15 Nov 1676; he was 77.7 Occupation: carpenter.

"Nicholas Snow, one of the first seven who settled at Nausett [Eastham], was a man of sterlng worth and very prominent in the settlement. He came over from England, a passenger in the Ann, in the latter part of July, 1623, and at first located in the township of Plymouth, where he soon married. The Ann brought over many of the near relatives of the Pilgrims, besides quite a number of other passengers to settle with them, among whom might be mentioned Thomas Clarke, Anthony Anable, Edward Bangs, Experience Michell and George Morton. The settlers of Plymouth at the arrival of Nicholas Snow and other passengers of the Ann, were sadly destitute, not only of apparel, but of food to eat. The new comers were 'diversely affected' to behold 'their low and poor condition.' 'The best dish,' says Bradford, the renowned leader of that settlement, 'that could present their friends with was a lobster or a piece of fish without bread or anything else but a cup of fair spring water.' Bradford farther says, 'Some of the passengers wished themselves in England again; others fell aweeping, fancying their own misery in whhat they saw now in others; some pitying the distress they saw their friends had been long in and still were under; in a word, all were full of sadness.' In this ship it may be well to state, came Mrs. Alice Southworth, to become the renowned leader, and they were married shortly after.

"What were the feelings of the subject of this sketch upon knowing the sufferings of those poor ragged and half-fed Pilgrims, we are not told, but from what we can gather relative to the character of the man, we are led to believe he regretted their condition, cheerfullly lent them a helping hand and prayed for better times, which, according to both Bradford and Morton, came at harvest time.

"Nicholas Snow, not long after his arrival, became acquainted with Miss 'Constanta' or Constance, an elder daughter of Mr. stephen Hopkins, who had but a few years before braved the dangers of the Atlantic in the Mayflower and escaped the first winter's distress, and took her for his wife, who, before 1650, had borne him twelve children, all then alive. The date of his marriage does not appear; but he was married before 1627, as by the record of the division of the cattle, May 22nd, he and his wife Constance received their share, they belonging to Mr. Stephen Hopkins' company, which was composed of thirteen persons. In 1633 he was a freeman and a tax payer in Plymouth. The following year, with Edward Bangs, he was appointed to lay out roads in Plymouth. In 1636, he was one of the arbitrators to settle the difficulty between Joseph Beadle and Edward Dowty. In 1638, he was one of the jurors appointed to investigate the cause of the death of John England, a lad found dead on Plymouth flats. In 1640, he was one of the surveyors of highways at Plymouth. In 1645, with Gov. Prence, Josiah Cooke and others, he removed to Nausett; and when that place became a municipality, to him was assigned the duties of town clerk, an office he held until about 1773, when his son Mark succeeded him. He was surveyor of highways at Eastham in 1647; a deputy to the Colony court in 1648, also 1650-52-57. He was a selectman in 1668-71-72-74-75. He also held other offices in town. His death occurred at Eastham, according to the records of that town, November 15th, 1676. His will bears the date November 14th, 1676. It was witnessed by his pastor, Mr. Samuel Treat, and his son-in-law, Thomas Paine, Sen. His wife, Constance, survived him and died in October, 1677. The settlement of the estate he entrusted to his fellow townsmen, Deacon Samuel Freeman and John Mayo. He remembered the Eastham church and left a small sum towards furninshing 'the furniture of the table of the Lord with pewter or otherwise.'

"The children of Mr. Snow are not recorded, and consequently the names cannot all be given. Gov. Bradford says he had twelve children in 1650, all alive. He mentions no daughters in his will, though it is certain he had several then alive. His sons mentioned were Mark, Joseph, Stephen, John and Jabez. He was a large landowner. He had land in Harwich, Eastham and Truro. Mark, Joseph and Stephen came into possession of his landed estate in Harwich, then Satucket; John, of that in Paomet, now Truro, and Jabes of that in Eastham, including the homestead. His 'moveable goods,' at his wife's decease, he ordered divided among all his children equally. His residence was in that part now Eastham, not far from Gov. Prence's homestead, as far as it can be ascertained form the records. He undoubtedly was buried in the old yard at Eastham, though no stone with inscription marks the place. His son Mark, who married Gov. Prence's daughter Jane, and his son-in-law, Mr. Thomas Paine, were distinguished men in their day. The descendants of Mr. Nicholas Snow are numerous, and an effort by them shoud be made to erect a monument to his memory in the old yard, that the future generations may know where their Pilgrim ancestor lies buried."3

The will of Nicholas Snow of Eastham, dated 14 Nov 1676, 5 Mar 1676/7, named his wife Constant, sons Jabez, Mark, Joseph, Steven, and John. Executors: Deacon Samuel Freeman and John Mayo. Information from: http://aleph0.clarku.edu/~djoyce/gen/eastham/rr01/rr01_009.html#P10619

This sounds like the information I need! I have a John (perhaps Jr.) and Elizabeth Surface, parents of Andrew Surface born about 1778 in Virginia. This Andrew married Elizabeth Harless and was in Dekalb Co., IN for the 1850 Federal Census.

I also have a Michael Surface who married Catherine Nosler in Montgomery Co., Va. in 1792.

Notes for Andrew Surfus: During the year 1834, eight pioneers moved into the county by way of Fort Wayne. Their names are: Peter Fair, and his sons Abram and Charles; Charles F. Crouse, George DeLong, and Andrus (Andrew), Jacob, and John Surface. On October 1st, they entered Butler township, with a four-horse team and a wagon. They cut their road from Squire Caswell's in Allen county, beyond Huntertown, five miles to the place where they settled, and also a good share of the way from Fort Wayne, as the track was too narrow and crooked for a four-horse team. Our plan, said Abram Fair, was to come out, build cabins, make a beginning, and then return to winter in our old homes in Montgomery county, Ohio, and bring on the families in the spring. Provisions for the trip were brought along, excepting meat which was expected to be obtained by killing deer, but deer were found quite scarce that season, and there was a consequent disappointment. One day Andrew Surface found a hollow tree on Black Creek; a bear had gnawed a hole and helped himself to the store of honey, but upons chopping into the tree six gallons of honey were obtained. Bee trees were soon found afterwards, and a supply obtained to last the entire party twenty days, and on their return to Ohio., they took along twenty-one gallons of strained honey. The honey-bee is seen to have preceded the settlement of the county, and bee hunters were successful.....

Notes for John Edward Surfus: Auburn Courier - April 9,1891 Thursday

A Pioneer Gone.

John Surfus,one of the best known of the early settlers of the region along the south side of DeKalb and the north side of Allen counties, died at his home on the Allen county side of the line,March 31,1891. He was born in Warren county,Ohio, Oct. 7 1812, and his age was therefore 78 years,5 months and 24 days. He was married to Ellen DeLong, June 19,1843,in the then little town of Ft. Wayne. He had already prepared a home and they moved to it at once, and began houskeeping, on the farm where they lived ever since. To them were born 12 children, 9 of whom,and his aged and honored wife, survive him.
They had been married 48 years and 10 months.Mr. Surfus was always a careful business man, and was owner of several fine farms in both counties, though his home was in Perry township in Allen county. He was always a prominent man in his neighborhood and was held in high esteem by all who knew him. Among the children now living, is Mrs. Wm. Murphy of this place. The family have many other relatives about here,Mrs Fair, and Mrs, Perry Fitch being sisters to Mrs. Surfus. The funeral was largely attended and was held at Cedar Chapel in Butler township, Thursday, the interment being in the cemetery there. Rev. Zartman, of Ft. Wayne, conducted the services. Thus passed from earth another of those pioneers to whom northern Indiana owes so much.

Notes for Alanson C. Griffin: June 20, 1936, Monday, The Auburn-Courier, "A. C. GRIFFIN, AGE 99 YEARS, IS DEAD Father of Mrs. Viola Timberlin of Auburn, would have been 100 had he lived Until June 29. The funeral of the late Alanson C. Griffin, 99, believed to be Fort Wayne's oldest resident and the father of Viola Timberlin of Auburn, and Jessie Griffin and Anna Rugman of Garrett, will be held Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Celia Pepple of 1918 Crescent avenue, Fort Wayne. An hour later services will be held at Cedar Chapel, south of Garrett, the Rev. Chas. Hollopeter officiating. Burial will be made in the church cemetery. Mr. Griffin died Sunday morning at 6:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Pepple from arterio sclerosis. Until an injury suffered in a fall, Mr. Griffin was unusually active and frequently walked from his home downtown. Had he lived until June 29, Mr. Griffin would have become a centenarian. He was born in East Hamburg, Erie county N. Y., and came to Indiana in 1864. At the age of seventeen Mr. Griffin became a carpenter and joiner. He owned a farm in Perry township, Allen county, many years and was active in local affairs. Mr. Griffin ws the oldest registered voter in Allen county. He was a member of the Masonic lodge at Huntertown and passed through all the chairs. Other children surviving are one daughter, Effie Griffin of Pierceton, and one son, John Griffin of Huntertown.

There are sixteen grandchildren, thirty great grandchildren and one great great grandchildren."

History of DeKalb County, Indiana; B. F. Bowen & Company, Inc., Indianapolis, 1914. pages 755-756

One of the sterling citizens of DeKalb county is Joseph Pepple, a name well known, especially in Butler township, where he has a splendid and attractively kept landed estate, an being regarded as one of the leading agriculturists of his community. As a result of his industry, integrity and genuine worth he is held in high esteem by the people of his vicinity, mainly as a result of his principles of modern farming and progressive and upright citizenship. Joseph Pepple was born on July 4, 1867, in Butler township, DeKalb county, the son of Joseph and Addeline (Hahn) Pepple. His parents, at an early date, came from their native state of Ohio and were among the pioneers who fought and conquered the hardships and perils of those days. To the elder Joseph and Addeline Pepple were born seven children, namely: Mrs. Frances Lung lives in DeKalb county; George and Jessie are deceased; Mrs. Ellie Thrush lives in DeKalb county; Mary is deceased; Joseph; Mrs. Leah Fitch lives in Seattle, Washington. At such times as he could be spared from the work of framing on the home place, the subject attended the common schools of the county. After reaching his majority he was married, on November 27, 1895, to Celia Griffin, daughter of Alanson and Henrietta (Surfus) Griffin, he a native of New York and she of Indiana. To the subject and wife have been born five children: Mrs. Viola Timberlan lives in Allen county, Indiana; Mrs. Effie Griffin lives in Butler township; Mrs. Annie Rugman is also living in DeKalb county; John Griffin is a resident of Allen county; Jessie lives in Butler township. The subject is now actively engaged in tilling the one hundred and ninety-seven acres of his splendid farm. Good buildings have been added by Mr. Pepple and his home is a model among the good homes of this community. Along one side of his possessions runs an interurban line, which not only adds to the value of his holding, but is a great convenience. The Republican party claims Mr. Pepple's suffrage.

Children of Henrietta Surfus and Alanson Griffin are:

+ 18 i. Effie Mae[7] Griffin, born May 06, 1867 in Allen Co., IN; died 1949.

19 ii. John E. Griffin, born November 14, 1870 in Allen Co., IN; died 1965. He married Alda E. Griffin; born 1873; died 1942.

Things I Remember 1922-1940
By Mary Griffin Rench

My home for the first 18 years was in Grandma's home at 245 W. 15th St., Auburn, IN.

Four of us lived in a small house (Grandma Lockwood's), Mother, Grace Griffin, Carl and I.

Grandma and Grandpa divorced before my day. Grandpa got her a new house. The plumbing left a lot to be desired. She had one of the first toilets in Auburn. It was no prize, we had to cart water to flush it.

We had an oil stove and a cook stove that held warm water in the reservoir (for baths and to wash hair and laundry.

She was a sweet, stubborn lady. When flu came around, she'd hang an as asafetida bag around my neck. Onion, garlic and anything that smelled bad went into the asafetida bag. Grandma was very neat and clean.

She combed her hair (gray) in her rocking chair in an east window in the morning sun, and made a ball of it on the back of her head.

She loved stories on the radio. We had battery operated for a while. Soon we got an electric light in the kitchen. While we were quarantined with Scarlet Fever, Carl put in a few more lights.

He also tried to build an airplane in his bedroom from a kit.

Grandma had a flower garden, flowers and vegetables. She also loved a small dog. Carl and us called it Livernoise. Carl was a photographer in the National Guard and got discharged (age 27). Was in WW2 in England. In between, he got married to Bernice.

Income for us was $40.00 a month- grandma's pension from grandpa, $5.00 wk. Mother - house work, Carl - paperboy, me - school & babysitting. Carl and Bernice helped when he went in the service and me in 1940 when I got a job with Indiana Bell at $12.00 per wk. to start.

My Uncle Frank Avery, took me to Ft. Wayne to get a SS card. The next day he left Aunt Hettie! She took in sewing and made me some dresses, etc.

Grandpa brought us canned meat.

Grandma always wore diamond earrings that he brought from Chicago. I think they loved each other.

She was a pretty lady about 5', 100 lbs. She carried a rose shawl on her left arm when she went visiting and carried a large alligator satchel.

I think she had a stroke. Aunt Dessie Clark's daughter-in-law and I were with her when she died on a couch in our living room.

The day before she died, she asked me to play a record about a pretty girl. It was "Sue City Sue."

Oh yes, I've been married 4 times. Bob Miller died and Lafe Blue died., John Rench "alive and kicking." (in the margin - it says "Foltz divorced.")

Mary also says that she and June Rose spent summers together at Nellie and John Dosch's (June's parents) home.

Note: Mary's first husband was (1)Charles Foltz. (2) Bob Miller (3) Lafayette Blue (4) John Rench.

Notes for Carl Griffin: Information about Carl from Mary Griffin Rench.

Carl tried building an airplane in his room with the help of some of his friends, including Dorsey Likens, who later became the DeKalb County Sheriff. Carl joined the army and he gave up on the project. He had one of his friends dismantle the plane and remove it from his room. Later, after he lived at the lake, he built a boat. When he tried it in the lake, he discovered it was too big for the lake. He sold it and bought a smaller boat for he, his wife, and son.

One project that got him in trouble with his wife, he, without discussing it with her first, bought 30 chinchillas and cages costing about $500.00. He decided to take them out of the separate cages and put them all in one cage, like nature intended. This did not work, as all they did was fight...

He lived in Detroit in his working years and then moved to Davenport, OH.

Allen township, Noble county, Indiana. And it can be said of him, throughout his entire life he lived and exemplified the teaching of his mother church. Not only on Sundays was Fred Dosch, a christian man, but every week throughout his entire life he was found ready and willing to help in all good undertakings. His neighbors and friends down through the years can best speak of his noble qualities, for the night was never too dark, nor the weather too cold for him to respond at a moment's notice to any call for neighborly assistance. Some might say, he was too good to others for his own good, but in this they err, for it is by this that today his success in life is written and his memory so sweetly cherished. To mourn his passing, he leaves three sons, John of Auburn, Indiana, Carl of Fort Wayne, Indiana, and William, at home, and eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren, also one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Diehm of Avilla, Indiana. Their daughter, Lillian and a brother and two sisters preceded him in death." There was a poem at the end...check out the original obituary for this..

The Legend of the Mayflower Pot

Most of the pioneer cooking was done on the large open fireplace. An iron hanger was built into the chimney to hang kettles and pots for boiling meats and vegetables. Iron bakers and pans were set directly on the hot coals. Corn bread was baked thus with the griddle set on the hot ashes and sometimes covered with coals. The cooking utensils of the early pioneer were simple and meagre and sometimes handed down from one generation to another as prized possessions. One such keepsake, one which would certainly be very valuable today, was an iron pot which was brought over from England on the Mayflower by the Pilgrims in 1620. The Mayflower carried a cow so a wooden cover was provided for this kettle and it was used as a churn on the voyage to America. When the Pilgrims celebrated their Thanksgiving it was used to help cook the first Thanksgiving dinner in America. According to tradition, the kettle was brought over on the Mayflower by Stephen Hopkins, and remained in the Hopkins family for several generations, being handed down from father to oldest son according to the old English custom. It belonged successively to Stephen Hopkins, Aaron Hopkins, Elijah Hopkins, who brought it to Clinton County, Dennis Hopkins, Elijah H. Hopkins, and John R. Hopkins. The kettle had been used to cook the flesh of such game as bear, deer, and turkey, and after the game disappeared from the county it was used on special occasions when pork or beef was subtituted for wild game. It is said that both Governors Bramlette and Leslie enjoyed food cooked in this old pot.

From an article in the New Era of February 12, 1915, we learn a very interesting tradition concerning this iron kettle. According to the story handed down by the family, at one time the kettle was sold by Aaron Hopkins, when just a small boy. When the purchaser came after it the boy's mother refused to let him have it, saying that it could not be sold and must be kept in the Hopkins family. The man told her he must have the kettle or his money back. The youngster had already spent the money. The purchaser agreed to give the boy's mother eight days to weave eight yards of tow cloth with which she could redeem the pot. This she did, and the utensil remained in the possession of the Hopkins family.

Footnote: This historic kettle was the subject of a signed certificate dated November 26, 1921, by Scott W. Dowell, in which Dowell certified that he had "known John R. Hopkins and....Heard him talk about the pot that was brought from England by the Puritans in the ship Mayflower in 1620". At one time Hopkins kept the pot in the bank at Albany. When he later moved to Texas, he took the historic pot with him.

DeKalb County native honored in France on D-Day anniversary

Theron Rudolph Dosch, a DeKalb County native, received the Commemoration Medal, created by the Regional Council of Normandy, at ceremonies June 7 in Caen, France.

The medal was awarded to Allied servicemen who participated in the June 6, 1944, D-Day landings and who were present on French soil to accept the medal 50 years later.

The mayor of Caen pinned a medal on each serviceman's (or widow's) lapel, after pronouncing the name of the veteran.

A photographer took individual pictures of each presentation, held in Slle Abbesses Abbaye aux Dames, built as a church by William the Conqueror and now used as part of Caen Town Hall.

Dosch now lives in Littleton, Colo., after retiring from his career as an engineer.

He is the son of the late William and Elsie Shutt Dosch, of Auburn, and of the late Frederick and Evelyn Rudolph Watkins, of Fort Wayne.

He enlisted in the U.S. Naval Reserve on June 7, 1942, and retired in August 1968.

Dosch attended the recent D-Day plus 50 years ceremonies in England and France. In England, he attended a ceremony with Prime Minister John Major as host, along with Queen Elizabeth II and the queen mother. In May 1944, Dosch had been inspected by King George VI before the Normandy invasion.

At ceremonies in France, U.S. President Bill Clinton and French President Mitterand spoke at Utah Beach on the morning of June 6. That afternoon, Clinton gave a speech honoring the veterans assembled at the Memorial, American Military Cemetery, just ashore from Omaha Beach. Both speeches were carried live by the major U.S. television networks.

Theron Dosch

At 12:10 p.m. on June 6, just after the U.S. Air Force fly-by with the "missing man" formation, the networks showed President Clinton, then a six-second view of Dosch replacing the lens cover on his camera. He was wearing a navy-blue baseball cap with "USS LST 345 DOSCH" in gold lettering.

Moments later, William Drodziak, Washington Post foreign correspondent, conducted an interview with Dosch. It was used in a story that was picked up by a number of news services in their U.S. June 7, 1994, editions, and a quote from Dosch was printed by the English-language Herald Tribune of Paris on June 8, 1994, on page 5. That paper's headline read, "Veterans See a New Clinton," with a subheadline quoting Dosch directly, "He's picking up the lessons of history."

LIFE HISTORY OF THE LATE FREDERICK WILLIAM DOSCH

Frederick William Dosch, son of John Michail and Anna Catherine Dosch, was born on a farm near Avilla, Noble county, Indiana, March 2nd, 1859, and departed this life November 1st, 1936.

His boyhood was spent on the farm on which he was born. In 1883, he was united in marriage to Reaky Kruse, daughter of John and Mary Kruse, who preceded him in death June 2nd, 1933.

On March 10th, 1859, he was baptized in the faith of the Emanuel Evangelical Lutheran church of Allen township, Noble county, Indiana. And it can be said of him, throughout his entire life he lived and exemplified the teaching of his mother church. Not only on Sundays was Fred Dosch a christian man, but every week throughout his entire life he was found ready and willing to help in all good undertakings. His negihbors and friends down through ~~the years can best speak of his noble~~ qualities, for the night was never too dark, nor the weather too cold for him to respond at a moment's notice to any call for neighborly assistance. Some might say, he was too good to others for his own good, but in this they err, for it is by this that today his success in life is written and his memory so sweetly cherished.

To mourn his passing, he leaves three sons, John of Auburn, Indiana, Carl, of Fort Wayne, Indiana, and William, at home, and eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren, also one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Diehm of Avilla, Indiana. Their daughter, Lillian and a brother and two sisters preceded him in death.

TO "DAD"

How we'll miss his loving presence,
Miss his fond caress
Sort o' spent his life a-sowin' seeds of happiness;
Doin' little things for others, helpin'
where he could,
Never makin' much pretention, always doin' good.

Home, for him, was all for livin'
filled his heart with pride,
And his doors were ever open latch-strings hung outside.
Folks who came were always welcome, loved to have them 'round;
Wanted much of joy and laughter,
seemed to love the sound!

Had his cares and had his troubles,
same as all of us,
Figured them a part of livin,' never made much fuss;
Made the best of all God gave him,
as through life he went,
Ever toiling, giving, taking, kind and provident.

Vain the tribute we would pay him,
words cannot express
What it meant to have him with us and our thankfulness;
Sweet, the memory he has left us,
though our hearts are sad;
Great the blessing that was given,
just to call him Dad.

AT A RIPE OLD AGE

Death Comes to Michael Whetsel, of This County

Had Passed the Age of 95 Years and Lived Near Garrett Seventy Years

Michael Whetsel, the oldest resident of Keyser township, and one of the oldest in DeKalb county, died Saturday at his home a few miles southwest of Auburn of the infirmities due to his advanced years The funeral took place Monday forenoon at 10 o'clock from his late residence and the burial was at Evergreen cemetery. He was past 95 years of age.

Mr Whetsel was born in Union county, Pennsylvania, on April 16 1813 and came to DeKalb county seventy-one years ago, where he resided continuously until his death. Shortly after settling in Keyser township he entered forty acres of land and soon after another forty acres. This he cleared up by his own hands and when he sold several years ago to his son in-law it was one of the best farms in this part of the county. Henry Mason now lives on the old home place while Mr. and Mrs. Whetsel resided only a short distance away on a small tract which they purchased some twenty years ago.

Sixty-four years ago he was united in marriage to Miss Caroline Simons, whose parents resided a few miles northwest of Auburn. To them were born four girls and one boy. The boy died when twelve years old and a daughter, Mrs. Dottie Feagler, died several years ago. The other children are married and are now Mrs. Mary Lockwood, Mrs. Edward Kelham and Mrs Harvey Clark. There are living sixteen grandchildren and ten great grandchildren, the oldest of whom is now twelve years old. Mrs. Whetsel also survives. She is now 85 years of age.

Only a few days ago a Courier representative, with Mr. Buchanan, the editor of the Dispatch, and A J. Ralston, visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Whetsel, having been driven there by Mr. Ralston, and spent a pleasant our's visit. Mr. Whetsel was one of e staunch friends of the Courier, havg been a subscriber to it ever since it arted publication, remaining so until is death; After the occasion of this sit the Courier gave an extended account of the life of this pioneer. He as a man who was widely known and ighly esteemed for his many traits of character. His reminiscences of early pioneer life in this county were always interesting.

Rev. W. B Freeland pastor of the M. E church at Auburn officiated at the funeral.

July 8, 1886 Auburn Paper

Alonzo Lockwood.

Our community was surprised and shocked Sunday morning to learn the sudden death of Alonzo Lockwood, one of the wealthiest and best known of DeKalb county's citizens. His death was the direct result of injuries sustained by falling from his buggy. It seems he had gone down into Defiance county in Ohio, Thursday, driving across the country, as was his habit, with a horse and buggy and all alone. He has, we believe, several farms near Sherwood, and after transacting some business, he started Friday evening for home, alone in his buggy. When about two or three miles from Sherwood, at about 9 o'clock in the evening, he was noticed going by a farm house, and a few rods this side of the house was found a few minutes later by some men, lying in the road, seriously injured. He was carried to the house and cared for. His son, Lyman Lockwood, who resides in Keyser township, this county, was sent for and remained with him until he died, which was about 7 o'clock Saturday evening. It seems that after passing the house already referred to, his horse stumbled and fell, and this threw Mr. Lockwood violently forward into the hard road, injuring the spine so as to cause paralysis of a great part of his body, but no bones were broken. His mental faculties seemed clear, and he did not appear to suffer much, but his injuries were of such a character that no relief could be afforded. He gave such directions as to his business affairs as was possible under the circumstances. He was brought home to this place for interment, the funeral taking place at 2 P. M. on Monday. The deceased, besides being one of the wealthiest men in DeKalb county, had long been a conspicuous figure among us. Always engrossed by a multitude of business cares, he had little time, and no doubt, little inclination to spend time in any of the social ways that make life pleasant to many, yet he was always pleasant when addressed, or when he had time to converse. He was noted for his plainness of dress, which often had the appearence of positive shabbiness. Much of his great wealth was made by loaning money, yet we have been told he was not a hard man to deal with. A large concourse of mourners followed him to the grave.

ANOTHER OLD RESIDENT ANSWERS

THE LIST OF PIONEER RESIDENTS OF DeKALB COUNTY WHO ARE PASSING AWAY IS RAPIDLY INCREASING

Mrs. Caroline Whetsel, one of the early pioneers of DeKalb county, passed away Sunday morning at 2 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Kelham, of Altona. Mrs. Whetsel was 88 years old the 28th day of December and the following brief facts concerning her life were written by her during one of her reminiscent mods:

"Miss Caroline Symons was born in Genese county, New York, on December 28, 1823. She came with her parents to DeKalb county, Indiana, in the year 1841. There were but nine families living in Auburn at that time. She joined the Methodist church when she was 16 years old and has led a Christian life ever since. She was married to Michael Whetsel in 1844. She was the mother of six children, three living, namely, Mrs. Harvey Clark, of west of Garrett; Mrs. Lyman Lockwood, of south of Auburn, and Mrs. Edward Kelham, of Altona. Mrs. William Feagler, another daughter, who resided south of Auburn, died in 1900 at the age of 52, the other children dying while quite young."

While the above gives quite a little concerning her life, we can not help but add a little more to her life story. Mrs. Whetsel resided near Auburn from the time she moved there with her parents until four years ago when she moved to Altona to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Kelham. Her husband, Michael Whetsel, preceded her to the other world four years ago. She was a faithful attendant at church as long as she was able to go, and her present there seemed to be an inspiration to many. With her sweet face framed by the snowy white hair and her face glowing with Christian purity she was admired and loved by all. Loving hands were always ready to assist her in any way possible and her death has cast a shadow over the community. She had been ailing about six week, but was able to be about the house. Even Saturday she was up all day but about 5 p. m., she complained of feeling badly, but soon recovered and retired for the night. Her daughter, who was sleeping with her, noticed a little before two o'clock that she was breathing a little heavy and immediately called the other members of the family who gathered around the form of their beloved mother just as she breathed her last.

Grandma Whetsel loved children and her 20 grandchildren were the source of hours of pleasure to her and they idolized her in return. The funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at the M. P. church in Altona and the body will be laid to rest in the Evergreen cemetery at Auburn.

AUBURN LOSES ONE OF OLDEST CITIZENS

Mrs. Mary Lockwood, Age 95, to be Buried in Woodlawn Cemetery Tuesday Afternoon — Active until Last Illness

One of the oldest residents of Auburn will be buried Tuesday afternoon when the body of Mrs. Mary O. Lockwood is lowered in a grave in Woodlawn cemetery. Mrs. Lockwood spent her entire life of 95 years in Auburn and DeKalb county. She passed away at 1:16 o'clock Sunday morning after an illness of two weeks from influenza and senility.

Mrs. Lockwood was born on Jan. 5, 1851, on the old Lockwood farm, four and one-half miles south of Auburn. Death came at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Grace Griffin, who resides at this address. She was the widow of Lyman Lockwood, who passed away on Feb. 12, 1932.

The deceased started to fail about a year ago but she was up and around until stricken with influenza two weeks ago. She took an active interest in the events of the present day and if she was able always went to the polls on each election day to cast her ballot. She had good eyesight for one of her years and only wore glasses to read. She liked to work in the garden at her home.

Mrs. Lockwood is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Griffin, at whose home she died, Mrs. Hettie Avery of 307 East Ninth street, Auburn, and Mrs. Nellie Dosch of south of Auburn; two sons, Bert Lockwood of 307 East Ninth street, Auburn, and Ora Lockwood, of south of Auburn; one sister, Mrs. Dessie Clark of Garrett, nine grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

The aged resident was a member of the Methodist church and her pastor, Rev. Van Hinckley, will officiate at the funeral services at the Dilgard & Cline funeral home at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The body will remain at the funeral home until after the funeral rites.

FARMER FOUND DEAD SOUTH OF AUBURN

Ora Lockwood, Age 77, was Sitting in Chair, Slumped over Kitchen Table — Heart Ailment Fatal

Ora Lockwood, 77-year-old retired farmer who resided on the Fort Wayne road, near Auburn, was found dead in his home where he lived alone about 2 p.m. Monday.

He was found sitting in a chair, slumped over the kitchen table by his tenant, Omer Carnahan, who resides near the Lockwood home.

Evidence showed that Mr. Lockwood evidently had attempted to start a fire in the cookstove and was seized with a heart attack. He died some time Sunday evening. A light was found burning in the kitchen of the home when the body was discovered. He was last seen alive in the barnyard at the farm on Saturday.

The family physician stated Mr Lockwood had been suffering from a heart and kidney ailment for nearly three years and had not been able to work on his farm since his illness.

The body was removed to the Dilgard & Cline funeral home in Auburn. Final arrangements are incomplete.

Surviving are a son, Dean R. Lockwood of Fort Wayne; two grandchildren; a brother, Bert Lockwood, of south of Auburn; and two sisters, Mrs. John Dosch of south of Auburn and Mrs. Grace Griffin of Baxter street, Auburn.

Mr. Lockwood's wife, Mrs. Mattie Lockwood, died a number of years ago and he lived there alone since that time. He had resided south of Auburn most of his lifetime.

MRS. HETTIE AVERY DIES AT AGE OF 74

Auburn Resident for Many Years Passes Away at Garrett Convalescent Home — Funeral Services on Monday

Mrs. Hettie Avery, 74, of Auburn, a native of Butler township and a resident of the city for over 40 years, died at 12:05 a.m. Friday in the Garrett Convalescent home at 611 South Peters street, Garrett.

Mrs. Avery, a resident at 307 East Ninth street, Auburn, entered the convalescent home Wednesday evening. Her death was attributed to toxic poisoning resulting from a glandular ailment. She was in poor health for an extended period and seriously ill for the past two weeks.

Her body was brought to the Dilgard & Cline funeral home in Auburn and will remain for funeral services to be conducted at 2 p.m. Monday. Burial will be in Woodlawn cemetery. The officiating minister has not been selected.

Mrs. Avery was born Oct. 6, 1874, in Butler township, the daughter of the late Lyman and Mary O. Whetsel Lockwood. She was a lifelong resident of the county. She was married in 1894 to Frank Avery. He was a machinist.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Tris Coffin of Silver Springs, Md.; two grandchildren, Lynne and Steve Coffin; two brothers, Ora Lockwood and Bert Lockwood, both of south of Auburn; and two sisters, Mrs. John Dosch of south of Auburn and Mrs. Grace Griffin of 346 West Fifteenth street, Auburn.

Mrs. Avery was active in the Presbyterian church and the Rebekah lodge.

Her daughter, who was with her mother at her death, returned to her home early Friday. She will return with her family Sunday.

The funeral of the late Alanson C. Griffin, 99, believed to be Fort Wayne's oldest resident and the father of Viola Timberlin of Auburn, and Jesse Griffin and Anna Rugman of Garrett, will be held Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Celia Pepple of 1918 Crescent avenue, Fort Wayne. An hour later services will be held at Cedar Chapel, south of Garrett, the Rev. Chas. Hollopeter officiating. Burial will be made in the church cemetery.

Mr. Griffin died Sunday morning at 6:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Pepple from arterio sclerosis. Until an injury suffered in a fall, Mr. Griffin was unusually active and frequently walked from his home downtown.

Had he lived until June 29, Mr. Griffin would have become a centenarian. He was born in East Hamburg, Erie county N. Y., and came to Indiana in 1864. At the age of seventeen Mr. Griffin became a carpenter and joiner. He owned a farm in Perry township, Allen county, many years and was active in local affairs.

Mr. Griffin was the oldest registered voter in Allen county. He was a member of the Masonic lodge at Huntertown and passed through all the chairs.

Other children surviving are one daughter, Effie Griffin of Pierceton, and one son, John Griffin of Huntertown. There are sixteen grandchildren, thirty great grandchildren and one great great grandchild.

A Pioneer Gone.

John Surfus, one of the best known of the early settlers of the region along the south side of DeKalb and north side of Allen counties, died at his home on the Allen county side of the line, March 31, 1891. He was born in Warren county Ohio, Oct. 7, 1812, and his age was therefore 78 years, 5 months and 24 days. He was married to Ellen DeLoung, June 29, 1843, in the then little town of Ft. Wayne. He had already prepared a home and they moved to it at once, and began housekeeping, on the farm where they have lived ever since. To them were born 12 children, 9 of whom, and his aged and honored wife, survive him.

They had been married 48 years and 10 months. Mr. Surfus was always a careful business man, though always liberal. He early accumulated a competency, and was owner of several fine farms in both counties, though his home was in Perry township in Allen county. He was always a prominent man in his neighborhood and was held in high esteem by all who knew him. Among the children now living, is Mrs. Wm. Murphy of this place. The family have many other relatives about here, Mrs. Fair, and Mrs. Perry Fitch being sisters to Mrs. Surfus. The funeral was largely attended and was held at Cedar Chapel in Butler township, Thursday April 2, the interment being in the cemetery there. Rev. Zartman, of Ft. Wayne, conducted the services. Thus passed from earth another of those pioneers to whom northern Indiana owes so much.

Alto P. Swain

Alto P. Swain, 73, died Saturday at 2 p.m. at his home, 1709 S. Sprott St. Mr. Swain suffered a heart attack while shoveling snow.

He was born Sept. 2, 1903, in Orland, Ind., the son of George and Maude (Culp) Swain.

His wife, Mary, survives. They were married Feb. 18, 1922, in Hillsdale, Mich.

Also surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Ralph (Iris) Friedel, 1621 S. Van Buren St., Auburn, and Mrs. Dallas (Mickie) Marker, Lake of the Woods, Hudson; one sister, Mrs. Ruth Hitt, Kalamazoo, Mich.; nine grandchildren, and six great- [illegible] Wendell, preceded Mr. Swain in death.

Mr. Swain worked at Baker's Bakery in Auburn for 27 years, at the Midwest Dairy for nine years, served as deputy sheriff for eight years, and worked at County Line Cheese for four years.

For the past four years, he was employed in the maintenance and circulation departments of the Evening Star.

Mr. Swain was a member of the First United Methodist Church of Auburn where funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. Rev. Carl O. Wirey will officiate, and Rev. John Dicken will assist. Burial will be in the Cedar Chapel Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Feller-Graffis Funeral Home, Waterloo, any time today.

Pallbearers for the services Tuesday will be grandsons Steve Boszor, Mike Boszor, Terry Marker, Tom Marker, Brad Marker, John Friedel and Victor Friedel.

The Evening Star will close Tuesday from 1:30-3:30 p.m. so that Mr. Swain's friends and fellow employes can attend the funeral services.

GARRETT WOMAN DIES FROM A SUDDEN HEART ATTACK

Mrs. Blanche Griffin, Mother of Mrs. Alto Swain of Near Auburn, became Ill in Church

After being stricken while attending church services Sunday night, Mrs. Blanche Griffin, 76, of 904 South Peters street, Garrett, succumbed to a heart attack.

Mrs. Griffin lived alone and her health had not been good for several years. She attended the services at the Garrett Church of the Nazarene Sunday morning and went back to the church in the evening. She became ill during the services and her son, James, of R. 3, Auburn, who also was in the church, took her to her home. She was able to walk but her condition grew worse after arrival home despite the ministrations of a physician. She was taken to Sacred Heart hospital in the Baidinger-Walter ambulance, but she lived only a few minutes there. Her death took place just before midnight.

The body was taken to the Baidinger-Walter funeral home and will remain there until noon Wednesday, when it will be removed to the Nazarene church. Services will be held at 2 o'clock, the Rev. Merle Bright officiating. Interment will be made in Cedar Chapel cemetery, southeast of Garrett.

Mrs. Griffin's maiden name was Hollopeter and she was born in Allen county, near Cedarville, April 1, 1882. She and Jesse C. Griffin were married April 2, 1902, and he was a farmer all his life. The family moved to this area in 1934 and Mr. Griffin died in 1943. Since then Mrs. Griffin had resided in Garrett.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Alto Swain of R. 3, Auburn; six sons, Warren, of R. 1, Auburn, Albert, of Quincy, Mich., Ray Ivan Griffin of R. 1, St. Joe; Russell, of Stroh, James, of R. 3, Auburn, and Harry D., of 718 South Guilford street, Garrett; 21 grandchildren, 16 great-grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. Luella Lige of 910 East Seventh street, Auburn.

Mrs. Griffin was a member of the Church of the Nazarene.

Joseph Griffin

Joseph W. Griffin Sr., 59, of 2323 Cambridge, Fort Wayne, a resident of Garrett until moving to Fort Wayne in 1973, died Friday at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor, Mich., where he had been a patient since June 1.

Mr. Griffin was born Sept. 18, 1920, in Garrett to the late John A. and Floy M. (Holmes) Griffin. He and Dorothy M. Hillegass were married Dec. 14, 1941, at Greenfield. She died last March.

Mr. Griffin was a tool maker at Dana Corp., Fort Wayne.

Survivors include two sons, Joe of Hudson, N. H.; Lowell of Huntington; two daughters, Mrs. James (Keitha) Bilbie, Ann Arbor, Mich.; Mrs. Robert (Margaret) Tolliver, Fort Wayne; 4 grandchildren; a brother, Harold Griffin, Waterloo; four sisters, Mrs. Lawrence Balliet, Corunna; Mrs. Bernard Fausnaugh, Kimmel; Mrs. Dennis Hornet, Garrett; and Mrs. Alice Whonsetler, Kendallville.

He was a member of the North Highlands Church of Christ, Fort Wayne.

Services will be held at 10:30 a.m. today at the First church of Christ with Michael Hargrave and James Platner officiating. Burial will be in Cedar Chapel Cemetery, south of Garrett. McKee Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

The family has requested preferred memorials be sent to The Golden Years Homestead.

APPROACHES CENTURY MARK

Michael Whetsel Almost One Hundred Years Old With A Remarkable Career

Through the courtesy of our good friend, Mr. A. J. Ralston, Auburn, we were driven to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Whetsel, southwest of Auburn, and enjoyed a very pleasant forenoon Friday with probably the oldest married couple in DeKalb. At least Mr. Whetsel has the distinction of being the oldest man in DeKalb county, having passed his ninety-fifth milestone and his good wife and faithful life companion for the past sixty-four years is only ten years his junior.

They are most remarkable people, these good old friends of ours, and although their locks are whitened by "the frosts of many winters and their steps are not as elastic as in the days of long ago when they felled forest trees and carved a home out of the almost inpenetrable forests of DeKalb county; while they perhaps lack some of the enthusiasm of youth and are not dreaming of future earthly conquest, yet their hearts still beat young and they enjoy unspeakable pleasure in looking back over lives well-lived and duty well done.

They are rich too in the wisdom of the years and it was a source of genuine interest and pleasure for us to be in the presence of these grand old patriarchs and listen to their stories of early days in DeKalb county. Mr. Whetsel was born in Union county, Pennsylvania, on the 16th day of April 1813, and was the third of a family of thirteen children all of whom have passed to that bourne from whence no traveler returns, except Mr. Whetsel. He came to DeKalb county seventy-one years ago and has resided in this county continuously ever since. Shortly after settling here Mr. Whetsel entered 40 acres of land in Keyser township and soon after another 40 acres. This he cleared up by his own hands and when he sold several yeaos ago to his son in-law it was one of the best farms in this part of the county. Henry Mason now lives on the old home place while Mr. and Mrs. Whetsel reside only a short distance away on a small tract which they purchased some twenty years ago.

Sixty-four years ago he was united in marriage to Miss Caroline Simons, whose parents resided a few miles northwest of Auburn. To them were born four girls and one boy. The boy died when twelve years old and a daugtter, Mrs Dottie Feagler, died several years ago. The other children are married and are now Mrs. Mary Lockwood, Mrs. Edward Kelham and Mrs. Harvey Clark. There are living sixteen grandchildren and ten great grandchildren, the oldest of whom is now twelve years old.

Mr. Whetsel well remembers Wesley Park who laid out Auburn and said that one winter had it not been for Mr Park many of the new settlers would have died from starvation. Provisions were scarce and were brought from Fort Wayne through dense forests and almost bottomless swamps. This winter referred to Mr. Park shared his supplies with the settlers. Fresh meats, cousisting of wild turkey and venison were plenty.

Mr. Whetsel told of seeing the Indians many times on the streets of Auburn. The Indian boys, fine, straight and sober yonng fellows used to come to Auburn on Saturday afternoon with their bows and arrows and shoot at mark. The target would usually be a copper cent which the pale faces would stick on a stump or in the side of a tree. If they hit the mark the penny was theirs and these Indian boys knocked down many copper pieces in a day. He has noted many changes in DeKalb county and his recital of the passing of years is a story of progress.

As stated before Mr. and Mrs. Whetsel are remarkable active for their years. They have never had much sickness and have never paid our much in the way of doctor bills. A little quinine is all they ever took. Mr. Ralston has always been a good friend to Mr. and Mrs. Whetsel and the other morning when the old gentleman greeted "Jack," as he familiarly called Mr. Ralston, he was visibly affected. Mr. Whetzel is a good friend of the Courier and has been a paying subscriber ever since the paper was published. We hope both of these good people may be spared for many more years.

Things I Remember 1922-1940
By Mary Griffin Rench

My home for the first 18 years was in Grandma's home at 245 W. 15th St., Auburn, IN.

Four of us lived in a small house (Grandma Lockwood's), Mother, Grace Griffin, Carl and I.

Grandma and Grandpa divorced before my day. Grandpa got her a new house. The plumbing left a lot to be desired. She had one of the first toilets in Auburn. It was no prize, we had to cart water to flush it.

We had an oil stove and a cook stove that held warm water in the reservoir (for baths and to wash hair and laundry.

She was a sweet, stubborn lady. When flu came around, she'd hang an asafetida bag around my neck. She was very neat and clean.

She combed her hair (gray) in her rocking chair in an east window in the morning sun, and made a ball of it on the back of her head.

She loved stories on the radio. We had battery operated for a while. Soon we got an electric light in the kitchen. While we were quarantined with Scarlet Fever, Carl put in a few more lights.

He also tried to build an airplane in his bedroom from a kit.

Grandma had a flower garden, flowers and vegetables. She also loved a small dog. Carl and us called it Livernoise. Carl was a photographer in the National Guard and got discharged (age). Was in WW2 in England. In between, he got married to Bernice.

Income for us was $40.00 grandma's pension from grandpa, $5.00 wk. Mother – house work, Carl – paperboy, me – school & babysitting. Carl and Bernice helped when he went in the service and me in 1940 when I got a job with Indiana Bell at $12.00 per wk. to start.

My Uncle Frank Avery, took me to Ft. Wn (Wayne) to get a SS card. The next day he left Aunt Hettie! She took in sewing and made me some dresses, etc.

Grandpa brought us canned meat.

Grandma always wore diamond earrings that he brought from Chicago. I think they loved each other.

She was a pretty lady about 5', 100 lbs. She carried a rose shawl on her left arm when she went visiting and carried a large alligator satchel.

I think she had a stroke. Aunt Dessie Clark's daughter-in-law and I were with her when she died on a couch in our living room.

The day before she died, she asked me to play a record about a pretty girl. It was "Sue City Sue."

Oh yes, I've been married 4 times. Bob Miller died and Lafe Blue died., John Rench "alive and kicking." (in the margin – it says "Foltz divorced.")

To CT 1646? Info on family from James Churchyard. Lockwood genealogy: Harriet Hodge. Edmund Lockwood was apparently brought up by his uncle Robert Lockwood and probably came with him to CT about 1646. Edmund already owned land at Stamford before 8 Mar 1650, the first mention of him in Stamford town meeting records. He is mentioned continuously subsequently, in deeds, as fence viewer, "pounder" and as a member of the surveying committees. He and his son John were on the 1687 list of proprietors. The inventory of his estate was taken 28 Feb 1692/3 by Jonathan Bell, Sr. and Abraham Ambler. Administration was granted to the son Joseph Lockwood and to Jonas Weed, but the latter declined to act and Abraham Ambler, Sr. was appointed in his place.

Surname: Lockwood
Sex: M
Birth: 13 Aug 1668 in Norwalk, Fairfield Co., Connecticut
Death: Bef 4 Dec 1774 in Stamford, Fairfield Co., Connecticut
Note:
The first appearance of Daniel in Stamford Town Meeting records was on 10 Mar 1692/3, when he was appointed pounder (to impound strayed stock) for "ye south field." He continued as pounder, being appointed in 1700 and 1702; was elected fence viewer for the years 1707, 1710, 1714, 1723, 1732, and 1734; on a committee to report dogs thought to kill sheep in 1727; tithing man in 1734, grand juryman in 1736. In that year he and son Edmund were both made pounders for the south field. His son, Daniel, Jr., was appointed to the school committee in 1737. Daniel's first recorded land transaction was 27 Nov 1695.

Daniel's will, made 3 Mar 1741/2, probated 4 Dec 1744, calls him "of Stamford," named wife Charity, sons Daniel, Jonathan and Edmund (the last named to receive "all land that came to me of Brother Edmund's Estate"); and daughters Deborah Webb and Abigail Lockwood. The will was witnessed by Nathaniel Wiatt, Joseph Webb, Jr. and Benjamin Bishop.

Notes for JEHIEL ISHAM:
Isham's - Pages 384-385

"Uncle" Jehiel (Gehiel) came of long-lived stock and reached his ninety-fourth year. For eighty-nine years continuously he was a resident of Mazon and Grundy County. He came with his parents and their children from Vermont in a covered wagon, spending the first winter in McHenry County. On the way the children shouted for James K. Polk for President. This was in 1844. The next spring his father built a log house with poles and slough grass for a roof and only a dirt floor. The next year another house was built of lumber sawed near Mazon Creek, on mile east of the present Mazon village. It still stands on another site. Although not a commodious building it sheltered forty persons one winter. Besides the Isham family, Homer Sanford and family, Israel Sanford and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Jenkins, Nat and Levi Lockwood and families, all lived there.

In the spring they pre-empted land and built cabins. One dollar then would pay for the use of eighty avers of land to work for one year. Land was selling for $1.25 and Mr. Isham's older brothers worked seven days a week and received $9 a month. His brothers and sisters as well as himself all took farms near Mazon and from one point all their homes could be seen. He could recall with detail the early hardships of life in Grundy County, when Indians were far more numerous that whites and only the bare necessities of life were to be had by those who sought a living on the Illinois prairie.

136. Alonzo^8 Lockwood (Levi^7, Nathaniel Lockwood^6 Jr., Nathaniel^5 Lockwood, Joseph^4, Edmund^3, Edmund^2, Edmund^1) was born November 03, 1815 in Vermont, and died July 03, 1886. He married Rosamond Phelps in Licking County, OH, daughter of Chauncy Phelps and Mary Chadwick. She was born September 13, 1815 in Granville, Licking County, OH, and died January 13, 1894 in Auburn, DeKalb County, IN.

Notes for Alonzo Lockwood:
In the 1885 DeKalb County History Book, Jackson Twp., it says "An early settler was Thomas L. Yates, the eccentric Judge, who sold his farm on the river and settled 3 miles down the creek from Auburn on the land which was afterward the home of Alonzo Lockwood."

Alonzo Lockwood Our community was surprised and shocked Sunday morning to learn the sudden death of Alonzo Lockwood, one of the wealthiest and best known of DeKalb County's citizens. His death was the direct result of injuries sustained by falling from his buggy. It seem she had gone down into Defiance county in Ohio, Thursday, driving across the country, as was his habit, with a horse and buggy and all alone. He has, we believe, several farms near Sherwood, and after transacting some business, he started Friday evening for home, alone in his buggy. When about two or three miles from Sherwood, at about 9 o'clock in the evening, he was noticed going by a farm house, and a few rods this side of the house was found a few minutes later by some men, lying in the road, seriously injured. He was carried to the house and cared for. He son, Lyman Lockwood, who resides in Keyser township, this county, as sent for and remained with him until he died, which was about 7 o'clock Saturday evening. It seems that after passing the house already referred to, his horse stumbled an fell, and this threw Mr. Lockwood violently forward into the hard road, injuring the spine so as to cause paralysis of a great part of his body, but no bones were broken. His mental faculties seemed clear, and his injuries were of such a character that no relief could be afforded. He gave such directions as to his business affairs as was possible under the circumstances. He was brought home to this place for interment, the funeral taking place at 2 p.m. on Monday. The deceased, besides being one of the wealthiest men in DeKalb county, had long been a conspicuous figure among us. Always engrossed by a multitude of business cares, he had little time, and no doubt, little inclination to spend time in any of the social ways that make life pleasant to many, yet he was always pleasant when addressed, or when he had time to converse. He was noted for his plainess of dress, which often had the appearance of positive shabbiness. Much of his great wealth was made by loaning money, yet we have been told he was not a hard man to deal with. A large concourse of mourners followed him to the grave. In the Auburn Courier Paper, July 8, 1886

Date and place of birth - from the biography of their son, Reuben (He had 1814) but in the Old Settler's notes, it says Nov. 3, 1816 and this date is more consistent with the below ages for the census.

Note:
Based on the fact that Chauncey Phelps is listed as Rosamond's father in an LDS ancestral file (no sources given).

Chauncey Phelps was living in St. Albans Township, Licking Co., Ohio according to the 1820 Ohio Census.

Since Alonzo Lockwood was also living in St. Albans Township, Licking Co., Ohio in 1830, this would appear to show how the met, though the Ancestral file on LDS shows Rosamonds husband to be "Alma Lockwood" there is no such person in Ohio at this time, so this must be a mistake.

Notes for Rueben Lockwood: History of DeKalb County, Indiana; B. F. Bowen & Company, Inc., Indianapolis, 1914. pages 546-549

Few men of DeKalb county were as widely and favorably known as the late Reuben Lockwood, of Auburn, Indiana. He was one of the strong and influential citizens whose lives have become an essential part of the history of this section of the state, and for years his name was synonymous with all that constituted honorable and upright manhood. Tireless energy, keen perception and honesty of purpose, combined with everyday common sense, were among his chief characteristics and, while advancing individual success, he also largely promoted the moral and material welfare of his community. Reuben Lockwood, who for many years was an honored resident of DeKalb county, was born in Jackson township, this county, on January 20, 1841, and died at his home at Auburn on March 30, 1912. He was a son of Alonzo and Rosamond (Phelps) Lockwood, who were numbered among the sturdy pioneers of this section of the country. Alonzo Lockwood, who was a pioneer in the southern part of DeKalb county, was born in 1814 in Vermont, the son of Levi Lockwood and wife. In young manhood he left his native state and located in Licking county, Ohio, where he married Rosamond Phelps, a native of Granville, that county. In 1834 he removed to Allen county, Indiana, and two years later came to DeKalb county, where Mr. Lockwood entered one hundred and sixty acres of land four miles southwest of Auburn, and there established their permanent home. He was a poor man when he came to this county, the trip being made up the St. Joe river and Cedar creek in a canoe which bore all their worldly effects. However, he was a hard worker, and was determined and ambitious to succeed in his new home. By dint of the most insistent labor and rigid economy, and by the exclusion of every expensive habit, he was enabled to buy out other settlers who were discouraged and desired to move elsewhere. In this way he was enabled to accumulate thirty-six hundred acres of land in different places, twelve hundred acres being in one tract adjoining his first farm. About twelve hundred acres were located near Paulding, Defiance county, Ohio, and some in Michigan, but the greater part of this holdings were in DeKalb county. He engaged very extensively in the buying and selling of live stock, much of which he also raised on his own farms, which he sold at considerable profit, most of his transactions being in horses and cattle. He was eminently successful in every transaction in which he engaged, his deals being characterized by shrewdness and sagacity of a high order, and in 1866 he was enabled to retire from business pursuits and removed to Auburn, where he spent the remainder of his days. His death occurred on July 4, 1886, at the age of seventy-two years, while in Defiance county, Ohio, his death being immediately due to a fall from a cart. He was survived a number of years by his widow, who died in Auburn in 1898. They were the parents of seven children, namely: Cyrus, who died in 1854, at the age of nineteen years; Reuben; Celia, who died about 1876, at New Elm, Minnesota, was the wife of George Coleman; Irvin, who spent his entire life in Richland township, this county, died in 1891; Lyman was a farmer and resided in Auburn, this county; Philo J., now deceased, lived in Washington D.-C. He was a noted pension attorney; Eunice is the widow of Benjamin Zigler and lives in Auburn; Cornelia, the widow of Davis E. Caruth, also lives in Auburn. Reuben Lockwood was reared on his father's farm, in the operation of which he took an active part, and in the meantime secured his education in the common schools of the neighborhood. On November 22, 1861, he enlisted as a private in Company K, Forty-fourth Regiment, Indiana Volunteer Infantry, with which he went to the front, but the ensuing winter was an unfortunate one for the entire command, as all but three or four of the regiment were either very ill or in poor health, especially at the time of the battle of Shiloh, but in which nearly all took an active part despite their poor condition. Mr. Lockwood's health became so precarious that he was mustered out soon afterwards because of physical disability. Upon his return to peaceable pursuits, Mr. Lockwood became a salesman, which vocation he followed in various lines for many years, traveling over a large portion of the country. In 1887 he helped to organize the Monitor Manufacturing Company, of which he was chosen vice-president. They erected a factory northeast of Auburn Junction, this county, where they engaged extensively in the manufacture of wind mills, potato crates, Fargo harrows and also ran a planing mill. The business was continued until 1897, when it was discontinued. Besides the business interest mentioned, Mr. Lockwood owned about six hundred of farm land, located in Ohio, Michigan and this county, to which he gave his attention and in the operation of which he was very successful. In the business affairs of the community he was prominent figure and contributed much to the prosperity and upbuilding of the community in which he lived. He was a man of broad sympathies and good-hearted in his attitude toward others, being well liked personally by all who came in contact with him. On December 22, 1892, Mr. Lockwood was married to Mrs. Sarah Clarke Carr, of Detroit, whom he met in that city while exhibiting the products of his factory. Mrs. Carr was born four miles south of Dexter, in Washtenaw county, Michigan, and is the daughter of Dr. Henry and Mary (Pritchard) Clarke, both of whom were natives of London, England. Dr. Henry Clarke was a man of splendid education, possessing several diplomas, and spoke fluently seven different languages. He and his wife were married in London, and they afterwards came to Washtenaw county, Michigan, where the Doctor was engaged in the practice of his profession until seventy-eight years old. He had very early in life taken an interest in the science of anatomy, having begun dissecting at the early age of fifteen years. He became a surgeon of note and had a large practice all over Washtenaw county, where he was commonly known as the "old English doctor. Aristocratic in his manner of life, he was nevertheless very kind to the poor and never charged for his medical services when the recipient was not able to pay. Their daughter Sarah A., was married in 1878 to George Washington Carr, of Bellville, Wayne county, Michigan, and two or three years later they moved to Detroit, where Mr. Carr was employed as a railroad fireman. Mr. Carr, who was born February 18, 1853, at Pinckney, Michigan, was the son of Malcolm and Nancy (Richmond) Carr, and his death occurred on March 17, 1888. To Mr. and Mrs. Carr were born two children: Lizzie G., who died in infancy, and George Freeman, who was born September 20, 1886. Mr. and Mrs. Lockwood moved to Auburn in September, 1893, and Mr. Lockwood formally adopted his wife's son, George, who dropped his middle name of Freeman, being known now as George Carr Lockwood. On April 23, 1910, he married Hulda Gessner, of Monroe ,Michigan daughter of Joseph and Elizabeth (Weisbeck) Gessner. To them were born a son, Reuben G., on January 21, 1911. George C. Lockwood is a tester at the Auburn automobile factory. Reuben Lockwood was for many years an honored and appreciative member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, taking an active interest in the workings of the order. He was a member of the pioneer band which accomplished also much in the early development of this section of the state, and as a defender of his country in the hour of her trial he proved himself a patriot, and because of these characteristics he is entitled to specific mention in the annals of DeKalb county.

Notes for Sarah Clarke: Daughter of Dr. Henry Mary (Pritchard) Clark, natives of London England. Dr. Henry Clarke was a man of splendid education, possessing several diplomas, and spoke fluently seven different languages. He and his wife were married in London, and they afterwards came to Washtenaw county, Michigan, where the Doctor was engaged in the practice of his profession until seventy-eight years old. He married Mary O'Nelia Whetzel October 07, 1871 in DeKalb County, IN, daughter of Michael Whetzel and Caroline Symonds. She was born January 05, 1851, and died March 1946.

Notes for Lyman Lockwood: LYMAN LOCKWOOD, 85, DIED IN THE WOODS Civil War Vet Expired from Heart Attack and Body Found in the Woods on His Farm Lyman Lockwood, 85, a veteran of the Civil war, living on his farm in Jackson township south of Auburn, died suddenly of a heart attack in the woods of his farm last Thursday afternoon. The body was found by Walter Williams. He was a member of Company K., Forty-fourth Indiana Volunteer Infantry and served until the end of the war. Mr. Lockwood a number of years ago made preparations for his death. From cypress grown on his land he made a cypress he made a casket and for nine years it was kept in Mr. Lockwood's crypt in the mausoleum at Woodlawn cemetery. He is survived by the following children: Mrs. Frank Avery of Auburn; Ora and Bert Lockwood and Mrs. Grace Griffin of Jackson township, and a sister, Mrs. Cornelia Caruth of Auburn. The funeral services were held from the Clark funeral home in Auburn Sunday afternoon with Rev. H. F. Craven of the Auburn Presbyterian church officiating. Interment in the Mausoleum in the Woodlawn cemetery at Auburn. "The Waterloo Press" Feb. 25, 1932 Thursday

In the 1885 DeKalb County History Book "Lyman Lockwood mustered in April 2, 1864 out September 14, 1865 Co. K 44th Regiment." Also it mentions that Lyman was a member of the Garrett Lodge, No. 602, I.O.O.F. and at the time of the 1885 History book was printed he was V. G.

The below information and remembrances are from Mary Griffin Rench.

Joining the war, when very young, he served as a bugler. Toward the end of his life when he made his casket, his daughter Nellie made the red, white, and blue lining for it.

Mary Griffin said that Lymon and Mary O. (Whetsel) Lockwood (her grandparents) lived near the creek, which is now the ditch on 427, north of the Airplane Road (C. R. 60). Mary O. shot a bear on the bank of the creek. They found Indian relics around the East and West creeks. Lyman had an Indian girlfriend for a time. He raised sheep. Lyman divided up the land to his children but they all came with mortgages. Grace got the original homestead but her husband was not a farmer so had to sell. Grandpa Lyman built a house across from Grace but it burned in the early 1930's. John and Nellie Dosch built a square house and gave some of the land to Frank and Inez Dosch. Another parcel of land went to Ora and Mattie Lockwood. Lyman's granddaughters (Mary O'Nelia Griffin and June Rose Dosch) used to stay summers together at June's parent's (John and Nellie Dosch's) home.

The Lockwood's took care of the horses for the State Coach that had a route from Ft. Wayne to Detroit. The Stage Coach stopped near Auburn where Jim Covell now lives. Jim said the home was built by the Muhn's and one of the brother's was a cabinet maker. The passengers would stay overnight at the house. After the overnight stop, the stage coach would then continue to Angola and then Detroit. In the low area by the house is where the Grist-mill used to be. Some other owners of the house has been Krenenlmyers and the Rieke family.

There is a possibility that he had an earlier marriage. In the marriage records there is a Elma Lockwood age 20 b. DeKalb Co. parents LYMAN and Mary (Reed) Lockwood married on December 21, 1887 DeKalb County Benjamin F. Myres age 24 b. Eaton Co., MI railroad engineer parents B. F. and Eliza (Lide) Myres

Curuth December 27, 1876 in DeKalb County, IN. He was born May 16, 1852 in PA, and died January 15, 1912.

Notes for Davis/David E. Curuth: History of DeKalb
County, Indiana; B. F. Bowen & Company, Inc., Indianapolis, 1914 pages 484-485.

The memory of the worthy subject of this memorial biography is revered by a host of friends and acquaintances, he having spent his energies through a long life of strenuous endeavor to make the most of his opportunities as well as to assist as best he could his neighbors to improve their condition, for he did not believe in living to himself alone, manifesting an altruistic spirit and kind heart, his sympathies going out to those who needed assistance or encouragement, and in all the relations of life he proved signally true to every trust. He possessed a social nature and by his genial and kindly attitude to those with whom he came in contact, he won the confidence and respect of everyone.

Davis E. Caruth was born in Chester county, Pennsylvania, May 16, 1852. After securing his education in the public schools he entered the employ of railroads and at the age of twenty-one years, when the Baltimore & Ohio road was being built through DeKalb county, he came here as a lineman, working the line construction at the time when the town of Garrett was just being started. He remained with the Baltimore & Ohio company for six or seven years. After his marriage, which occurred in 1876, Mr. Caruth lived at Walkerton, Indiana, about four years and then removed to Chicago, where he was engaged with the Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph Company, having in charge the line maintenance. A year later he went back to Auburn and for a short time worked for the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company and later for the Nickel Plate Railroad Company, being with the latter road about five years as superintendent of telegraph construction between Chicago and Buffalo. During the period of this employ with the Nickel Plate company Mr. and Mrs. Caruth lived in Fostoria, Ohio. In 1887 they returned to Auburn and established their permanent home. Mrs. Caruth's father died and Mr. Caruth gave up his railroad work in order to give his entire attention to her father's former business affairs and his farms. Thereafter Mr. Caruth maintained his home here until his death, which occurred on Jun 15, 1912.

In 1876 Mr. Caruth married Cornelia Lockwood, the daughter of Alonzo and Rosamond (Phelps) Lockwood, the latter being a sister of Reuben Lockwood, deceased, whose sketch appears elsewhere in this work. Mrs. Caruth was born and reared on her father's farm about five miles south of Auburn, and when about seven years of age she accompanied her parent on their removal to Auburn, where she lived until he marriage to Mr. Caruth. To this union were born two daughters, Elsie J., the wife of Ashton Staman, a druggist at Auburn, and Gertrude C., the wife of Edward O. Little, jeweler and city clerk of Auburn, whose sketch appears elsewhere in this work.

Fraternally, Mr. Caruth was a Mason of high degree, having been a member of the Scottish Rite, thirty-second degree, for over twenty years. Religiously, he was a member of the Presbyterian church, and during his entire life he always stood for the right regardless of public sentiment. Because of his positive stand on all questions and his high personal character he won a host of friends who esteemed him for his genuine worth. He was deeply interested in everything that was for the betterment of the town in which he lived and lent a helping hand whenever he could for the public welfare. He loved his fellow men irrespective of rank or circumstances and was in turn beloved by them. He remembered the sick in their distress and was their friend in their house of isolation and trouble and frequently gave material assistance where it was needed. During his active life he gave strict attention to his business affairs and for many years he never lost a day while in railroad employ. His superior officers held him in the highest regard, for he was not only well qualified to discharge important official duties, but was a man who without effort made friends and always retained them.

Notes for Nettie May Olinger: History of DeKalb County, Indiana; B. F. Bowen & Company, Inc., Indianapolis, 1914. pages 624-628 The below paragraph is about her parents and family.

Among those persons who have, by virtue of their strong individual qualities, earned there way to high standing in the estimation of their fellow citizens, have by sheer force of character and persistency won their way from an humble beginning to place of influence and prominence in the community, where they are active in business affairs, the subject of this sketch is entitled to specific mention in a volume of the character of the one at hand. Frank W. Olinger was born in Keyser township, DeKalb county, Indiana, a short distance west of Auburn, on March 4, 1870, and he is a son of John S. and Lucy (Yard) Olinger. The subject paternal grandparents were David B. and Rebecca (Swihart) Olinger. David B. Olinger was born near Hagerstown, Maryland on June 17, 1813, and died near Auburn, Indiana, on December 19, 1896, at the age of eighty-three years. He was descended from good old Pennsylvania Dutch stock, He emigrated from Maryland to Stark county, Ohio, where, on February 18, 1836, he married Rebecca Swihart, and there on February 21, 1837, their only child, John S., was born. They remained in Stark county until August, 1846, when they came to Indiana. They drove through, the journey being one characterized by hardships, poor roads, bridgeless streams, and other conditions which made the journey a tiresome and ofttimes dangerous experience. Upon their arrival here they located two and a half miles east of Auburn, where David bought eighty acres of timber land, on which not a stick had been cut. For a time the family lived on a near-by tract, on which was a small cabin, with the roof so low that they could reach it form the ground. About a year later they moved to the Henry Shull place, north of Auburn, where they lived about three years, moving from there to the Brandon farm, two miles west of Auburn, where they remained ten or twelve years. Then Mr. Olinger bought eighty acres just south of that tract, on which he built a house, that being about two years prior to the outbreak of the Civil war, and there David Olinger made his permanent home. His first wife died on February 29, 1870, and on October 10, 1878, he married Margaret Kiestrick, who died on the 12th of October, 1892. After her death he lived with his son, John S. Olinger. For about twenty-five years David B. Olinger served his community as justice of the peace and was honored and esteemed by all who knew him. John S. Olinger was a lad of ten years when his parents brought him to DeKalb county, and he was thus an eye-witness of the early development of this section of the country. When he came here Indians were still roaming the forest and deer were as numerous as sheep are today. Living conditions were primitive in the extreme for the first few years, and in the gigantic task of clearing the land, developing farms and making public improvements he had an active part. He was reared to the life of a woodsman and his own first land was acquired through his skill in woodcraft, for by cutting the timber from forty acres he was given a forty-acre tract in payment for his labor. In 1862, John S. Olinger enlisted in Company A, One Hundredth Regiment Indiana Volunteer Infantry, his regiment being assigned to the Western Army. He proved a faithful and courageous soldier, but after about ten month's service he was honorably discharged because of physical disability. His illness so incapacitated him that he was practically unable to work for about a year afterward. He then bought forty acres of land north of Garrett, a part of which he cleared, and then sold the tract and bought forty acres located about one and a half miles farther east, of which about an acre had been cleared and on which was a log house. He cleared the remainder of that land, which he cultivated for a few years, and then sold it and bought forty acres a mile and a half west of Auburn, which, like the preceding place, had but a small portion cleared. However, a trifling matter like that offered to him no discouragement, and he soon had the tract cleared and in cultivation. He has lived on that place now for forty-five years and has made of it one of the best farms in his section of the county, In addition to his labors as a farmer and woodsman, Mr. Olinger worked much at the carpenter's trade during his active years. On April 18, 1861, John S. Olinger married Lucy Yard, who was born at Exmouth, England, on June 9, 1842, the daughter of John and Mary (Simmons) Yard. Her parents, who were highly educated and well-to-do, were principals of an academy in England, but emigrated to this country in an early day, probably in 1852. The first located in Cleveland, where they remained a short time, coming then to DeKalb county, and locating a mile north of Garrett, where they bought a farm and made their permanent home, their original tract comprising about sixty acres. Though Mr. Yard was handicapped by having the use of only one hand, he was a man of energy and good business ability and eventually became quite well-to-do. To John S. and Lucy Olinger were born six children, namely: Salome died in infancy; David B. died at the age of ten years; Frank W. is the immediate subject of this review; Cora E. is the wife of George M. Ditmars and they live two miles south of Auburn; Mitchell H. is a barber and lives at Garrett; Nettie May is the wife of Bert Lockwood and they live on her father's farm, on and a half miles west of Auburn. The mother of these children died on January 29, 1908, at the age of sixty-five years, having been an invalid for many years. Despite her sufferings, she ever remained cheerful and patient, evincing and expressing an unfailing trust in an all-wise Providence. She was reared in the Church of England, or the Episcopal church, but later identified herself with the Lutheran church, of which she was an earnest an faithful member. John S. Olinger is a member of the Grand Army of the Republic and the Farmer's Alliance. He is a man of unquestioned integrity and consistent life and, because of his right living, his kindly nature and his success in life, he enjoyed a high standing in the community honored by his citizenship. Frank W. Olinger remained with his parents on the home farm until he had attained his majority. In November, 1908, he moved into Auburn, buying a good residence property on South Jackson street. He was associated with John Clark in the furniture business until he accepted the nomination for sheriff in the fall of 1912, being nominated by the Republican party for that office, but, owing to the Democratic landslide of that year, he went down to defeat together with the rest of the ticket. On May 14, 1913, Mr. Olinger engaged in the lumber business at Auburn, in partnership with Ora Brandon, and to this business he is now giving his undivided attention. They carry a complete line of all kinds of lumber, together with general building supplies and, owing to their excellent business methods and evident desire to please their customer, they are enjoying their full share of patronage. In September, 1911, Mr. Olinger bought a beautiful home at the corner of Thirteenth and Main street, which he has improved and where he now resides. On September 30, 1891, Frank W. Olinger was married to Mary M. Ditmars, who was born about three miles south of Auburn, the daughter of Isaac and Martha (George) Ditmars. Isaac Ditmars, who was born in Wayne county, Ohio, on September 7, 1837, was the son of John A. and Eliza (Neff) Ditmars, who, in 1853, came to DeKalb county, Indiana, locating a mile an a half south of Auburn, where they made their permanent home. There John A. Ditmars owned a farm and a good water-power saw mill. In the building of the latter Isaac Ditmars had a hand and there he labored many a day and night. John A. Ditmars, who was born in New Jersey on November 28, 1811, married Eliza Neff, who was a native of Hunterdon county, New Jersey. On their DeKalb county homestead Isaac Ditmars was reared to maturity and took up farming for his life occupation. On September 22, 1861, he enlisted in Company F, Forty-fourth Regiment Indiana Volunteer Infantry, with which he saw some severe service. At the battle of Shiloh he received a serious wound, from the effects of which he was rendered unfit for duty and received an honorable discharge. He still limps some from the effects of the injury. After returning home, Isaac Ditmars resumed his farming operations south of Auburn, in which he met with good success, at one time owing three hundred and twenty acres of land. Since the death of his wife he has made his home with his sister, Mrs. Emily Reed, about a mile and a half north of Auburn. On October 20, 1862, Isaac Ditmars married Martha George, who was born in Wayne county, Ohio, and was the daughter of John T. and Nancy (McClelland) George, who came to Indiana in 1844. To Isaac and Martha Ditmars were born four children, namely: Ulysses Ellsworth was killed by falling from a tree October 2, 1873, in the eleventh year of his age; George M. is a farmer about two miles south of Auburn; Mary M., the wife of Frank W. Olinger; Anna L., the wife of Frank Dawson, who lives a mile north of Auburn. The mother of these children, who passed away on April 20, 1905, was a worthy woman and a highly esteemed member of the Baptist church at Auburn. To Frank W. and Mary M. Olinger have been born three children, namely: Everett D., born September 30, 1893, died on December 5, 1897; Ethel Geraldine, born June 16, 1897, is a student in the Auburn high school, and George M. who was born on April 15, 1899, is also a student in the public schools. Fraternally, Frank W. Olinger is a member of the Knights of Pythias and the Knights of Maccabees. Earnest purpose and tireless energy, combined with mature judgment and every-day common sense, have been among his most prominent characteristics, and he has merited the respect and esteem which are accorded him by all who know him. He is broad-minded, kind-hearted and friendly in his relations with others and is universally well liked.

Things I Remember 1922-1940
By Mary Griffin Rench

My home for the first 18 years was in Grandma's home at 245 W. 15th St., Auburn, IN.

Four of us lived in a small house (Grandma Lockwood's), Mother, Grace Griffin, Carl and I.

Grandma and Grandpa divorced before my day. Grandpa got her a new house. The plumbing left a lot to be desired. She had one of the first toilets in Auburn. It was no prize, we had to cart water to flush it.

We had an oil stove and a cook stove that held warm water in the reservoir (for baths and to wash hair and laundry.

She was a sweet, stubborn lady. When flu came around, she'd hang an as asafetida bag around my neck. Onion, garlic and anything that smelled bad went into the asafetida bag. Grandma was very neat and clean.

She combed her hair (gray) in her rocking chair in an east window in the morning sun, and made a ball of it on the back of her head.

She loved stories on the radio. We had battery operated for a while. Soon we got an electric light in the kitchen. While we were quarantined with Scarlet Fever, Carl put in a few more lights.

He also tried to build an airplane in his bedroom from a kit.

Grandma had a flower garden, flowers and vegetables. She also loved a small dog. Carl and us called it Livernoise. Carl was a photographer in the National Guard and got discharged (age 27). Was in WW2 in England. In between, he got married to Bernice.

Income for us was $40.00 a month- grandma's pension from grandpa, $5.00 wk. Mother - house work, Carl - paperboy, me - school & babysitting. Carl and Bernice helped when he went in the service and me in 1940 when I got a job with Indiana Bell at $12.00 per wk. to start.

My Uncle Frank Avery, took me to Ft. Wayne to get a SS card. The next day he left Aunt Hettie! She took in sewing and made me some dresses, etc.

Grandpa brought us canned meat.

Grandma always wore diamond earrings that he brought from Chicago. I think they loved each other.

She was a pretty lady about 5', 100 lbs. She carried a rose shawl on her left arm when she went visiting and carried a large alligator satchel.

I think she had a stroke. Aunt Dessie Clark's daughter-in-law and I were with her when she died on a couch in our living room.

The day before she died, she asked me to play a record about a pretty girl. It was "Sue City Sue."

Oh yes, I've been married 4 times. Bob Miller died and Lafe Blue died., John Rench "alive and kicking." (in the margin - it says "Foltz divorced.")

Mary also says that she and June Rose spent summers together at Nellie and John Dosch's (June's parents) home.

Note: Mary's first husband was (1)Charles Foltz. (2) Bob Miller (3) Lafayette Blue (4) John Rench.

+ 248 ii. Carl Griffin, born January 13, 1913; died May 1985 in Columbus, Twp., St. Clair, MI.

229. Gertrude C.[10] Curuth ((Cornelia) Nellie[9] Lockwood, Alonzo[8], Levi[7], Nathaniel Lockwood[6] Jr., Nathaniel[5] Lockwood, Joseph[4], Edmund[3], Edmund[2], Edmund[1]) was born September 01, 1879 in Walkerton, IN. She married Edward O. Little October 21, 1903. He was born March 01, 1879 in Auburn, DeKalb County, IN.

Notes for Edward O. Little: History of DeKalb County, Indiana; B. F. Bowen & Company, Inc., Indianapolis, 1914. pages 486-488

Edward O. Little was born in Auburn, Indiana, on March 1, 1879, and is the son of Henry E. and Sylvia (Orr) Little. Henry E. Little was born in Williamsport, Pennsylvania, and was a son of Andrew Jackson and Amanda (McDowell) Little. Amanda McDowell, who was born at Lancaster City, Pennsylvania, was a daughter of Robert and Mary (Roth) McDowell, and accompanied her parents on their removal to Columbia and thence to Williamsport, where her marriage occurred. Andrew Jackson Little was a native of Columbia, Connecticut. After his marriage he remained at Williamsport for some years, being engaged in his young manhood as a teacher in the college at that place. During the same period he devoted all his leisure time to the study of law, acquiring a fine legal education. He was admitted to the bar and developed into a most successful lawyer, practicing extensively in the Pennsylvania supreme court. He was a man of force and strong personality and was especially strong as a pleader before court and jury. He practiced for many years in Pennsylvania, but in 1860 he was induced to go to Coldwater, Michigan, where he met with great financial reverses. Soon afterward he moved to Fort Wayne, Indiana, where he remained until the beginning of the Civil war, when he moved to Auburn, continuing in his law practice there. About 1880 Mr. Little suffered an attack of typhoid fever, from the effect of which his health was permanently injured and there after he relinquished his law practice, living retired until his death, which occurred in 1884. He left a widow and four children: Andrew Jackson, William, Henry and John Conger. Henry E. Little, after completing his common school education, learned the printing trade at Auburn and accepted a position in the office of the Auburn Courier, of which he became foreman at the time when the office was owned by James Barnes. Later Mr. Little bought a paper at Hicksville, but soon afterwards sold out and he and his brother, Andrew Jackson Little, started the Garrett Clipper. He was a strong and forcible writer and a courageous newspaper man and was not afraid to speak the truth regardless of fear or favor. He and his brother developed the paper into one of the best newspapers of the community, with a large circulation, but they eventually sold the paper, though later Henry and his son, Tracy Little, bought it back and ran it until Henry Little's, death which occurred on July 27, 1905. Sylvia (Orr) Little, wife of Henry E., was the daughter of Edward and Rachel (Updike) Orr. Rachel Updike Orr was born in 1833 and traced her ancestry back to Louis Jansen op Dyck, a Hollander who came to America before 1653, and located at Albany, New York. He was descended from the nobility in Holland and through them from the ancient races that warred with the Romans, his ancestry being traced to Henric, who was born in 1261 of a knightly family. Rachel Updike Orr's father was John Updike, who was the son of George Updike, a son of Esquire Luther Updike, the latter a justice of the peace in Kingwood, Alexandria and Hunterdon counties, New York, and for fifty years was an associate judge of the common pleas court, and was an ensign in the war of Revolution, having served through the greater part of that struggle. He was a man of ability, prominently connected with public affairs, well to do in his finances and a successful and popular preacher in the Baptist church. An uncle of Rachel Orr, George Updike, was a prominent man in New York city, and was active in procuring Lincoln's nomination, he himself being elected mayor of New York city. Sylvia (Orr) Little died at Auburn, Indiana, May 14, 1910. Edward O. Little was reared in Auburn and graduated from the high school in 1897. During the following five years he served an apprenticeship to the jeweler's trade under the direction of D. A. Hodge, at that time a jeweler in Auburn. Mr. Little then engaged in business on his own account in a small way at Garrett, where he remained nine months, and in 1903 removed to Auburn, opening a store in a small frame building on Main street between Seventh and Eighth streets. He prospered in his venture and in the following March he moved his store to his present place of business on the north side of Seventh street, just west of Main, where he has been in business ever since. He carries a large and well selected stock of jewelry and altogether has a store that is a credit to the city. He is a good workman and has always enviced a desire to thoroughly please his patrons. Mr. Little is a Democrat in politics and to him belongs the distinction of having served in an elective public office longer than any other person served in Auburn up to this writing. He was elected city clerk of Auburn in the spring of 1904, and has been twice elected to succeed himself. The discharge of his important duties has been characterized by the utmost faithfulness and ability and he has been repeatedly urged to stand for re-election, but had refused to allow his name to be used again. He has been prominent in local political affairs, and for four years, from 1904 to 1909, he served as secretary of the Democratic county committee and for the last four years has been a member of the executive committee of the organization. Fraternally, he has been a member of the Knights of Pythias since 1900, and has held various official positions in the order, having served as past chancellor, keeper of records and seal and master of work. He is also a member of the Masonic order, in which he has attained every degree up to the fifteenth degree of the Scottish Rite. Mr. and Mrs. Little are members of the Presbyterian church. On October 21, 1903, Mr. Little was united in marriage to Gertrude C. Caruth, the daughter of Davis E. and Cornelia C. (Lockwood) Caruth, who are mentioned elsewhere in this work. Mrs. Little was born at Walkerton, Indiana, on September 1, 1879, and in her childhood accompanied her parents on their removal to Auburn, where she has lived ever since. Notes for Carl Griffin:

Information about Carl from Mary Griffin Rench.

Carl tried building an airplane in his room with the help of some of his friends, including Dorsey Likens, who later became the DeKalb County Sheriff. Carl joined the army and he gave up on the project. He had one of his friends dismantle the plane and remove it from his room. Later, after he lived at the lake, he built a boat. When he tried it in the lake, he discovered it was too big for the lake. He sold it and bought a smaller boat for he, his wife, and son.

One project that got him in trouble with his wife, he, without discussing it with her first, bought 30 chinchillas and cages costing about $500.00. He decided to take them out of the separate cages and put them all in one cage, like nature intended. This did not work, as all they did was fight...

He lived in Detroit in his working years and then moved to Davenport, OH.

Child of Carl Griffin and Bernice is:
+ 267 i. Carl[12] Griffin.

SO FAR THIS LINE
IS NOT PROVEN TO BE CONNECTED TO THE EDMUND LOCKWOOD LINE
(ALSO THIS LINE HAS NOT BEEN RESEARCHED IN ITS ENTIRETY & IS NOT COMPLETE – EXAMPLE –SOMETIMES ONLY SOME OF THE CHILDREN WOULD SHOW UP IN A CENSUS OR OBITUARY)
THIS INCLUSION OF THIS FAMILY IS AN AID FOR FURTHER RESEARCH TO INCLUDE/EXCLUDE THIS LINE TO THE EDMUND LOCKWOOD FAMILY.

So far this line of Lockwood's have not tied into the family but definitely seem to be related. They are living next door to each other in the 1860 census and both were born in Vermont.
